PREFACE TO VOL. XLVIII

Following is a synopsis of the documents contained in this volume:

CXII. The Relation of 1662-63 is written by Jerome Lalemant. A preliminary note by him mentions the three salient points of this year's record — the reverses sustained by the Iroquois, at the hands of the Algonkins and other tribes; the notable earthquake of 1663; and the death of Ménard.

The opening chapter records the mysterious aërial phenomena which preceded the earthquake — presages of that occurrence, which terrify the people of Canada. The night is illumined by strange meteors; fiery serpents fly through the air; and twice are seen brilliant parhelia ("sundogs"). A solar eclipse also occurs, several months after the earthquake.

This last phenomenon is recounted with considerable detail. Its effects are greater in the forests than in the clearings, causing the trees to crash and topple against one another to such an extent that the savages say, "All the woods are drunken." Even mountains are overturned; springs cease to flow, or become sulphureous; rivers disappear; and the St. Lawrence appears of a whitish tint, as far down as Tadoussac; this turbidity lasts nearly three months. A shower of meteors is seen; these appear to the frightened habitants as " specters and fiery phantoms bearing torches." Forests are denuded, in tracts of more than a thousand arpents. Near Tadoussac, "a little mountain was swallowed up; and, as if it had only taken a plunge, it came up again from the depths, to be changed into a little Island."

This earthquake has several peculiarities: the shocks continue more than six months, though with varying intensity and intervals; it extends through the entire St. Lawrence valley, and into New England and Acadia; and, notwithstanding all its devastation, the French settlements miraculously escape without the death, or even injury, of a single person,—or even any notable injury to property. Presentiments of this wonderful event were felt by both French and savages, several seeing strange visions just before its occurrence. The formal deposition made by one of these, an Algonkin woman, is given in full.

The fear thus aroused in the people causes them to manifest extraordinary devotion to all church rites: and "Shrove Tuesday was fortunately changed into a Good Friday and an Easter." The savages also experience this influence, and most edifying piety is manifested by the Algonkins at Sillery and at Cap de la Magdaleine. These two settlements consist of the more faithful Indian disciples, who have there taken refuge, not only from the Iroquois, but from the demon of drunkenness—a vice which has spread "from Gaspé to the Iroquois," and is ruining the savages everywhere. The missionaries see their labors thus rendered fruitless; "it would require dragon's gall to express here the bitterness which we have experienced therefrom."

Lalemant now describes the warfare which has

PREFACE TO VOL. XLVIII

continued between Canadian and other tribes and the Iroquois. The latter attack the Andastes, far down the Susquehanna, but find that the villages of this tribe are defended with European cannon; and, moreover, the Andastes are a match for them in cunning-seizing twenty-five Iroquois spies, and burning them to death in the sight of their own army. Not only do the invaders meet disaster. but their own villages are ravaged by smallpox, and their fields remain half tilled. Thus menaced, the Iroquois plan to form an alliance with the French. hoping that the latter may help them against their enemies; but they abandon this scheme, upon hearing that the king of France is about to send many soldiers to Canada, to crush the enemies of the colonists. Meanwhile, some souls among them are saved; for certain captive Frenchmen baptize over three hundred children, and some adults who are dangerously ill.

Canada has thus been at peace this year, except at Montreal. Mohawks come there, ostensibly as envoys, who, with their usual treachery make a night attack on some Hurons,—all but one, women and children, whom they murder or carry away. In a retaliatory attack, two Onondagas are, soon after, killed by Hurons. A Frenchman is captured by a Mohawk band, at Whitsuntide. On the homeward march, this band is attacked by the Algonkins of Sillery, who defeat the Iroquois and slay their leader Garistatsia, a chief of great renown. The Frenchman is also set free; this is the result of his unceasing prayers to the Virgin. Returning to Sillery, the Algonkins" use their victory, not as Barbarians, but as Christians." "Reasons of state condemned the captives to death, but Christian piety exempted them from the stake," and they are shot instead. Before this, they are delivered to the Jesuits for instruction and baptism; and some of the Algonkins themselves become sponsors at this ceremony for the Iroquois.

The news of Father Ménard's death is brought to Montreal, two years after the event. The Frenchmen who had accompanied him to the Ottawa country relate the particulars of the privations and sufferings endured by them there - hardest of all for the Father, who is old, and spent by many years of toil and exposure. He baptizes some dying children, and gains a few adult converts; but the Ottawas, excepting these, treat him with indifference, and even brutality. The Father hears of a Huron band who have fled from the cruel Iroquois into the depths of the great forests in Wisconsin; they are safe from their enemies, but are starving to death. Ménard sets out to visit them, despite all remonstrances from his companions. His savage guides leave him with one Frenchman, promising to return soon for them. As the Indians do not come, the Frenchmen finally proceed alone; but the Father, becoming separated from his companion, disappears from sight, and cannot be found by any search. Later, articles belonging to him are found among the savages; but it is not known whether he was murdered by Indians, or starved to death. In the following year, 1662, the donné Guérin dies, also in Wisconsin; the piety and devotion of both these missionaries are warmly commended by Lalemant. Guérin would not look at a woman's face, and was consequently often robbed by the Indian women. So great was his humility that "he once offered himself as public Executioner in Canada, that he might thus become an object of abhorrence to every one; " and he would not ask for admission to the Jesuit order, lest his cassock " might cause him to be esteemed more highly than he deserved."

At the end of the Relation is an account of the St. Lawrence valley, written by some one who has been commissioned to examine the country. He admires the marvelous richness of the cod and other fisheries: the extent and availability for commerce of the great river; the beauty and fertility of its islands, especially that of Orléans; and the abundance of wild game. He mentions the various French settlements thus far made: these are threatened with destruction by forest fires, which have consumed vast tracts of timber: but rain comes in time to save the farms and towns, and to give promise of an enormous harvest. The people live in comfort and prosperity. Montreal and the adjacent islands are especially beautiful and fertile, and the writer regards this region as "most suitable for the site, some day, of a large and wealthy city." He regrets that so rich a land should be almost useless on account of the Iroquois-a land. too, so healthful that "it is well-nigh impossible to die here, unless it be by accident or violence."

CXIII. The earthquake described in the preceding document finds another chronicler, in Father Charles Simon, a Jesuit who spent that year in Canada. His account of this occurrence is translated into Latin by François Ragueneau, a brother of the Canadian missionary, and forwarded to Rome, addressed to the father general, Oliva. This is prefaced by a brief statement of the firmness and strength with which its location provides Quebec. Simon's description is similar to that given in the Relation above, but it is more circumstantial in details, and more picturesque and vivid in style; he also relates at length the visions alluded to by Lalemant. Among these is a vision of the "wine-dealers and retailers of Brandy, in a confused throng of victims devoted to hell," and menaced by an angel brandishing an arrow. The physical effects of the earthquake are described, especially as seen in the St. Lawrence River, the great extent, volume, and tidal current of this stream rendering those effects more extraordinary. The moral results are no less marked, among both French and savages.

At the end of this narration are added extracts from letters written by Father Simon to his sister, referring to the apparitions described by him. Among these is mentioned one of Father Brébeuf, who died in 1649; he frequently appears, "giving wholesome and seasonable warnings," and states that the earthquake is partly due to "the contumacious conduct of certain Frenchmen, who had despised the thunders and excommunications of the church." One of those despisers has already met a violent death.

CXIV. The Journal des Jésuites (1664) is still kept by Jerome Lalemant. Late in January, "troubles begin about the tithes" now levied upon the country for the support of the clergy and seminary established by Laval. The disorders caused by intemperance also revive. In May, the upper Iroquois — including "Garakontié and others" — are defeated by the Algonkins. This year an Ottawa trading-fleet arrives in July at Montreal, and greatly enriches that place. A party of Crees come with them, who ask for a "black gown;" one is to be sent to this tribe.

PREFACE TO VOL. XLVIII

In September the usual quarrels between the civil and ecclesiastical authorities begin; De Mézy, the new governor, like his predecessors, has numerous collisions with the bishop, and arbitrarily asserts his own authority. He dissolves the Council, and forms a new one in which the bishop has no place. The governor is finally debarred from confession and communion. During December, two comets are seen.

CXV. Of the Relation of 1663-64, we give Chaps. i.-ii. in this volume; Chaps. iii.-viii. will appear in Vol. XLIX. Lalemant begins it with a call for more missionaries, especially in view of the military aid now promised from France, by which, it is confidently expected, the power of the Iroquois will be broken. Letters by Father Ménard, received after his death, are given in this Relation; they were written from his station on Lake Superior, and are dated March 1 and July 2, 1661. In the main, they cover the same ground as the Ménard letter published in Vol. XLVI. of this series (Doc. ciii.). These are followed by letters and a journal written by Father Henri Nouvel, who has spent the past winter with the Papinachois and other savages below Tadoussac. We have space for only the first of these; it begins an account of the wanderings of these savages along the south shore, and mentions a "medicine-man" in the party, who undertook to perform his customary incantations. Nouvel calls together all the women and little children, and sets them to reciting their prayers so loudly that it compels the heathen to keep silence.

MON R. P. Pax Christi.

l'enuoye à vostre Reuerence, nostre Relation de la Nouuelle France. Par la grace de Dieu tout y va asse bien, quoy que nous ayons esté plus auant que iamais dans la crainte.

Les Iroquois cy-deuant inuincibles, fe sont trouuez vaincus de tous costez, par des Nations Sauuages qui nous sont alliées, & par nos Algonquins Chrestiens, qui ont esté victorieux par l'assistance de la tres-Sainte Vierge. Si le Roy nous donne à l'embarquement prochain, le secours qu'il a eu la bonté de nous promettre, pour porter la terreur & l'effroy des armes Françoises dans le païs des Iroquois, qui seuls ont desolé toutes nos Eglises naissantes, & qui seuls empeschent les progrez de la Foy, dans vn grand nombre de Nations qui ne sont pas encore Chrestiennes, ce secours sera le salut de tous ces païs.

Nonobstant les excursions des Iroquois Dieu a sceu choisir ses Eleus, non seulement des Nations éloignées, qui pour euiter la fureur des armes ennemies, se sont venuës loger proche de nous, où plusieurs ont heureusement receu le Baptesme; mais à quatre & cinq cens lieuës de nous, où plus de deux cents enfants ayans esté baptizés auant que de mourir, ont porté au Ciel leur innocence. Mesme parmy les Iroquois nos ennemis, plus de trois cents enfants To the Reverend Father André Castillon, Provincial of the Society of JESUS in the Province of France.

M<sup>Y</sup> REVEREND FATHER, Pax Christi.

I send your Reverence our Relation of New France. By the grace of God, everything is going on fairly well here, although we are in greater fear than ever. The Iroquois, hitherto invincible, have met with defeat on all sides at the hands of the Savage Nations allied to us, and of our Christian Algonquins, who have been victorious by the aid of the most Holy Virgin. If the King send us, by the next sailing, the succor which he has had the goodness to promise us, in order to carry the fear and dread of the French arms into the country of the Iroquois,—who alone have ravaged all our infant Churches, and who alone prevent the progress of the Faith in many Nations not yet Christian,— that aid will be the salvation of all those countries.

Despite the raids of the Iroquois, God has been able to choose his Elect, not only from among the remote Nations which, to escape the fury of the enemy's arms, have come and taken quarters near us, where many have happily received Baptism; but also from among those dwelling four and five hundred leagues from us, where more than two hundred children, baptized before dying, have carried their innocence to Heaven. Even among the Iroquois, our enemies, more than three hundred children have received this favor at the hands of our Frenchmen who were y ont receu cette faueur, par nos François qui y estoient captifs; Dieu se seruant de nos miseres & de nos pertes, pour en tirer le bon-heur de ses Eleus.

Un tremblement de terre de plus de deux cents lieuës en longueur, & de cent en largeur, qui font en tout vingt mille lieuës, a fait trembler tout ce païs, où l'on a veu des changemens prodigieux; des Montagnes abysmées, des Forests changées en des grands Lacs, des Rivieres qui ont disparu, des Rochers qui se sont fendus, dont les debris estoient poussez iusques au sommet des plus hauts arbres; des tonnerres qui grondoient sous nos pieds, dans le ventre de la terre, qui vomissoit des flammes; des voix lugubres qui s'entendoient auec horreur; des Baleines blanches & Marsoüins qui hurloient dans les eaux: Enfin tous les Elements sembloient estre armés contre nous, & nous menaçoient d'un dernier mal-heur: Mais la protection de Dieu a esté si douce sur nous, que pas vn n'y a perdu la vie, ny mesme les biens de la terre: & la plus-part en ont tiré tant de profit pour leur salut, Sauuages & François, Fideles & Infideles, que nous auons suiet d'en benir Dieu, et d'aduoüer que ses misericordes ont esté tout aimables.

Le passé nous fait tout esperer pour l'auenir; le Canada estant vn ouurage de Dieu, & la conuersion des Sauuages ayant esté le principal motif de l'establissement des Colonies qui y sont. Les Peres de nostre Compagnie y ont donné leurs trauaux, leurs sueurs, et leur sang. De douze qui y ont finy leur vie, dix y ont esté massarez & brûlez par la fureur des Iroquois, ou morts dans les neiges, allants à la conqueste des Ames. Cette année nous auons appris vne mort semblable d'vn de nos anciens Missionnaires le Pere René Menard, qui auoit penetré cinq cents lieuës dans les terres, y portant le nom de IESVS-CHRIST, où iamais il n'auoit esté adoré. Nous auons besoin de Missionnaires, captives in their country — God using our afflictions and losses to secure the happiness of his Elect.

An earthquake, extending over a region more than two hundred leagues in length and one hundred in width,making twenty thousand leagues in all, - has shaken this whole country, and caused us to witness some prodigious transformations. Mountains were swallowed up; Forests were changed into great Lakes; Rivers disappeared; Rocks were split, and their fragments hurled to the very tops of the tallest trees; thunders rumbled beneath our feet in the womb of the earth, which belched forth flames; doleful and terror-inspiring voices were heard; white Whales and Porpoises bellowed in the waters; in short, all the Elements seemed armed against us, and threatened us with the direst disaster. But so benign was God's protection over us that not a person lost his life or even his earthly possessions; while the greater number - both Savages and Frenchmen, Believers and Unbelievers - derived such profit for their salvation from that event, that we have reason to bless God for it, and to acknowledge that his mercies have been most tender.

The past makes us hope everything for the future, Canada being a work of God, and the conversion of the Savages having been the chief motive for the establishment of the Colonies there planted. To that end the Fathers of our Society have given their labors, their sweat, and their blood. Of twelve who have ended their lives there, ten were butchered and burned by the Iroquois in their frenzy, or died in the snow when on their way to win Souls. This year we have learned of a similar death of one of our old Missionaries, Father René Menard, who had penetrated five hundred leagues into the interior, bearing the name of JESUS CHRIST to lands where he had never been worshiped. We need Missionaries to enter into the labors qui entrent dans les trauaux de ceux qui y ont trouué vne mort si heureuse. Nous en demandons à vostre Reuerence; et nous asseurs qui ont vn zele Apostolique, qu'ils trouueront icy vn saint employ, & de grandes souffrances; et probablement le bon-heur d'y respandre leur sang, pour le méler auec le sang de IESVS-CHRIST. Nous le prions que ses divines volontés soient accomplies en nous, & en la vie & en la mort. Vostre Reuerence nous assester pour cét effet de ses prieres, & tous ceux qui ont quelque amour pour la conuersion des Infidelles. MON R. P.

of those who have met with such happy deaths, and we ask your Reverence for them, assuring those who have an Apostolic zeal that they will find here a holy occupation, great sufferings, and probably the happiness of pouring out their blood to mingle with that of JESUS CHRIST. We pray him that his divine will may be fulfilled in us, in life and in death. To that end, your Reverence will grant us the aid of your prayers, and all who have any interest in the conversion of Infidels will do likewise. MY REVEREND FATHER,

TROIS SOLEILS & AUTRES METEORES APPARUS EN LA NOUUELLE-FRANCE.

L E Ciel & la Terre nous ont parlé bien des fois depuis vn an. C'eftoit vn langage aimable & inconnu, qui [2] nous iettoit en mefme temps dans la crainte & dans l'admiration: Le Ciel a commencé par de beaux Phenomenes, la Terre a fuiuy par de furieux fouleuements, qui nous ont bien fait paroiftre que ces voix de l'air muettes & brillantes, n'eftoient pas pourtant des paroles en l'air, puifqu'elles nous prefageoient les conuulfions qui nous deuoient faire trembler, en faifant trembler la Terre.

Nous auons veu dés l'Automne dernier des Serpents embrafés qui s'enlaçoient les vns dans les autres en forme de Caducée, & voloient par le milieu des airs, portez fur des aifles de feu: Nous auons veu fur Quebec vn grand Globe de flames, qui faifoit vn affés beau iour pendant la nuict; [3] fi les eftincelles qu'il dardoit de toutes parts, n'euffent meflé de frayeur le plaifir qu'on prenoit à le voir: Ce mefme Meteore a paru fur Montreal; mais il fembloit fortir du fein de la Lune, auec vn bruit qui égale  [1] Relation of what occurred in the Mission of the Fathers of the Society of JESUS in the country of New France, from the Summer of the year 1662 to the Summer of the year 1663.

CHAPTER I.

THREE SUNS AND OTHER AËRIAL PHENOMENA, WHICH APPEARED IN NEW FRANCE.

H EAVEN and Earth have spoken to us many times during the past year, and that in a language both kind and mysterious, which [2] threw us at the same time into fear and admiration. The Heavens began with Phenomena of great beauty, and the Earth followed with violent upheavals, which made it very evident to us that these mute and brilliant aërial voices were not, after all, mere empty words, since they presaged convulsions that were to make us shudder while making the Earth tremble.

As early as last Autumn we saw fiery Serpents, intertwined in the form of the Caduceus, and flying through mid-air, borne on wings of flame. Over Quebec we beheld a great Ball of fire, which illumined the night almost with the splendor of day — [3] had not our pleasure in beholding it been mingled with fear, caused by its emission of sparks in all directions. This same Meteor appeared over Montreal, but seemed to issue from the Moon's bosom, with a noise like that of Cannon or Thunder; and, celuy des Canons ou des Tonnerres, & s'eftant promené trois lieuës en l'air, fut fe perdre enfin derriere la groffe montagne dont cette Isle porte le nom.

Mais ce qui nous a semblé plus extraordinaire est l'apparition de trois Soleils. Ce fut vn beau jour de l'Hyuer dernier, que fur les huict heures du matin. vne legere vapeur presque imperceptible s'éleua de nostre grand fleuue, & estant frappée par les premiers rayons du Soleil, deuenoit transparente, de telle sorte neantmoins [4] qu'elle auoit affez de corps pour fouftenir les deux Images que cét Aftre peignoit deffus; Ces trois Soleils eftoient presque en ligne droite, efloignez de quelques toifes les vns des autres, felon l'apparence; le vray tenant le milieu, & ayant les deux autres à fes deux costez. Tous trois estoient couronnés d'vn Arc-en-Ciel, dont les couleurs n'eftoient pas bien arreftees, tantoft paroiffans comme celles d'Iris, puis apres d'vn blanc lumineux, comme fi au deffous tout proche, il y eût eu vne lumiere exceffiuement forte.

Ce fpectacle dura prés de deux heures la premiere fois qu'il parût, c'eftoit le feptiéme de Ianuier 1663. Et la feconde fois, qui fut le 14. du mefme mois, il ne [5] dura pas fi long-temps, mais feulement jufqu'à ce que les couleurs de l'Iris venant à fe perdre petit à petit, les deux Soleils des coftez s'eclipfoient auffi, laiffant celuy du milieu comme victorieux.

Nous pouuons mettre en ce lieu l'eclipfe de Soleil arriuée à Quebec, le premier iour de Septembre 1663. qui dans l'obferuation qui en a efté faite fort exactement, s'eftant trouuée d'onze doigts entiers, rendoit nos forefts pâles, fombres & melancholiques. after traveling three leagues in the air, it finally vanished behind the great mountain whose name that Island bears.

But what seemed to us most extraordinary was the appearance of three Suns. Toward eight o'clock in the morning, on a beautiful day last Winter, a light and almost imperceptible mist arose from our great river, and, when struck by the Sun's first rays, became transparent,—retaining, however, [4] sufficient substance to bear the two Images cast upon it by that Luminary. These three Suns were almost in a straight line, apparently several toises distant from one another, the real one in the middle, and the others, one on each side. All three were crowned by a Rainbow, the colors of which were not definitely fixed; it now appeared Iris-hued, and now of a luminous white, as if an exceedingly strong light had been at a short distance underneath.

This spectacle was of almost two hours' duration upon its first appearance, on the seventh of January, 1663; while upon its second, on the 14th of the same month, it [5] did not last so long, but only until, the Rainbow hues gradually fading away, the two Suns at the sides also vanished, leaving the central one, as it were, victorious.

We may here record the Solar eclipse which occurred at Quebec on the first day of September, 1663, and which, being ascertained to be quite eleven digits across in the observation, taken with great exactness, rendered our forests pale, somber, and gloomy. It began at twenty-four minutes and fortytwo seconds past one in the Afternoon, and ended at fifty-two minutes and forty-four seconds past three.

TREMBLE-TERRE VNIUERSEL EN CANADAS, & SES EFFETS PRODIGIEUX.

TE fut le cinquiéme Fébvrier 1663. fur les cinq heures & demie du foir, qu'vn grand broüiffement s'entendit en mesme temps dans toute l'eftenduë du Canadas: Ce bruit qui paroiffoit comme fi le feu eust esté dans les maisons, en fit sortir tout le monde, pour fuir vn incendie si inopiné; mais au lieu de voir la fumée & la flame, on fut bien furpris de voir les Murailles fe balencer. & toutes les pierres fe remüer, comme fi elles se fuffent détachées: Les toicts fembloient [7] fe courber en bas d'vn cofté, puis fe renuerfer de l'autre; les Cloches fonnoient d'elles-mefmes, les poutres, les foliueaux, & les planchers craquoient; la terre bondiffoit faifant dancer les pieux des palissades d'vne façon qui ne paroiffoit pas croyable, fi nous ne l'euffions veuë en diuers endroits.

Alors chacun fort dehors, les animaux s'enfuient, les enfans pleurent dans les ruës, les hommes & les femmes faifis de frayeur ne fçauent où fe refugier, penfant à tous moments deuoir eftre ou accablez fous les ruïnes des maifons, ou enfeuelis dans quelqu'abyfme qui s'alloit ouurir fous leurs pieds; Les vns profternez à genoux dans la neige, crient mifericorde, les autres paffent le [8] refte de la nuict en prieres, parce que le Terre-tremble continua toufiours

UNIVERSAL EARTHQUAKE IN CANADAS, AND ITS MAR-VELOUS EFFECTS.

O<sup>N</sup> the fifth of February, 1663, toward half past five in the evening, a loud roaring was heard at the same time throughout the length and breadth of Canadas. This noise, which gave one the impression that the house was on fire, made all rush outdoors to escape so unexpected a conflagration; but, instead of smoke and flames, people were much surprised to behold the Walls tottering, and all the stones in motion, as if they had been detached. Roofs seemed [7] to bend down in one direction, and then back again in the other; Bells rang of their own accord; beams, joists, and boards creaked; and the earth leaped up, and made the palisade-stakes dance in a way that would have seemed incredible, had we not witnessed it in different places.

Then all left their houses, animals took flight, children cried in the streets, and men and women, seized with terror, knew not where to take refuge, expecting every moment to be either overwhelmed under the ruins of the houses, or swallowed up in some abyss that was to open beneath their feet. Some knelt in the snow and cried for mercy, while others passed the [8] rest of the night in prayer; for the Earthquake continued without ceasing, maintaining a certain swaying motion much like that of Ships at sea, so that some experienced from this tossing the auec vn certain branfle, prefque femblable à celuy des Nauires qui font fur mer, & tel que quelquesvns ont reffenty par ces fecouffes les mefmes foûleuements de cœur qu'ils enduroient fur l'eau: Le defordre eftoit bien plus grand dans les forefts; il fembloit qu'il y euft combat entre les arbres qui fe heurtoient enfemble; & non feulement leurs branches, mais mefme on euft dit que les troncs fe deftachoient de leurs places pour fauter les vns fur les autres, auec vn fracas & vn bouleuerfement qui fit dire à nos Sauuages que toute la foreft eftoit yure.

La guerre fembloit eftre mefme entre les Montagnes, dont [9] les vnes fe deracinoient pour fe ietter fur les autres, laiffant de grands abyfmes au lieu d'où elles fortoient: Et tantoft enfonçoient les arbres dont elles eftoient chargées bien auant dans terre iufqu'à la cime: tantoft elles les enfoüiffoient les branches embas, qui alloient prendre la place des racines; de forte qu'elles ne laiffoient plus qu'vne foreft de troncs renuerfez.

Pendant ce débris general qui fe faifoit fur Terre, les glaces épaiffes de cinq & fix pieds fe fracaffoient, fautants en morceaux, & s'ouurants en diuers endroits, d'où s'euaporoient, ou de groffes fumées, ou des iets de boüe & de fable qui montoient fort haut dans l'air: nos fontaines ou ne couloient plus, ou n'auoient que [10] des eaux enfoufrées: les Riuieres ou fe font perdües, ou ont efté toutes corrompües les eaux des vnes deuenants jaunes, les autres rouges; & noftre grand fleuue de Saint Laurens parut tout blanchaftre iufques vers Tadoussacq, prodige bien eftonnant & capable de furprendre ceux qui fçauent la quantité d'eaux que ce gros fleuue roule, au deffous same heaving of the stomach that one suffers on the water. The disturbance was much greater in the forests, where there seemed to be a battle between the trees, which crashed against one another,—not merely their branches, but even, one would have said, their trunks being torn from their places to leap one upon another, with a din and confusion that made our Savages say that all the woods were drunken.

War seemed to be waged even by the Mountains, [9] some of them being uprooted, to be hurled against others, and leaving yawning chasms in the places whence they had sprung. At times, too, they buried the trees, with which they were covered, deep in the ground up to their topmost branches; and at other times they would plant them, branches downward, which would then take the place of the roots, leaving only a forest of upturned trunks.

During this general wreck on Land, ice of five and six feet in thickness was broken, flying into fragments, and splitting open in various places, whence issued either great clouds of smoke or jets of mud and sand, which ascended to a lofty height in the air. Our springs either ceased to flow or gave forth only [10] sulphurous waters; Rivers either disappeared entirely or were thoroughly defiled, the waters of some becoming yellow and of others red; and our great river Saint Lawrence appeared all whitish as far as the neighborhood of Tadoussacq a prodigy truly astonishing and fitted to surprise those who know the volume of water carried by this great stream below the Island of Orleans, and how much matter it must have taken to whiten it.

The atmosphere was not without its disturbances, de l'Isle d'Orleans, & ce qu'il falloit de matiere pour les blanchir.

L'air n'eftoit pas exempt de fes alterations, pendant celles des eaux & de la Terre: car outre le broüiffement qui precedoit toufiours & accompagnoit le Terre-tremble, l'on a veu des spectres & des phantofmes de feu portants des flambeaux en main. Lon a veu des picques & des lances de feu [11] voltiger, & des brandons allumés fe gliffer fur nos maifons, fans neanmoins faire autre mal que de ietter la frayeur par tout où ils paroiffoient: on entendoit mefme comme des voix plaintiues & languiffantes fe lamenter pendant le filence de la nuict; & ce qui est bien rare, des Marsoüins blancs ietter de hauts cris deuant le Bourg des trois Riuieres, faifants retentir l'air de meuglements pitoyables; & foit que ce fuffent des vrais Marfoüins, ou des vaches marines (comme quelques-vns ont estimé) vne chose si extraordinaire ne pouuoit pas arriuer d'vne caufe commune.

On mande de Montreal que pendant le Trembleterre on voioit tout visiblement les pieux des clostures fautiller comme s'ils [12] eusfient dansé; que de deux portes d'vne mesme chambre, l'vne se fermoit, & l'autre s'ouuroit d'elle-mesme; que les cheminées & le haut des logis plioient comme des branches d'arbres agitées du vent: que quand on leuoit le pied pour marcher, on sentoit la terre qui fuiuoit, se leuant à mesure qu'on hauffoit les pieds, & quelques fois frapant les plantes affez rudement, & autres choses femblables fort furprenantes.

Voicy ce qu'on en efcrit des Trois-Riuieres. La premiere fecouffe & la plus rude de toutes commença par vn broüiffement femblable à celuy du Tonnerre; during those on water and Land; for, beside the roaring which constantly preceded and accompanied the Earthquake, we saw specters and fiery phantoms bearing torches in their hands. Pikes and lances of fire [11] were seen, waving in the air, and burning brands darting down on our houses - without, however, doing further injury than to spread alarm wherever they were seen. There was even heard what sounded like plaintive and feeble voices in lamentation during the silence of the night; while white Porpoises were heard crying aloud before the Town of three Rivers - a very unusual occurrence and filling the air with a pitiful bellowing. Whether they were real Porpoises, or sea-cows (as some have supposed), so extraordinary a circumstance could have arisen from no common cause.

Word comes from Montreal that, during the Earthquake, fence-stakes were plainly seen to jump up and down as if in [12] a dance; of two doors in the same room, one closed itself and the other opened, of its own accord; chimneys and housetops bent like tree-branches shaken by the wind; on raising the foot in walking, one felt the ground coming up after him and rising in proportion to the height to which he lifted his foot, sometimes giving the sole a quite smart rap; and other similar occurrences, of a highly surprising nature, are reported from that place.

From Three Rivers they wrote the following account: "The first and severest of all the shocks began with a rumbling like that of Thunder, and the houses were shaken like tree-tops during a storm, amid a noise that made people think there was a fire [13] crackling in their garrets.

"This first shock continued fully half an hour, les maifons auoient la mefme agitation que le coupeau des arbres pendant vn orage, auec vn bruit qui faifoit croire que le feu [13] petilloit dans les greniers.

Ce premier coup dura bien vne demie-heure, quoy que fa grande force ne fust proprement que d'vn petit quart d'heure: Il n'y en eust pas vn qui ne creût que la Terre deût s'entr'ouurir. Au reste nous auons remarqué que comme ce tremblement est quasi fans relafche, auffi n'eft-il pas dans la mefme égalité: tantoft il imite le bransle d'vn grand vaisseau qui fe manie lentement fur fes Anchres: ce qui caufe à plusieurs des estourdiffements de teste: Tantost l'agitation eft irreguliere & precipitée par diuers élancements, quelques-fois affez rudes, quelques-fois plus moderez: le plus ordinaire est vn petit tremoussement qui fe rend fenfible, lors que l'on eft hors du bruit [14] & en repos. Selon le rapport de plusieurs de nos François & de nos Sauuages, tefmoins oculaires, bien auant dans nostre fleuue des Trois-Riuieres, à cinq ou fix lieuës d'icy, les coftes qui bordent la Riuiere de part & d'autre, & qui estoient d'vne prodigieuse hauteur, sont applanies, ayans esté enleuées de deffus leurs fondements, & deracinées iufqu'au niueau de l'eau: ces deux montagnes auec toutes leurs forests ayants esté ainsi renuersées dans la Riuiere, y formerent vne puissante digue, qui obligea ce fleuue à changer de lict, & à se répandre sur de grandes plaines nouuellement decouuertes, minant neantmoins toutes ces terres éboulées, & les demessant petit à petit auec les eaux de la [15] Riuiere, qui en font encore si épaisses & si troubles, qu'elles font changer de couleur à tout le grand fleuue de S. Laurens: Iugez combien il faut de terre tous les iours although its great violence really lasted only a scant quarter of an hour. There was not a person who did not think the Earth was about to split open. We further observed that, while this earthquake was almost continuous, still it was not of the same intensity, sometimes resembling the rocking of a great vessel riding gently at Anchor,-a motion which caused giddiness in many. Sometimes the disturbance was irregular, and precipitated by various sharp movements --- sometimes of considerable severity, at other times more moderate; but most commonly consisting of a slight quivering motion, which was perceptible to one away from the noise [14] and at rest. According to the report of many of our Frenchmen and Savages, who were eye-witnesses, far up on our river, the Three Rivers, five or six leagues from here, the banks bordering the Stream on each side, and formerly of a prodigious height, were leveled — being removed from their foundations, and uprooted to the water's level. These two mountains, with all their forests, thus overturned into the River, formed there a mighty dike which forced that stream to change its bed, and to spread over great plains recently discovered. At the same time, however, it undermined all those displaced lands and caused their gradual detrition by the waters of the [15] River, which are still so thick and turbid as to change the color of the whole great St. Lawrence river. Judge how much soil it must take to keep its waters flowing constantly full of mire every day for nearly three months. New Lakes are seen where there were none before: certain Mountains are seen no more, having been swallowed up; a number of rapids have been leveled, a number of Rivers have disappour continuer depuis prés de trois mois à rouler fes eaux, toufiours pleines de fange. L'on void de nouueaux Lacs où il n'y en eût iamais: on ne void plus certaines Montagnes qui font engoufrées: Plusieurs faults font applanis; plufieurs Riuieres ne paroiffent plus: La Terre s'est fenduë en bien des endroits, & a ouuert des precipices dont on ne trouue point le fond: Enfin, il s'eft fait vne telle confusion de bois renuersés & abyimés, qu'on void à present des campagnes de plus de mille arpents toutes rafes, & comme fi [16] elles eftoient tout fraischement labourées, là où peu auparauant il n'y auoit que des forefts. Nous apprenons du costé de Tadoussacq que l'effort du Tremble-terre n'y a pas efté moins rude qu'ailleurs; qu'on y a veu vne pluye de cendre, qui trauerfoit le fleuue comme auroit fait vn gros orage, & que qui voudroit suiure toute la coste depuis le Cap de Tourmente julques-là, verroit des effets prodigieux. Vers la Baye (dite de S. Paul) il y auoit vne petite Montagne fife fur le bord du fleuue, d'vn quart de lieuë ou enuiron de tour, laquelle s'est abysmée, & comme si elle n'eust fait que plonger, elle est resortie du fond de l'eau, pour se changer en Islet, & faire d'vn lieu tout bordé d'écueils, comme [17] il eftoit, vn havre d'affeurance contre toutes fortes de vents. Et plus bas vers la Pointe aux Alloüettes, vne forest entiere s'estant detachée de la terre-ferme, s'est gliffée dans le fleuue, & fait voir de grands arbres droits & verdoyants qui ont pris naissance dans l'eau, du jour au lendemain.

peared; the Earth was rent in many places, and it has opened chasms whose depths cannot be sounded; in fine, such confusion has been wrought, of woods overturned and swallowed up, that now we see fields of more than a thousand arpents utterly bare, and as if [16] very recently plowed, where a short time ago were only forests." We learn from Tadoussacq that the stress of the Earthquake was not less severe there than elsewhere; that a shower of ashes was seen crossing the stream like a great storm; and that, if one were inclined to follow the river-bank all the way from Cap de Tourmente to that point, he would see some marvelous effects of the earthquake. Near the Bay (called St. Paul's) there was a little Mountain, situated on the river-bank and a quarter of a league, or nearly that, in circumference, which was swallowed up; and, as if it had only taken a plunge, it came up again from the depths, to be changed into a little Island, and to turn a spot all beset with breakers, as [17] it used to be, into a haven of safety against all kinds of winds. And farther down, near Pointe aux Allouettes, a whole forest became detached from the mainland and slid into the river. where it presents to view great trees, straight and verdant, which sprang into being in the water, over night.

Three circumstances, moreover, rendered this Earthquake very remarkable. The first was its time of duration, it having continued into the month of August, or for more than six months. The shocks, it is true, were not always equally severe. In certain districts, as toward the mountains in our rear, the din and the oscillating motion were [18] unintermittent for a long time; in others as in the region d'Aouft, c'eft à dire plus de fix mois, il eft vray que les fecouffes n'eftoient pas toufiours également rudes: en certains endroits, comme vers les montagnes que nous auons à dos, le tintamare & le tremouffement y a efté [18] perpetuel pendant vn long temps; en d'autres, comme vers Tadouffacq, il y trembloit d'ordinaire deux & trois fois le jour auec de grands efforts: Et nous auons remarqué qu'aux lieux plus éleués l'efmotion y eftoit moindre qu'au plat-païs. La feconde circonstance est touchant l'estendüe de ce Terre-tremble, que nous croions estre vniuersel en toute la Nouuelle France; car nous apprenons qu'il s'eft fait reffentir depuis l'Isle Percée & Gaspée, qui font a l'emboucheure de nostre fleuue, iusques au delà de Montreal, comme auffi en la nouuelle Angleterre, en l'Acadie, & autres lieux fort éloignés; de forte que de nostre connoissance, trouuants que le Tremble-Terre s'est fait en deux cents lieües de longueur [19] fur cent de largeur, voila vingt mille lieües de terre en superficie qui ont tremblé tout à la fois, en mesme jour, & à mesme moment.

La troifiéme circonftance regarde la protection particuliere de Dieu fur nos habitations: car nous voyons proche de nous de grandes ouuertures qui fe font faites, & vne prodigieufe eftendüe de pays toute perdüe, fans que nous y ayons perdu vn enfant, non pas mefme vn cheueu de la tefte: Nous nous voyons enuironnés de bouleuerfements & de ruines, & toutesfois nous n'auons eu que quelques cheminées demolies pendant que les Montagnes d'alentour ont efté abyfmées.

Nous auons d'autant plus de [20] fuiet de remercier le Ciel de cette protection toute aimable, qu'vne of Tadoussacq, the shocks occurred ordinarily two or three times a day, with great force; and we noted that in more elevated places the motion was less than in the level country. The second circumstance concerns the extent of this Earthquake, which we believe to have been general in all New France; for we learn that it made itself felt from Isle Percée and Gaspée, which are at the mouth of our river, up to Montreal and beyond, as also in new England, Acadia, and other far distant regions. Therefore, knowing as we do that the Earthquake extended over a tract two hundred leagues in length [19] by one hundred in width, we have an area of twenty thousand leagues which was all shaken at once, on the same day and at the same moment.

The third circumstance concerns God's special protection of our settlements; for near us we see great clefts that were formed, and a prodigious extent of country utterly wrecked, while we have not lost a child or even a hair of our heads. All around us we see evidences of overthrow and ruin, and yet we had only some chimneys demolished, while the surrounding Mountains were swallowed up.

We have all the more [20] reason to thank Heaven for this most loving protection, inasmuch as a person of probity and of irreproachable life,—who had felt presentiments of what afterward occurred, and who had declared them to the one to whom such confession was due,—had a vision, on the very evening that this Earthquake began, of four frightful specters occupying the four quarters adjoining Quebec, and shaking them violently, as if bent on working a universal overthrow. This they undoubtedly would have done, had not a higher Power—one of perfonne de probité, & d'vne vie irreprochable, qui auoit eu les préfentimens de ce qui eft arriué, & qui s'en eftoit declarée à qui elle eftoit obligée de le faire, vid en efprit le foir mefme que ce Trembleterre commença, quatre fpectres effroyables qui occupoient les quatre coftez des terres voifines de Quebec, & les fecoüoient fortement, comme voulans tout renuerfer: ce que fans doute ils auroient fait, fi vne Puiffance fuperieure & d'vne Maiefté venerable, qui donnoit le branfle & le mouuement à tout, n'euft mis obftacle à leurs efforts, & ne les euft empeché de nuire à ceux que Dieu vouloit épouuanter pour leur falut: mais [21] toutesfois qu'il ne vouloit pas perdre.

Les Sauuages auoient eu des presentiments aussi bien que les François, de cet horible Tremble-Terre. Vne ieune fille Sauuage Algonquine aagée de Seize à dix-fept ans, nommée Catherine, qui a toufiours vescu en grande innocence, & qui mesme par la confiance extraordinaire qu'elle auoit en la Croix du Fils de Dieu, a esté guerie quasi miraculeusement d'vne maladie qui l'a fait languir tout vn Hyuer, fans esperance d'en pouuoir iamais releuer, a deposé auec toute fincerité que la nuict auant que le Terre-Tremble arriuast, elle se vid auec deux autres filles de fon aage & de fa Nation dans vn grand Efcalier qu'elles montoient, au haut [22] duquel fe voyoit vne belle Eglife où la Sainte Vierge auec fon Fils parut, leur predifant que la terre, trembleroit bien toft, que les arbres s'entre-choqueroient, que les rochers se briseroient auec l'estonnement general de tout le monde: Cette pauure fille bien furprise de ces nouuelles, eut peur que ce ne fuffent quelques prestiges du Demon, bien resolües de decouurir le venerable Majesty, the author of the universal disturbance—interposed an obstacle to their efforts, and prevented them from harming those whom it was God's will to frighten, for the sake of their own salvation, but [21] not to destroy.

The Savages, as well as the French, had had presentiments of this fearful Earthquake. A young Algonquin girl, between Sixteen and seventeen years of age, named Catherine, - who has always lived a very innocent life; and who, indeed, owing to her extraordinary trust in the Cross of the Son of God, has been cured, as if by a miracle, of an illness from which she had been suffering for an entire Winter, without any hopes of recovery,-deposed with all sincerity that, on the night preceding the Earthquake, she saw herself with two other girls of her age and Nation mounting a great Stairway. At its top [22] was seen a beautiful Church, where the Blessed Virgin appeared with her Son, predicting to them that the earth would soon be shaken, trees would strike against one another, and rocks would be shattered, to the general consternation of all the people. This poor girl, much surprised by such an announcement, feared that it was some illusion of the Demon. and determined to reveal the whole, as soon as possible, to the Father in charge of the Algonquin Church. On the evening of the same day, a short time before the Earthquake began, she shouted in a transport of excitement; and, as if wrought upon by a powerful influence, she said to her relatives, "It is coming soon, it is coming soon." And she afterward had the same presentiments before each [23] of the Earthquake shocks.

We add a second deposition of much greater detail, tout au pluftoft au Pere qui a foin de l'Eglife Algonquine. Le foir du mefme iour quelque peu de temps auparauant que commençaft le Tremble-terre, elle s'efcria toute hors de foy & comme efmüe d'vne forte impression, dît à ses parents: ce sera bien-tost, ce fera bien-tost, ayant eu du depuis les messes préfentiment à chaque fois [23] que la Terre trembloit.

Voicy vne autre deposition bien plus particularifée, que nous auons tirée d'vne autre Sauuage Algonquine, aagée de vingt fix ans, fort innocente, fimple & fincere, laquelle ayant efté interrogée par deux de nos Peres fur ce qui luy eftoit arriué, a refpondu tout ingenuëment, & fa refponse a efté confirmée par son Mary, par son Pere, & par sa Mere, qui ont veu de leurs yeux, & entendu de leurs propres oreilles ce qui s'enfuit: Voicy fa deposition.

La nuict du 4. ou 5. de Febvrier 1663. estant entierement éueillée, & en plein iugement, affife comme fur mon feant, i'ay entendu vne voix distincte & intelligible qui m'a dit, Il doit arriver [24] aujourd'huy des chofes eftranges, la Terre doit trembler. Ie me trouuay pour lors faisie d'vne grande frayeur, parce que ie ne voyois perfonne d'où peuft prouenir cette voix: Remplie de crainte, ie taschay à m'endormir auec affez de peine; & le iour estant venu, ie dis tout bas à Iofeph Onnentakité mon Mary, ce qui m'estoit arriué; mais m'ayant rebuté, disant que ie mentois & luy en voulois faire accroire, ie ne parlay pas dauantage: Sur les neuf ou dix heures du mesme iour, allant au bois pour buscher, à peine estois-ie entrée en la forest, que la mesme voix se fit entendre, me difant la mesme chose, & de la mesme façon que la nuict precedente; la peur fut bien plus grande, which we received from another Algonquin woman, twenty-six years of age, and very innocent, simple, and sincere,—who was questioned by two of our Fathers concerning her experiences, and answered them in all frankness. Her replies were confirmed by her Husband and her Parents, who saw with their own eyes and heard with their own ears what follows. Her deposition runs thus:

" On the night between the 4th and 5th of February, 1663, being fully awake and in full possession of my senses, while in a sitting posture, I heard a voice, distinct and intelligible, which said to me: 'Strange things are to happen [24] to-day; the Earth will tremble.' Thereupon I was seized with great fear, seeing no one from whom those words could have come. Filled with alarm, I endeavored, with considerable difficulty, to go to sleep; and when day broke I told my Husband, Joseph Onnentakité, quite in private, what had happened to me. As, however, he rebuffed me, saying that I was lying, and wished to impose upon him, I said nothing further. At about nine or ten o'clock on the same day, on my way to the woods to gather fagots, I had scarcely entered the forest when the same voice made itself heard, saying the same thing and in the same manner as on the night before. My alarm was much greater, as I [25] was entirely alone. So I looked all around, to see if I could catch sight of any one; but no person was to be seen. Accordingly, I gathered a load of fagots and went home, meeting my sister on the way, as she was coming to help me; and I told her what had just occurred. She at once took the lead and, reëntering the Cabin before me, repeated my experience to my father and mother; but, as it was all very extraordinary, they merely heard it without giving it any especial thought. There the matter rested until five or six o'clock in the evening of the same day, when an Earthquake occurred, and they recognized by experience that what they had heard me say in the Forenoon was only too true."

BONS EFFETS DU TREMBLE-TERRE & DE L'ESTAT DU CHRISTIANISME DES SAUUAGES PLUS PROCHE DE QUEBEC.

VAND Dieu parle il fe fait bien entendre, fur tout quand il parle par la voix des Tonnerres, ou des Terre-Trembles, qui n'ont pas moins efbranlé les cœurs endurcis, que nos plus gros rochers, & ont fait de plus grands remüements dans les confciences, que dans nos Forefts & fur nos Montagnes.

Ce Tremble-Terre commença le Lundy gras à cinq heures & demie du foir. Dés ce moment qui donne ordinairement entrée aux [27] debauches du lendemain, tout le monde s'appliqua serieusement à l'affaire de fon falut; vn chacun r'entrant dans foy-mefme, & se considerant comme sur le poinct d'estre abismé, & d'aller comparoistre deuant Dieu, pour y receuoir ce iugement decifif de l'eternité, qui est terrible aux ames les plus faintes. De forte que le Mardy-gras fut heureusement changé en vn iour de Vendredy Saint, & en vn iour de Pasque. Il nous representoit le iour du Vendredy Saint, dans la modestie & l'humilité, & dans les larmes d'vne parfaite Penitence. # [26] CHAPTER III.

GOOD EFFECTS OF THE EARTHQUAKE; AND CONCERN-ING THE STATE OF CHRISTIANITY AMONG THE SAVAGES IN THE VICINITY OF QUEBEC.

WHEN God speaks, he makes himself heard with distinctness—especially when he speaks with the utterance of Thunders, or of Earthquakes, which have moved hardened hearts no less than our greatest rocks, and have caused greater commotion in men's consciences than in our Forests and on our Mountains.

This Earthquake began on shrove Monday, at half past five in the evening. From that moment-a time which commonly introduces the [27] debauches of the following day-every person gave his serious attention to the matter of his own salvation, each one searching his own heart, and viewing himself as on the point of destruction, and of appearing before God for the purpose of receiving that judgment which would decide his fate for eternity, and which is terrible even to the most saintly souls. Thus shrove Tuesday was fortunately changed into a Good Friday and also into an Easter. It represented Good Friday to us in its modesty and humility, and in its tears of perfect Penitence. Never were Confessions made which came more from the bottom of the heart, and from feelings of genuine fear of God's judgments. This same day also seemed to us like an [28] Easter, from the frequent administration of Communion.

frequence des Communions que la plufpart faifoient comme la derniere de leur vie. Le Saint temps du Carefme ne fut iamais paffé plus faintement, les Trembles-Terre qui continuoient, faifans continuer l'efprit de componction & de la penitence.

Mais ne parlons icy que de nos Sauuages, qui pour eftre Barbares ne font pas infenfibles aux touches du Ciel.

Outre les reftes de l'Eglife Huronne, nous auons eu cét Hyuer aux enuirons de Ouebec trois à quatre cents Algonquins, les vns anciens Chreftiens, & anciens Habitans de Sillery, d'où la crainte des Iroquois les auoit chaffez, pour trouuer vn azile plus asseuré dans le cœur de Quebec; les autres [29] eftoient estrangers venus en partie de l'Acadie où ils auoiet passé trois ou quatre ans sans instruction, en partie descendus par le Saguenay, riuiere de Tadousfacq, fuyants auffi le commun ennemy, qui l'an paffé auoit porté le rauage iusques dans leur païs, quoy que bien écarté vers le Nord; Ceux-cy n'auoient jamais veu de François, & n'auoient jamais entendu parler de la Foy, & peut-estre n'en auroient jamais entendu parler, si l'aimable prouidence ne se fust feruie des Iroquois mefme, pour faire venir icy ceux qu'ils nous empefchent d'aller chercher chés eux; Il eft vray que le Demon qui ne s'endort jamais pour la conferuation de son Royaume, nous a suscité vn Ennemy domeftique plus cruel de [30] beaucoup que l'ennemy public: c'eft la manie de quelques Sauuages à prendre des boiffons par excés, & la manie de quelques François à leur en vendre. Tous les Ameriquains ont d'abord de l'horreur de nos vins; mais quand ils en ont vne fois goufté, ils les recherchent which was received by most as the last they would take in their lives. The Holy Lenten season was never passed in greater piety, the continuance of the Earthquakes causing a continuance in the feelings of contrition and penitence.

But let us here speak only of our Savages, who, despite their being Barbarians, are not insensible to Heavenly influences.

Beside the remnants of the Huron Church, we had last Winter in the neighborhood of Quebec between three and four hundred Algonquins. A part of them were formerly Christians and Settlers of Sillery, whence the fear of the Iroquois had driven them, to find a safer asylum in the heart of Quebec. The rest [29] were strangers, who had come in part from Acadia, where they had passed three or four years without instruction; and in part from up the Saguenay, the river of Tadoussacq, - fleeing likewise from the common enemy, who, in the preceding year, had carried his ravages even into their country, far distant although it is toward the North. These latter people had never seen any Frenchmen or heard of the Faith, and perhaps never would have heard of it if a kind providence had not made use of these very Iroquois to drive hither those whom they prevent us from visiting in their own country. It is true, the Devil, ever sleepless in guarding his Kingdom, has raised up against us a domestic Enemy more cruel by [30] far than the public foe. I mean the mania for drinking to excess, which possesses some Savages; and the passion for selling them the drink, which possesses certain Frenchmen. All Americans have at first a loathing for our wines; but, having once acquired a taste for them, they seek auec vne telle paffion, que les vns fe mettent à nud & reduifent leur famille à la mendicité, & quelques autres vendent iufqu'à leurs propres enfans, pour auoir dequoy contenter cette paffion enragée.

Ce mal eft vniuerfel en ces contrées, puifque depuis Gafpé; (d'où vn bon Ecclefiaftique efcrit en propres termes que le Chriftianifme eft entierement ruiné parmy les Sauuages à caufe de l'yurognerie) il s'eftend iufques aux Iroquois.

[31] Ie ne veux pas deferire les mal-heurs que ces defordres ont caufé à cette Eglife naiffante. Mon ancre n'eft pas affez noire pour les dépeindre de leurs couleurs, il faudroit du fiel de dragons pour coucher icy les amertumes que nous en auons reffenty: C'eft tout dire que nous perdons en vn mois les fueurs & les trauaux de dix & vingt années.

Il eft vray que ceux de nos Sauuages qui font les plus retenus, s'eftoient retirés à Sillery, pour fe conferuer entre quatre murailles, pluftoft contre ce Demon, que contre l'Iroquois: Ceux des Trois Riuieres ont trouué vn femblable afile dans vn Fort que nous leur auons bafty fur vn Cap qui prend fon nom de Monfieur de la Magdeleine, qui a eu deffein en donnant [32] cette terre qu'elle feruit à la conuerfion des Sauuages.

Ces deux Colonies ainfi renfermées comme dans deux Monafteres, y ont pratiqué toute forte d'exercices de pieté, & y ont efté inftruicts à loifir, faifant de ces deux forts comme deux Academies de vertu. Voicy ce que les Peres qui cultiuent cette Eglife Algonquine de Sillery en difent:

Les Tremble-terres ont fait paroiftre la Foy de nos Neophytes, & l'apprehension qu'ils ont des iugements them with such passion that some strip themselves of everything, and reduce their families to beggary, while others sell even their own children, in order to obtain the means of gratifying this furious craving.

This evil is general in these regions, extending as it does from Gaspé (whence a good Ecclesiastic writes in fitting terms that Christianity is utterly ruined among the Savages, because of drunkenness) as far as the Iroquois.

[31] I will not describe the ills which these disturbances have caused to this infant Church. My ink is not black enough to depict them in their true colors; it would require dragon's gall to express here the bitterness which we have experienced therefrom. We tell the whole story in saying that we lose in one month the labors and exertions of ten and of twenty years.

The more self-controlled among our Savages had taken refuge, it is true, in Sillery, in order to enjoy the protection of four walls, rather against this Demon than against the Iroquois. Those of Three Rivers found a similar asylum in a Fort which we built for them on a Cape named after Monsieur de la Magdeleine, whose purpose in giving [32] the land was that it should be devoted to the cause of converting the Savages.<sup>1</sup>

These two Colonies, thus shut up as in two Monasteries, have there practiced every kind of pious exercise, and have there been instructed at leisure, making of those two forts two Academies of virtue, so to speak. The Fathers who have the care of this Algonquin Church of Sillery speak of it in the following manner:

"The Earthquakes have made apparent our Neo-de Dieu, aux bontez duquel ils ont eu recours auec vne Confiance extraordinaire. Il ne fallut pas les inuiter à fe confeffer, ils y vindrent d'eux mefmes, auec des fentiments qui dönoient bien à cognoiftre qu'ils eftoient beaucoup touchez, l'Eglife a efté leur [33] azile ordinaire où ils fe tenoient en affeurance deuant le Tres-faint Sacrement: Et quelques-vns y recitoient autant de fois le Chappelet que la Terre trembloit: C'eftoit vne grande confolation de voir auec quelle confiance ils s'addreffoient à la Mere de Dieu, à Sainct Iofeph fon Efpoux, & à Sainct Michel Patron de cette Miffion. Ce grand Archange y a efté particulierement honoré & des François & des Sauuages, qui y font venus de loin fe mettre foubs fa protection, & accomplir leurs vœux.

Vn Vendredy entr'autres les Sauuages des enuirons feirent vne Proceffion folennelle de deux, trois, & mesme quelques-vns de fix à sept lieües loing, pour fe rendre à la Croix de Sainct Michel: il y auoit [34] des Vieillards tout caducs; il y auoit des enfans de plus bas aage qui s'eftoient échappéz des mains de leurs parents, tous à ieun, & tous confacroient le chemin par leurs prieres, iufqu'à ce qu'approchants du terme, les Sauuages habitants de Sillery, furent bien loing à la rencontre, pour les receuoir, faifants de leur costé vne autre Procession, & s'estans ioints, arriuerent tous ensemble dans l'Eglise, où apres la Sainte Communion, que plusieurs eurent le bon-heur de receuoir, ils fe firent de nouuelles protestations d'apaifer la colere de Dieu par l'innocence de leur vie.

C'eft vne grande fatisfaction (continüent les Peres) de voir auec quelle vnion ils viuent entr'eux: nous phytes' Faith and their fear of the judgments of God, to whose goodness they have had recourse with a Trust that is extraordinary. It was unnecessary to call them to confession; they came voluntarily, with feelings which showed plainly that they were deeply moved. The Church was their [33] customary asylum, where they kept themselves in security before the Most holy Sacrament, some of them reciting their Rosaries there as often as an Earthquake shock occurred. It was a great consolation to see with what trust they appealed to the Mother of God, to Saint Joseph, her Spouse, and to Saint Michael, Patron of this Mission. That great Archangel was especially honored there by both French and Savages, who came from a distance to put themselves under his protection and fulfill their vows.

"One Friday, among other occasions, the Savages of the neighborhood made a solemn Procession of two, three, and even, in some instances, of six or seven leagues, for the sake of visiting the Cross of Saint Michael. Thither came [34] Old men all tottering with age, children of the tenderest years who had escaped from their parents' keeping, all fasting, and all consecrating their journey with prayers,until, on approaching their goal, they were met by the Savages dwelling at Sillery, who went forth a long distance to receive them, forming on their part another Procession. When these had united, they proceeded all together into the Church, where, after Holy Communion, which many had the happiness to receive, they made fresh vows to appease God's anger by the innocence of their lives.

"It is a great satisfaction "(continue the Fathers) to see how unitedly they live together. We have auons fouuent admiré [35] la bonté d'vne ancienne Chreftienne qui s'appelle par excellence la Charitable. Elle eft le refuge des Orphelins, qu'elle adopte, & qu'elle éleue auec vn foin tres-particulier: Dieu benit extraordinairement fa charité; car elle a tousiours de quoy pour faire sublister sa famille, quoy que nombreuse. Avant esté affligée d'vne maladie qui la mit en danger de mort, elle endura fon mal auec vne patience & vne refignation au bon plaifir de Dieu, qui n'est pas commune: Voicy la pensée auec laquelle elle fe disposoit à la mort: Toy qui as tout fait, tu m'as donné deux Enfans, ils sont morts ieunes; tu les as appelez à ton Paradis, i'espere que tu me feras la mesme faueur, & que ie t'aimeray eternellement auec eux. Dieu voulant [36] augmenter fa couronne, luy a redonné la fanté, qu'elle employe tres-bien: Sa charité parut il y a quelques iours à l'endroit d'vne ieune femme Françoife, qu'elle affifta dans fes premieres couches, où elle couroit grand rifque de fa vie, auec vne adreffe & vne affection qui n'a rien de Sauuage.

C'eft vne verité qu'on a reconnuë depuis longtemps, que les Sauuages ayment tendrement leurs enfans, de cét amour que la Nature a graué dans leurs cœurs: Mais nous experimentons tous les iours qu'ils ne les aiment pas moins de cet amour furnaturel qui les porte à leur procurer vne education toute Chreftienne: Leur ioye, c'eft de voir qu'on les inftruife à prier Dieu, & qu'on [37] les dreffe aux vertus dont ils font capables: S'ils font malades, ils n'ont point de plus grande confolation que lors qu'on vient à faire quelque priere fur eux. often admired [35] the goodness of a woman, a Christian of long standing, who is called, par excellence, ' the Charitable.' She is the refuge of Orphans, whom she adopts and rears with the greatest care. God blesses her charity to an extraordinary degree, for she always has the means to support her family, numerous although it is. When she was afflicted with an illness which endangered her life, she bore her ailment with an uncommon patience and resignation to God's will. Following is the sentiment with which she prepared to meet death: Thou who hast made all things, thou gavest me two Children; they died young; thou didst call them to thy Paradise. I hope that thou wilt do me the same favor, and that I shall love thee forever in their company. It being God's will [36] to add to her crown, he restored her to health, which she put to very good use. Her charity was manifested, some days ago, toward a young French woman whom, with a skill and affection savoring no whit of the Savage, she attended in her first confinement, in which the patient's life was in serious peril.

"It is a truth long since recognized that the Savages tenderly love their children with that love which Nature has implanted in their hearts; but we daily find that they love them not less with that love above nature which prompts them to obtain for their offspring an education wholly Christian in character. Their joy is to see the children taught to pray, and [37] trained in the virtues for which they are fitted. If they are ill, nothing gives the parents greater consolation than to see them visited and prayed over. The following is an illustration of a good widow's very tender love, and although nothing more than natural, yet it is not without its charms. Summoned beautés: Vn de nous l'ayant appellé à l'Eglife pour luy donner quelques inftructions, & luy ayant demandé en fuitte fi elle fentoit quelque chofe qui luy donnât de l'inquietude; vne feule, chofe dit-elle, c'eft lors que mon petit enfant pleure, & que ie n'ay point de pain pour l'appaifer: Voilà l'vnique chofe qui m'afflige en ce monde. Tu ne feras plus en cette peine (luy repliqua le Pere) amene le moy lors qu'il pleurera, i'effuieray fes [38] larmes & les tiennes: Cette refponfe a chaffé tout fon defplaifir, elle amene fon petit fils tous les iours pour luy procurer du pain, qui leur eft vn mets fort delicieux, & dont ils font beaucoup de cas.

Pour ce qui est des Sauuages estrangers venus icy de nouueau, ceux qui n'auoient eu aucune connoiffance de nos mysteres, ont esté instruits à loisir, & baptifez au nombre de quatre vingt, estants redeuables de ce bon-heur à vne pauure femme toute estropiée de fes iambes, dont elle n'a aucun vfage; & qui nonobstant cela, a bien eu le courage d'entreprendre vn long-chemin tout remply de faults & de precipices, depuis les terres du Nord iufques icy, pour y amener fes compatriotes, & leur faire part de la grace qu'elle [39] receut il y a trois ans, quand elle fut baptifée comme moribonde au milieu des Forest, n'avant point cessé depuis ce temps-là, de prier Dieu, & d'exhorter ceux de sa nation à se venir faire instruire. Ils y font donc venus, & au lieu de la famine qu'ils ont quitté dans leurs bois, ils ont trouué icy la maladie, dont Dieu a voulu esprouuer ces pauures Catechumenes, pour faire esclater d'auantage leur Foy: Car de vray le Pere qui a foin d'eux, leur avant demandé, s'ils estoient contents dembrasser le to the Church by one of our number for the purpose of receiving some instruction, and then being asked if she had anything on her mind that troubled her, 'Only one thing,' she answered, 'and that is to hear my little child cry when I have no bread to satisfy its hunger. That is the only thing that troubles me in this world.' 'Thou shalt be no longer troubled in that way' (the Father answered her); 'bring it to me when it cries, and I will dry its [38] tears and thine.' This reply dispelled all her sorrow, and she brings her little boy every day to obtain bread for him, which is to them a highly delicious viand and one which they greatly esteem.

"As for the stranger Savages recently arrived here, those who were utterly ignorant of our doctrines have been instructed at leisure and baptized, to the number of eighty, - being indebted for this happiness to a poor woman helplessly crippled in her legs, which she cannot use at all. Nevertheless, she had the courage to undertake a long journey full of rapids and precipices, from the lands of the North to this place, in order to conduct her compatriots hither and have them share the grace which she herself [39] received three years ago, when she was baptized as a dying woman in the heart of the Woods; and she has not ceased since then to pray to God and exhort the people of her nation to come and receive instruction. Accordingly they came, and instead of the famine which they left behind them in their woods. they here found illness, with which it was God's will to try these poor Catechumens, in order to make their Faith shine the more brightly; for, actually, when the Father in charge of them asked them if they were content to embrace Christianity despite all of Chriftianifme, nonobítant toutes ces maladies; Helas (refpondoient ils) crois-tu que nous puiffions auoir paffé tant de rochers, & trauerfé tant de Forefts pour autre fujet; Nous fommes efclaues du demon, & [40] nous defirons eftre affranchis de cette cruelle feruitude, qui ietteroit nos corps & nos ames dans des feux qui ne meurent iamais.

Ces fentimens font femblables à ceux qu'a remarqué celuy de nos Peres qui a eu le foing des Miffions qui font au deffoubs de Tadouffacq: Ce font des Eglifes errantes composées des Sauuages qui habitent plus de cent lieües de long fur les coftes de la mer: Leur vie est presque semblable à celle des bestes auec lesquelles ils habitent dans les mesmes Forests, soit pour le viure, foit pour le couurir, foit pour le logement, changeants comme elles de demeure, felon les faifons. De tous ces peuples les vns ont reffenty le Tremble-terre, & les autres n'en ont eu connoiffance que par [41] rapport: Mais & les vns & les autres ont fait enfuitte paroistre vne ardeur si extraordinaire pour estre instruits, que le Pere raui & comblé de tant de faints defirs, n'a pû refuser le S. Baptesme à ces pauures abandonnés: Il faisoit beau voir ces deuots Barbares, dont quelques-vns venoient de bien loing en danger de tomber entre les mains des Iroquois, & de leurs autres ennemis, pour pouuoir eftre instruits; Il faisoit, dis-ie, beau voir des Iongleurs rompre & brifer leurs Tabernacles, des Apostats crier, misericorde, & demander auec abondance de larmes d'eftre admis dans l'Eglife, des petits enfans faire retentir leurs voix du petit Cathechifme & de prieres qu'ils recitoient, & des Vieillards deuenir [42] les Difciples de ces enfans pour les this sickness, 'Alas' (they replied), 'thinkest thou that we can have passed so many rocks and traversed so many Forests for any other purpose? We are slaves of the demon, and [40] wish to be freed from that cruel servitude, which would consign our bodies and our souls to never-dying fires.'"

These sentiments are similar to those noted by one of our Fathers who is in charge of the Missions below Tadoussacq - nomadic Churches, composed of Savages inhabiting more than a hundred leagues of seashore. Their mode of life, as regards food, raiment. and shelter, is much like that of the beasts with which they share the Forests as abode, changing their dwelling-place with them according to the season. Of all these tribes, some felt the Earthquake, while others had no knowledge of it except by [41] report: but all manifested thereafter such unusual ardor for receiving instruction, that the Father, delighted and overwhelmed by such an exhibition of pious desire, could not refuse Holy Baptism to those poor forsaken souls. It was a beautiful sight to see those devout Barbarians, some of whom came from a great distance. at the risk of falling into the hands of the Iroquois and of their other enemies, in order to be instructed. It was a beautiful sight, I say, to see Jugglers break and demolish their Tabernacles; Apostates appeal for mercy, and beg with flowing tears to be admitted into the Church; little children uplift their voices in the brief Catechism and the prayers which they recited; and Old men turn [42] Disciples of these children in order to learn of them, and follow the Father whithersoever he went, without giving him any respite, night or day, that they might lose none of his teachings. "I have never seen thee, my Que le Ciel entend volontiers ces paroles fortir de la bouche & [43] du cœur de ces pauures Barbares, qui dans leurs grandes Forefts n'ont que le Saint Efprit pour maiftre, pour Pafteur & pour Inftructeur.

Father." (Thus he was accosted by one of these Old men, who was more than a hundred years of age, and whom providence caused to arrive at the mouth of a small River at the same time as the Father.) "Ah, thou shalt be my Father; old as I am, and despite death's close pursuit of me, thou wilt give me life, if thou art willing to give me Baptism. I give thee my children, my nephews, and my whole nation, whom I am going to summon to receive instruction from thee."

How gladly does Heaven hear such words from the lips and [43] hearts of these poor Barbarians who, amid their great Forests, have only the Holy Ghost for master, Pastor, and Instructor!

VARIOUS IROQUOIS WARS, AND THEIR RESULTS.

AST year the Agnieronnons and Onneiochronnons, the haughtiest of the five Iroquois nations, formed an expedition of a hundred men to go and lie in ambush for the Outaouax, who constitute our upper Algonquins, and to fall upon them when engaged in passing some difficult rapid. With this purpose they set out [44] early in the Spring of the year 1662, depending on their muskets for provisions, and using the Woods which lay in their path as courtvard, kitchen, and lodging-place. The shortest paths are not the best, because they are too much traveled ; he who loses his way makes the most successful journey, because one is never lost in these Woods without finding wild animals, which seek a retreat in the remotest forests.

After following the Hunter's calling for a considerable time, they turned into Warriors, seeing that they were approaching the enemy's country. So they began to prowl along the shores of the Lake of the Hurons, seeking their prey; and while they were planning to surprise some straggling huntsmen, they were themselves surprised [45] by a band of Sauteurs (for thus we designate the Savages living near the sault of Lake Superior). These latter, having discovered the enemy, made their approach toward daybreak, with such boldness that, after discharging some muskets and then shooting their arrows, they ceux que le feu ou le fer auoient epargné: Les Iroquois, tout orgueilleux qu'ils font, & qui n'ont pas iufqu'à prefent appris à fuir, euffent bien voulu le faire, fi les traits qui leur eftoient dardés de toutes pars, ne les euffent arreftés: de forte qu'il ne s'en eft fauué que fort peu, pour porter dans leur pays vne fi trifte nouuelle, & remplir leurs bourgs de lamentations, au lieu des cris de ioye, qui auoient [46] couftume d'y retentir au retour des guerriers. Cela montre bien que ces peuples ne font pas infurmontables, quand on les attaque auec courage.

Les trois autres nations Iroquoifes n'ont pas eu meilleur fuccés dans vne expedition qu'ils ont entrepris contre les Andastoguéronnons, Sauuages de la nouuelle Suede, auec qui la guerre s'est allumée depuis quelques années: ils composent donc vne armée de huict cents hommes, ils s'embarquent fur le Lac Ontario, fur le commancement du mois d'Auril dernier; ils vont chercher à l'extremité de ce beau Lac vn grand fleuue, prefque femblable à celuy de nostre Saint Laurens, qui mene sans rapides & fans faults iufques aux portes [47] de la Bourgade d'Andastogué: Nos guerriers y arriuent, apres auoir nauigé plus de cent lieües fur cette belle Riuiere. Ils fe campent aux postes les plus auantageux, & fe preparent à vn affaut general, penfant à leur ordinaire enleuer tout le bourg, & retourner au plustoft chargés de gloire & de captifs: Mais ils virent que ce bourg eftoit deffendu d'vn costé, du fleuue sur les bords duquel il estoit situé; de l'autre, costé, d'vne double courtine de gros arbres, flanquée de deux bastions dreffez à l'Europeanne, & mesme garnis de quelques pieces d'Artilleries: les Iroquois furpris de leaped, hatchet in hand, upon those whom their fire and missiles had spared. The Iroquois, although they are very proud and have never yet learned to run away, would have been glad to do so had they not been prevented by the shafts leveled at them from every direction. Hence only a very few escaped to bear such sad news to their country, and to fill their villages with mourning instead of the joyful shouts that were [46] wont to ring out on the warriors' return. This shows clearly that these people are not invincible when they are attacked with courage.

The three other Iroquois nations had no better success in an expedition undertaken by them against the Andastoguéronnons, Savages of new Sweden with whom war broke out some years ago. Raising, accordingly, an army of eight hundred men, they embarked on Lake Ontario toward the beginning of last April, and directed their course toward the extremity of that beautiful Lake, to a great river, very much like our Saint Lawrence, leading without rapids and without falls to the very gates [47] of the Village of Andastogué. There our warriors arrived. after journeying more than a hundred leagues on that beautiful River. Camping in the most advantageous positions, they prepared to make a general assault, planning, as is their wont, to sack the whole village and return home at the earliest moment, loaded with glory and with captives. But they saw that this village was defended on one side by the stream, on whose banks it was situated, and on the opposite by a double curtain of large trees, flanked by two bastions erected in the European manner, and even supplied with some pieces of Artillery. Surprised at finding defenses so well-planned, the ces deffenses si bien pratiquées, quittent la pensée de l'affaut, & apres quelque legeres escarmoufches, ont recours à leur [48] fouplesse ordinaire, pour auoir par fourbe ce qu'ils ne pouuoient emporter par force: Ils font donc ouuerture de quelque pour-parler, ils s'offrent d'aller dans la place affiegée iufqu'à vingtcinq hommes, partie pour traitter de paix, difoient ils, partie pour achepter des viures pour leur retour; on leur ouure les portes, ils entrent; mais à mesme temps on se faisit d'eux, & fans plus differer, on les fait monter sur des eschafauts, & à la veuë de leur propre armée, ils furent brûlez tout vifs: Les Andaftogueronnons declarans ainfi la guerre plus chaudement que iamais, donnerent affeurance aux Iroquois que ce n'eftoit là que le prelude de ce qu'ils alloient faire chez eux. Et qu'ils n'auoient qu'a s'en [49] retourner au plustoft se preparer à vn siege, ou du moins à voir leur campagnes defolées.

Les Iroquois humiliés de cet affront plus qu'on ne peut penfer, se debandent & vont se mettre sur la deffensiue, eux qui iusqu'à present auoient porté leurs armes victorieuses par toutes ces terres. Mais que feront-ils? La petite verolle qui est la peste des Ameriquains, a fait de grands degasts dans leurs Bourgades, & a enleué outre grand nombre de femmes & d'enfans, des hommes en quantité: De forte que leurs Bourgs fe trouuent prefque deferts, & leurs champs ne font qu'à demy cultiuez. Les voilà donc menacez à mefme temps des trois fleaux qu'ils ont si bien meritez par la resistance qu'ils [50] ont apporté à la Foy, & par la perfidie dont ils ont vfé fur les Predicateurs de l'Euangile. Dans ces extremitez ils ne voyent aucun iour à leurs affaires, Iroquois abandoned their projected assault, and, after some light skirmishes, resorted to their [48] customary subtlety, in order to gain by trickery what they could not accomplish by force. Making, then, overtures for a parley, they offered to enter the besieged town to the number of twenty-five, partly to treat for peace, as they declared, and partly to buy provisions for their return journey. The gates were opened to them and they went in, but were immediately seized and, without further delay, made to mount on scaffolds where, in sight of their own army, they were burned alive. The Andastogueronnons. by thus declaring war more hotly than ever, gave the Iroquois to understand that this was merely the prelude to what they were going to do in the latter's country; and that the Iroquois had only to go [49] back home as speedily as possible and prepare for a siege, or at least make ready to see their fields laid waste.

The Iroquois, more humiliated by this insult than can be imagined, disbanded and prepared to adopt the defensive-they who hitherto had borne their arms in victory through all those regions. But what are they to do? The smallpox, which is the Americans' pest, has wrought sad havoc in their Villages and has carried off many men, besides great numbers of women and children; and, as a result, their Villages are nearly deserted, and their fields only half tilled. So there they are, menaced at the same time by three scourges which they have so richly deserved, for the resistance which they [50] have offered to the Faith, and the perfidy which they have shown toward the Preachers of the Gospel. In these extremities they see no relief from their embarrassment except from the French, who alone can save them by forti-

Ils preparent pour cela vne celebre Ambaffade pour nous venir inuiter auec de beaux prefents, d'aller tout de nouueau habiter leurs terres, auec dessein de nous faire esperer de leurs petites filles en oftage, comme nous leur en auons demandé fouuent, pour les mettre chez les Meres Vrfulines, & y estre cultiuées, instruites & disposées au Baptesme par les soins de ces bonnes Religieuses, [51] qui n'aspirent qu'à de si faints emplois, ayans pour ce fuiet immolé leur vie aux perils de l'Ocean, & aux rigueurs de ce pays. Les Iroquois estoient donc fur les termes de cette Ambassade, & tout prests (comme ils parlent) à mettre le Canot à l'eau, quand vn fugitif Huron de Nation, mais naturalifé parmy les Iroquois, s'estant euadé des Trois Riuieres, & arriuant à mesme temps qu'on estoit sur le départ, rapporta faussement qu'on se disposoit à Quebec à vne cruelle guerre, que des milliers de foldats auoient paffé la Mer pour venir enleuer toutes leurs Bourgades, & que les Ambaffadeurs feroient massacrez, ou du moins enuoyés en France, pour y estre captifs le reste de leurs iours: Ce [52] fugitif auoit entendu quelque chose du secours qu'on nous promettoit; & c'est ce qui le faisoit parler ainsi. A cette nouuelle, la frayeur faisit les Ambassadeurs, la partie fe rompt, & il n'y en eut qu'vn qui eut le courage de venir jusqu'à Quebec, pour s'informer de tous ces rapports. Nous l'auons receu comme amy; mais nous l'auons regardé comme Espion, car nous n'auons pû voir clair dans fes difcours, tant ces peuples sont couuerts & rompus à la diffimulation.

fying their Villages and flanking them with Bastions, in order to defend them against the enemy's army if it should come. With this end in view, they prepare a notable Embassy, which is to come with beautiful presents, and invite us to go again and dwell in their territory. They intend to give us the hope of obtaining some of their little girls as hostages, since we have often asked for these in order to place them with the Ursuline Mothers, to be trained, instructed, and prepared for Baptism under the care of those good Nuns. - [51] who are longing only for such holy occupation, having for that purpose made an offering of their lives to the perils of the Ocean and the rigors of this country. The Iroquois were, therefore, arranging the terms of this Embassy, and were all ready (as they say) to launch their Canoe, when a fugitive,-Huron by Nation, but naturalized among the Iroquois,-escaping from Three Rivers and arriving just as the party was about to start, reported falsely that preparations were in progress at Quebec for a cruel war: that thousands of soldiers had crossed the Sea for the purpose of capturing all the Iroquois Villages, and that the Ambassadors would be murdered, or, at least, sent to France to remain in captivity the rest of their days. This [52] fugitive had heard something about the relief promised us, and that was what made him speak thus. At this intelligence, alarm seized the Ambassadors; the project was abandoned; and only one man had the courage to come to Quebec, and ascertain the truth of these rumors. We received him as a friend, but regarded him as a Spy, being unable to fathom the genuine purport of his words, so covert and habituated to dissimulation are those people.

Ce que nous auons apris de certain, eft que les maladies ont efté tres-grandes chez eux, & qu'elles ont donné occafion à quelques François captifs, de baptifer plus de trois cents enfans moribonds, & mefmes plufieurs [53] perfonnes adultes, qui fe voyants à l'extremité, & fe fouuenant fort bien des inftructions que nous leur auions données lors que nous eftions en leurs bourgs d'Onnontague & d'Oioguen, prioient eux-mefmes leurs captifs de les mettre dans la liberté des enfans de Dieu, par les eaux du faint Baptefme: Ainfi la femence iettée en terre porte fon fruit en fon temps, comme dit le Fils de Dieu, & les fueurs dont nous auons arroufé ces Miffions, & que nous penfions deuoir eftre inutiles, fe trouuent auoir produit bien des fruits pour l'Eternité

What we learned with certainty was, that they were grievously afflicted with disease, which induced some captive Frenchmen to baptize more than three hundred dying children, and even a number of [53] adults, who,—seeing themselves in a critical condition, and well remembering the teachings received from us when we were in their villages of Onnontague and Oioguen,—of their own accord, asked their captives to endow them with the freedom of God's children through the waters of holy Baptism. Thus the seed cast on the ground bears fruit in its season, as saith the Son of God; and the sweat wherewith we have watered those Missions, and which we thought was to prove useless, is found to have produced an abundant harvest for Eternity.

DIUERS MEURTRES COMMIS À MONTREAL PAR LES IROQUOIS & LES HURONS.

N OS ennemis qui fe font trouués cette année occupés ailleurs, nous ont laissé cultiuer nos terres en affeurance, & joüir comme d'vn auantgoust, du repos que nostre incomparable Monarque nous va procurer, pour faire passer au delà des Mers la paix qu'il a estenduë de tous costez au delà de la France. Il n'y a que le Montreal qui a esté teint du fang de François, & d'Iroquois & de Hurons.

Ie commence par vn trifte accident arriué à quelques Hurons, [55] qui depuis peu auoient quitté le païs ennemy, & s'estoient refugiez à Montreal, pour v viure Chreftiennement. Si iamais les Iroquois ont fait paroistre vne insigne perfidie, c'est en ce que ie vay dire: Ils fe firent voir dans le mois de May dernier fur les Cofteaux de Montreal au nombre de fept Agnieronnons, & demanderent à parler: On les efcoute, ils propofent le dessein d'vne celebre Ambaffade, pour ne faire plus qu'vne Terre de celle des François & des Iroquois. On aggrée cette proposition, & on leur fait trois prefens pour les affeurer que les Ambassadeurs feront les biens-venus, pourueu qu'ils amenent auec eux le reste des François qui gemiffent encor dans leur captiuité: [56] Ils s'y accordent, & pour preuue de leur fincerité, s'offrent à laisser comme en oftage quatre des leurs, pendant

SUNDRY MURDERS COMMITTED AT MONTREAL BY THE IROQUOIS AND THE HURONS.

O<sup>UR</sup> enemies, being this year engaged elsewhere, have suffered us to till our fields in safety, and to enjoy a sort of foretaste of the quiet which our incomparable Monarch is about to secure for us, in order to spread beyond the Sea the peace which he has extended in all directions outside the borders of France. Montreal alone has been stained with the blood of Frenchmen, Iroquois, and Hurons.

I begin with the sad calamity that befell some Hurons [55] who had, a short time before, left the enemy's country and taken refuge at Montreal, there to live as Christians. If ever the Iroquois showed notorious perfidy, it was in the affair I am about to relate. Last May they appeared on the Hills of Montreal, to the number of seven Agnieronnons, and asked for a parley. Upon receiving a hearing they proposed the plan of a great Embassy for uniting the Land of the French and that of the Iroquois. This proposition was approved, and three presents were given them as assurance that the Envoys would be welcome, provided they brought with them the rest of the Frenchmen who were still groaning in captivity. [56] This they agreed to do, and, in proof of their sincerity, offered to leave four of their number as hostages, while the three others would go as speedily as possible to the Elders and hasten forward que les trois autres iront au pluftost trouuer les Anciens, pour hafter l'Ambassade. On tombe d'accord auec eux de cet expedient, & on reçoit auec plus d'appareil qu'on peut, ces quatre nouueaux hoftes: On les mene dans la Cabane des Hurons, pour y loger plus commodément: Ce ne sont que festins, que chants, que danses, que presens reciproques; bref l'on n'oublie aucun tefmoignage de rejoüiffance. Le foir venu, les prieres fonnent à l'ordinaire pour les Sauuages: les Iroquois s'y prefentent, & donnent grande confolation à vn de nos Peres qui voyoit croiftre fon petit troupeau: [57] tout le reste du foir fe paffa en entretiens familieres, en bonnes cheres, & dans toutes les priuautez qu'on peut fouhaitter des amitiez les plus cordiales. Apres toutes les rejoüiffances ordinaires en de femblables occasions, chacun fe retire pour prendre vn peu de repos: Il n'y auoit pour lors dans la Cabane des Hurons qu'vn homme, deux femmes, vn ieune garçon, & trois filles, tous les autres eftants à la chaffe depuis quelque-temps. Sur la minuict ces quatre traistres se leuent, & à grands coups de haches donnent fur ces pauures gens endormis, mettent toute la Cabane en fang; & ayant fendu la teste à l'homme, laissent les deux femmes pour mortes toutes chargées de playes, & emmenent [58] captiues les trois petites filles, le ieune garçon s'eftant heureusement échappé des mains de ces Barbares.

Tout cela ne fe paffa pas fans bruit, les François y accourent de tous coftés, mais trop tard: Les fugitifs s'eftans feruis des tenebres de la nuit pour couurir leur perfidie, s'en feruent encor pour cacher leur fuitte: On trouue vn pitoyable fpectacle dans la the Embassy. This expedient meeting with approval, the four new guests were received with all possible ceremony and, for the sake of lodging them the more comfortably, were taken to the Hurons' There ensued nothing but feasting and sing-Cabin. ing, dancing, and exchanging of presents; in a word, no sign of rejoicing was forgotten. When evening came, the bell for prayers rang as usual for the Savages. The Iroquois attended prayers, and gave one of our Fathers great cause for consolation at seeing such an addition to his little flock. [57] All the rest of the evening was passed in familiar intercourse, good cheer, and all the intimacy to be desired in the most cordial friendships. After all the rejoicing customary on such occasions, every one retired to take a little repose. At that time there were in the Hurons' Cabin only a man, two women, a young lad, and three girls, all the others having gone hunting some time before. Toward midnight, those four treacherous rogues arose and made a vigorous assault with their hatchets on these poor sleeping people, dyeing the whole Cabin with blood. After braining the man, they left the two women for dead, covered as they were with wounds, and carried away [58] the three little girls as captives, the young lad having happily escaped the clutches of those Barbarians.

All this did not occur without some noise, and the French hastened to the spot from all directions, but too late. The fugitives, after using the darkness of the night to conceal their perfidy, used it still further to cover their flight. A pitiful spectacle was discovered in the Cabin — three bodies weltering in their own blood and frightfully disfigured. Upon approaching, it was found that one of the two women, named Cabane, trois corps nageants dans leur fang, & horriblement defigurez: On s'approche, & l'on s'apperçoit qu'vne des deux femmes nommée Helene, auoit encor vn peu de vie: Dieu fans doute voulant comme par miracle luy prolonger les iours, pour faire paroiftre fa vertu, qui ne deuroit jamais mourir dans la memoire [59] des hommes: Elle faisoit dans le païs des Iroquois ce que le bon Tobie fa[i]foit parmy les Affiriens, elle affistoit les pauures & les Captifs, toute pauure & captiue qu'elle eftoit, elle enseuelissoit les morts, & comme il est souuent arriué dans la primitiue Eglife, elle fe trouuoit proche des Chreftiens Captifs, quand on les brûloit, ne craignant pas de monter fur les eschaffauts pour les encourager à tenir ferme dans la Foy, ny de s'approcher de ces corps à demy-bruflez, pour leur fuggerer de courtes & feruentes prieres dans le fort de leurs tourments; Se meslant parmy les Boureaux pour animer ces patients à mourir Chreftiennement, & dans la profession publique de la Foy: Sa plus grande affliction, [60] dans le malheur qui luy vient d'arriuer, n'est pas de se voir toute taillée de bleffures & toute dégoutante de son fang; mais c'est la perte de ses pauures filles qui font enleuées, & qu'elle regrette auec des larmes de fang, non pas tant parce qu'elles font la proye de ces Barbares, que parce qu'elles font en danger d'eftre celle des Demons: Elle dit douze & treize Chapelets par jour pour obtenir de Dieu leur deliurance: Peut eftre aura-il efgard à des prieres si feruentes & si iustes d'vne mere affligée.

Les Hurons fe voyants fi mal-traittés de leurs ennemis, chercherent enfuitte les occafions de tirer raifon de cette perfidie. Voicy celle qui fe prefenta.

Helene, had yet a little life remaining-it being doubtless God's will to prolong her days as if by a miracle, in order to make manifest her virtue, which ought never to perish from the memory [59] of man. She did in the country of the Iroquois what the good Tobias did among the Assyrians. She aided the poor and the Captive, poor and captive although she herself was; she buried the dead, and, as often occurred in the primitive Church, attended the Captive Christians when they were being burned. She shrank not from mounting the scaffolds to encourage the victims to stand firm in the Faith; or from approaching those half-burned bodies, to suggest to the victims short and fervent prayers at the height of their agony.mingling with the Executioners for the purpose of encouraging the sufferers to die as Christians, and with public profession of the Faith. Her greatest affliction [60] in the misfortune that had just befallen her was not her own condition, mutilated with wounds and dripping with her own blood as she was, but the loss of her poor daughters who had been carried away. She mourns them with tears of blood, not so much because they are the prey of those Barbarians as because they are in danger of falling victims to the Demons. She recites twelve or thirteen Rosaries a day to obtain from God their deliverance; and perhaps he will give heed to such fervent and righteous prayers by an afflicted mother.

Seeing themselves so badly used by their enemies, the Hurons thereupon sought an opportunity to exact satisfaction for such perfidy. The following occasion was offered.

On the twenty-sixth of May, there touched [61] at Montreal a Canoe manned by five Onnontaghéronnon

Le vingt fixiefme May aborde [61] à Montreal vn Canot conduit par cinq Iroquois Onnontaghéronnons, vn desquels eftant malade demandoit d'eftre admis à l'Hofpital; ces Barbares fçachants bien qu'à Quebec & à Montreal il y a de faintes Filles (ainfi nommentils les Religieufes) qui confacrent leurs foins & leurs trauaux à ces emplois de charité; dont la reputation s'eftant efpanduë bien au large dedans nos forefts, & gaignants le cœur de la barbarie mesme par de si charitables offices, attira ces Iroquois à venir mettre leur malade en si bonne main. Il est donc receu charitablement. & si bien traitté, qu'au bout de huict iours le voilà fur-pied, & prest à s'embarquer auec fes compagnons: Mais les Hurons qui eftoient pour lors à [62] Montreal, dont les playes n'eftoient pas encor fermées, iugerent felon le fentiment des François mesmes, que ces Iroquois n'estoient que des Efpions, & qu'il eftoit temps de lauer par leur fang celuy de leurs parents tout fraischement respandu: Ils les laiffent donc embarquer, les attendent à vne pointe de terre, proche de laquelle ils deuoient paffer, font leur descharge sur eux, en tüent vn sur la place à qui ils enleuent la cheuelure, qui est le Trophée ordinaire & la marque de la victoire: les autres dangereusement bleffez furent retirez de leurs mains par les François, & vn d'eux se trouuant en danger de mourir, fut instruit par le Pere qui estoit pour lors à Montreal; & comme ils ont tous [63] fouuent entendu parler de nos mysteres, il fut aisé de le mettre en eftat de receuoir le faint Baptesme; bon-heur qu'il ne payera iamais affez, quand il verferoit le refte de fon fang pour l'obtenir. C'est ainsi que Dieu prend fes Eleuz, par des voyes impreueuës à nos petits

Iroquois, one of whom, being ill, asked to be admitted to the Hospital. Those Barbarians are well aware that at Ouebec and Montreal there are holy Maidens (for so they call the Nuns), who consecrate their services and their labors to such charitable occupations; and, as they have become known far and wide through our forests, winning the hearts even of barbarians by such deeds of charity, these Iroquois were impelled to come and put their patient in such good hands. He was, therefore, received with kindness, and so well cared for that, at the end of a week, he was placed on his feet, and ready to embark with his companions. But the Hurons who were then at [62] Montreal, and whose wounds had not yet healed, were of opinion, adopting the view of the French themselves, that these Iroquois were only Spies, and thought it was time to wash away the blood of their relatives, but recently shed, with the blood of these Iroquois. Accordingly they allowed them to embark and, awaiting them at a point of land near which they were to pass, fired a volley at them, killing one man on the spot and carrying off his scalp, the usual Trophy and sign of victory. The others, dangerously wounded, were rescued from their hands by the French; and as one was in danger of dying, he was instructed by the Father then at Montreal. As they have all [63] often heard of our doctrines, it was easy to put him in a condition to receive holy Baptism - a piece of good fortune that he will never fully pay for, even though he should shed the rest of his blood to obtain it. Thus does God choose his Elect; although he does so by paths unforeseen by our limited understandings, yet it is in pursuance of his eternal designs, entendements; mais par des deffeins eternels, qui font acheminer les accidents les plus inopinez à fa gloire & au falut des Predeftinez.

Ce triage que fait cette douce & fage Prouidence, a paru encor admirable en la perfonne d'vn autre ieune Iroquois, qui eftant arriué à Montreal auec fon oncle, écouta volontiers les inftructions que le Pere faifoit à l'vn & à l'autre; mais le nepueu fe rendoit tout doucement aux attraits de la grace, [64] pendant que l'oncle non feulement y apportoit de la refiftance, mais y ioignoit les railleries & les impertinences: de forte que le plus ieune eftant tombé peu apres malade, fe trouua tout difpofé au faint Baptefme, qu'il receut auec des fentiments de pieté qui paffent la portée d'vn Barbare, & mourut auec des marques d'vne vraye foy, laiffant fon oncle dans l'aueuglement de fon infidelité.

Reste à voir par quel accident les François ont eu part au fang refpandu, auffi bien que les Hurons & les Iroquois. La veille de la Pentecoste, vne Troupe de quarante Guerriers, partie Agnieronnons, partie Onneiochronnons, s'estans approchés de nos champs, pendant que quelques [65] laboureurs y trauailloient, fortirent à l'improuiste fur eux, & felon leur coustume ayant remply l'air d'vn cry effroyable, pour ietter la terreur dans l'esprit de ceux qu'ils attaquent, firent la décharge de leurs fufils, & fe ruerent fur deux des François, qui estoient plus occupez à leur trauail, que fur leur deffense: ils les prennent, les garottent, & comme s'ils eussent fait quelque grande conqueste, s'en retournent bien ioyeux de cette proye, fur qui ils vont raffasier leur cruauté, & décharger leur colere, comme sur de pauures victimes destinées au feu.

which make the most unexpected events contribute to his glory, and to the salvation of his Predestined ones.

Such choice, made by that gentle and wise Providence, appeared still more admirable in the case of another young Iroquois who, arriving at Montreal with his uncle, willingly heard the teachings given by the Father to both of them; but, while the nephew yielded without opposition to the allurements of grace, [64] the uncle not only offered resistance thereto, but also added mockery and impertinence. As a result, when the younger soon afterward fell ill, he was thoroughly prepared for holy Baptism, which he received with feelings of piety out of the reach of a mere Barbarian, and died with evidences of a genuine faith, leaving his uncle in the blindness of his unbelief.

It remains to be seen by what course of events the French were made to share the bloodshed, as well as the Hurons and the Iroquois. On the day before Whitsuntide a Band of forty Warriors, partly Agnieronnons and partly Onneiochronnons, approaching our fields while some [65] husbandmen were at work there, made a sudden sally against them. Then, according to their custom, filling the air with fearful yells to terrify those whom they were attacking, they discharged their muskets and fell upon two Frenchmen, who were more engrossed in their work than observant of their defense. These they captured and bound, and, as if they had made some great conquest, proceeded homeward in great glee over their prey, upon whom they were about to sate their cruelty and vent their wrath, as upon poor victims destined for the flames.

Vn de ces deux François, qui eut l'œil creué en cette rencontre, s'estoit associé depuis peu auec plufieurs autres familles des plus deuotes & des plus exemplaires [66] de Montreal, pour fe mettre tous ensemble sous la protection particuliere de la fainte Famille de IESVS, MARIE, IOSEPH. Ce bonhomme ne fut pas plustost faisi, que leuant les mains au Ciel, il fit vne priere feruente & pleine de foy, qu'il adreffa à la Sainte Vierge, laquelle il coniuroit de ne pas permettre qu'vn des enfans de fa famille fût mal-traitté: L'effet fuiuit la priere, parce qu'il fe trouua libre de toute crainte: il ne luy fembloit pas qu'il allast au feu, tant il fuiuoit volontiers fes Bourreaux; & mefme tous les foirs quand on l'eftendoit, & qu'on le lioit à des pieux enfoncez dans terre par les pieds, par les bras, & par le col, il fe couchoit fur ce Cheualet, comme il eût fait fur son lict, & presentant [67] fes mains & fes pieds pour estre garrottés, il leur difoit: les voila, liez, ferrez, mon Dieu a bien fait plus que tout cela pour moy, quand on l'estendoit fur la Croix, ie fuis content de vous obeïr, en imitant l'obeïssance que mon Maistre a rendu à ses bourreaux. Ces pensées le fortificient tellement, & luy donnoient vne si forte esperance de sa liberté, que quand il fe trouuoit quelque fault à franchir, ou quelque endroit dangereux à paffer: acheuez, ma bonne Mere, acheuez ce que vous auez commencé, disoit-il à la Saincte Vierge, auec vne confiance filiale.

Cependant il fe faifoit de longues prieres pour luy à Montreal, par ceux au nombre defquels il s'eftoit affocié, qui ne pouuoient [68] fe perfuader qu'vn fils adopté de la Vierge, deust perir de la façon: Neantmoins il approche tousiours du pays ennemy, & par

One of these two Frenchmen, who had an eye put out in this engagement, had formed an alliance a short time before with several other families belonging to the most devout and exemplary [66] in Montreal, for the purpose of putting themselves, all in company, under the special protection of the holy Family of JESUS, MARY, and JOSEPH.<sup>2</sup> This good man was no sooner seized than, raising his hands to Heaven, he offered up a prayer, fervent and full of faith, addressing it to the Blessed Virgin. whom he conjured not to suffer one of the children of her family to be maltreated. The prayer had its effect, for he found himself freed from all fear: it did not seem to him that he was going to the stake, so willingly did he follow his Executioners. Every evening, too, when he was stretched out and bound by his feet, arms, and neck, to stakes driven into the ground, he submitted to this Chevalet as he would have laid himself on his bed; and, offering [67] his hands and feet to be bound, he would say to his captors: " There they are; bind them and tie them fast. My God did much more than this for me when he was stretched on the Cross; and I am glad to obey you, in imitation of my Master's obedience to his executioners." This thought so strengthened him and made him so hopeful of regaining his freedom that, when they came to some rapid or dangerous spot that had to be passed, he would address the Blessed Virgin with filial trust, saying, "Finish, my good Mother, what you have begun."

Meanwhile, long prayers were offered in his behalf at Montreal by those with whom he had allied himself, and who could not [68] be persuaded that an adopted son of the Virgin was destined to perish in

His bonds were not lessened in number, his guards watched over him unceasingly, and the wound in his blinded eye, not having been dressed for a week, became charged with pus, and threatened him with gangrene. In short, the victors - wishing to reap as soon as possible the fruits of their victory, in burning their Captives at their ease - parted company in order to take the shortest routes, the Agnieronnons proceeding directly to Agnié, and the Onneiochronnons to their own country, after dividing their two prisoners. The one of whom I am speaking fell to the Agnieronnons, who, being [69] far greater in number than the others, gave our poor man all the less opportunity to escape; nor, indeed, did he think of attempting it, seeing that it was utterly impossible, although he did not yet despair of being aided by his dear Protectress. The following Chapter will show us the issue of the affair.

VICTORY OF THE ALGONQUINS OVER THE IROQUOIS, AND THE DELIVERANCE OF A FRENCH CAPTIVE.

66 T has never been observed, and never will be, that any one of MARY'S servants should perish," says one of the earnest Servants of that blessed [70] Virgin. This Chapter furnishes us two illustrations of this truth at the same time.

The Algonquins living at Sillery, after passing the Winter in innocence and piety, resolved toward Spring to go and wage petty warfare; but it was a holy war, since all the places that served them for encamping became, so to speak, so many Sanctuaries, consecrated by them with prayers. These were addressed to the Mother of God, in such a spirit of fervor and constancy that one of our Frenchmen, who chanced to be of the Party, was greatly surprised to see Barbarians so devout, and Savage warriors who were no whit inferior in piety to the best Christians. They were only forty, but their courage exceeded [71] their number. Arriving at the Richelieu Islands without discovering any foe, they entered the River of the same name and directed their course to Lake Champlain, where they lay in ambush. Scarcely had they arrived there when Providence, ever watching over its own, ordered matters so seasonably that those victors who had just dealt their blow at Montreal and were conducting our poor Frenchman in triumph, were discovered by our nos Algonquins, qui les fuiuent des yeux, & remarquent leur gifte. Le foir venu, deux des plus hardis s'approchent pour s'esclaircir du nombre, de la posture, & des desseins de l'ennemy, & apres auoir pris toutes les connoiffances neceffaires, s'en retournent au plustoft [72] faire leur rapport: Nos foldats Chreftiens commencent par la priere qu'ils addreffent à la Sainte Vierge: Et puis s'estant débarquez à nuit claufe, font leurs approches à la fourdine, ils enuironnent le lieu où dormoient les ennemis. & fe tenoient prests de les charger à la premiere pointe du jour: Mais comme il est bien difficile de marcher la nuit fans faire du bruit, par le rencontre de quelque branche, vn des chefs des Iroquois fut eueillé ie ne fçav comment. Algonquins, who followed them with their eyes and noted their camping-spot. When evening came, two of the boldest drew near the place to ascertain the enemy's number, position, and designs, and, after gaining all the information necessary, returned with the least possible delay [72] to make their report. Our Christian soldiers began with a prayer addressed to the Blessed Virgin; after which, disembarking under cover of the night, they stealthily advanced and surrounded the place where the enemy were sleeping, holding themselves in readiness to attack them at the first dawn of day. But as it is very difficult to walk in the night-time without making a noise by hitting some branch, one of the Iroquois chiefs was awakened in some way or other. He was a brave man named Garistatsia ("the Iron "), vigilant and greatly renowned for his exploits performed against us and against our Savages. He gave the alarm, accordingly, to his companions, who are so nimble on such occasions that they were [73] armed and ready to fight as soon as their assailants. Our Algonquins, well cognizant of this, merely discharged their muskets once, then threw them down, and hatchet or javelin in hand, and entirely naked, to avoid the encumbrance of their clothing-charged furiously upon the enemy, striking to right and left, and making blood flow on every side. The shades of night, not yet entirely dispelled, increased the horror of the conflict, while the fearful yells uttered on each side, together with the groans of the dying, made the whole forest resound with tones that were indeed lugubrious. The chief of the Algonquins distinguished himself by a feat of valor by no means common. [74] He is called Gahronho, and it is due Gahronho, fa valeur merite que fon nom ne foit pas mis en oubly. Ayant donc recognu que le chef des Iroquois eftoit ce Garistatsia, son nom François, le Fer, si fameux, & si illustre par tant de calamités, qui nous ont fait mesler souuent nos larmes auec nostre sang, donna droit à luy, n'aspirant à rien moins qu'à la conqueste de ce Conquerant: Il le pourfuit de l'œil & du pied, dans la meslée, où il se demenoit à son ordinaire: il le ioint, & l'empoignant d'vne main par fa grande cheuelure, le veut obliger de fe rendre: L'Iroquois trop fuperbe, & qui iufqu'alors n'auoit appris qu'à faire des captifs, & non pas à eftre fait captif, refiste orgeuilleusement, & comme il eftoit robuste & genereux [75] fe iette reciproquement fur les cheueux de fon aduerfaire. & comme il eftoit tout preft de luy porter le coup de mort, il fut preuenu par vn coup de hache, que l'Algonquin luy dechargea fur la teste, si rudement qu'il tombe à terre, où fon courage l'empescha de se confesser vaincu, ne cedant point la victoire qu'apres auoir perdu la vie.

Le Chef eftant à bas, ceux qui reftoient, ne fongeoient qu'à la fuitte, mais auec tant de precipitation qu'il s'en trouua vn qui couroit plus vifte que le pas, ayant le corps trans-percé d'outre en outre d'vn épée qu'vn Algonquin luy auoit laiffée dans les flancs.

Pendant que tout cela fe paffoit, noftre pauure François fpectateur [76] de cette Tragedie, demeuroit par bon-heur pieds & mains liés contre terre, n'attendant plus que le dernier coup de mort, & l'alloit receuoir de la main d'vn des victorieux, qui frappoit à l'aueugle, fur tout ce qu'il rencontroit, s'il ne fe fuft efcrié à luy: ie fuis François: A ces mots 1662-64] to his bravery that his name be not forgotten. Perceiving, then, that the leader of the Iroquois was this Garistatsia,-or, in French, le Fer,-so famous and renowned by the many disasters that have often made us mingle our tears with our blood, he made straight at him, aspiring to perform no less a feat than the conquest of this Conqueror. Pursuing him with eye and foot in the fray, in which he was showing his customary prowess, he gained his side and, seizing him with one hand by his thick growth of hair, determined to make him surrender. The Iroquois - too proud, and hitherto knowing only how to make captives, and not how to be captured himself offered a haughty resistance, and, as he was stout and brave, [75] threw himself in turn upon his adversary's hair. But just as he was on the point of dealing him the death-blow, he was prevented by a hatchet-stroke on the head, delivered by the Algonquin with such force that Garistatsia fell to the ground, where his courage forbade him to acknowledge himself vanquished, and he yielded the victory only after losing his life.

The Leader fallen, those who were left took thought only of escape, fleeing with such precipitation that one of their number ran well-nigh faster than feet could carry him, being pierced through and through with a javelin which an Algonquin had left sticking in his side.

While all this was occurring, our poor Frenchman, a witness [76] to this Tragedy, remained by good luck with his feet and hands fastened to the ground, only waiting for the final death-blow; and indeed he was on the point of receiving it from the hand of one of the victors, who was striking blindly at every

At these words there was a pause, and he was recognized and speedily set free. in order that such precious time, wherein there were no blows wasted, might not be lost. Indeed, with such haste were his bonds severed that he very nearly had a leg cut off; but he escaped with a good fright and, sinking on his knees on the ground, reeking as it was with the enemy's blood, thanked his Deliverer for rescuing him from the flames to which he was about to be consigned. Ever since then, he [77] has been unfailing in gratitude for this favor, being unable to hear the Blessed Virgin mentioned without giving way to feelings of devotion, and proclaiming unceasingly the wonders performed by her for his deliverance; for he was a thousand times on the point of being killed in that attack by the hail of bullets which whistled about his ears and prostrated those around him, he alone remaining alive amid so many dead.

Let us acknowledge also the same protection extended to the victors, who received the enemy's fire and were in the midst of their hatchets and swords without a single man of their number suffering the slightest injury. Beyond a doubt, Heaven favored their arms, which they took up with so much piety. So, too, they used [78] their victory not as Barbarians, but as Christians. Let us see how in the following Chapter.

CHAPITRE VII.

SUPPLICE DE DEUX IROQUOIS PRIS PAR LES ALGON-QUINS.

L E combat dont ie viens de parler, ne dura pas long-temps, car la premiere furie des Algonquins fut fi rude & fi heureufe, que dix des Ennemys estants tombez roides morts fur la place, trois furent arrestés en vie, & les autres s'eschapperent tout couuerts de bleffures.

Les victorieux apres cette deffaite retournent fur leurs pas, & viennent tout triomphants à Sillery [79] pour y rendre graces au Ciel de ce que dans cette victoire ils ne se sont veus teincts que du sang des ennemys: Ils y font entrer leurs captifs, mais au lieu de la grefle des baftonnades auec laquelle on a couftume de les receuoir, au lieu des doigts coupés, des nerfs arrachés, & des autres carreffes, car c'eft ainfi qu'ils nomment les premiers tourments des prisonniers, qui font les preludes de ceux qu'on leur fait fouffrir en les bruslant, au lieu, dif-ie, de toutes ces cruautez ordinaires, ils les conduisent eux-mesmes dans la Chappelle, les inuitent à la priere, les preffent de receuoir le Baptesme, & entonnent deuant eux des Cantiques de deuotion pour les animer par leurs exemple; Enfin ils les mettent entre [90 i.e., 80] les mains d'vn de nos Peres qui sçauoit leur langue, pour les instruire & les disposer au Sacrement du Baptesme, auant que de mourir. C'est peut-estre là vn des

CHAPTER VII.

TORTURE OF TWO IROQUOIS CAPTURED BY THE AL-GONQUINS.

THE engagement of which I have just spoken was not of long duration; for so sharp and so successful was the first onslaught of the Algonquins that ten of the Enemy remained dead on the spot, while three were taken alive, and the rest escaped, completely covered with wounds.

After this defeat, the victors retraced their steps and proceeded in great triumph to Sillery, [79] to return thanks to Heaven that they had been stained only with the enemy's blood in this victory. They made their captives enter the village; but instead of the shower of blows wherewith prisoners are usually received, instead of the cutting off of fingers, the pulling out of tendons, and other "caresses," - for so they call the prisoner's first torments, which form the prelude to those that he is made to suffer by fire, - instead, I say, of all these usual cruelties, they themselves conducted the captives into the Chapel, invited them to prayers, urged them to receive Baptism, and intoned Canticles of devotion in their presence, to encourage them by their own example. Finally, they put them in [90 i.e., 80] the charge of one of our Fathers, who knew their language, to be instructed and prepared for the Sacrament of Baptism before dying. That was perhaps one of the most Heroic acts possible on the part of Savages; for any actes les plus Heroïques qui puisse eftre pratiqué par des Sauuages; Car qui sçaura iusqu'où va l'inimitié naturelle (i'ofe bien dire la rage) qui est entre ces deux Nations, l'Algonquine, & l'Iroquoife, pourra iuger de l'Empire de la Foy, qui a bien pû captiuer l'efprit de ces Barbares iusqu'à ce point: Les Hurons qui n'ont pas vne fi grande haine contre l'Iroquois, puisque ils ont presque la mesme langue, en auoient tant neantmoins du commancement que nous les instruisions, que lors qu'ils prenoient quelques-vns de ces ennemys, & que nous [91 i.e., 81] taschions de les difpofer à receuoir les eaux falutaires au milieu des flammes: hé quoy, nous disoient-ils, mes freres! voulez-vous que ces gens là aillent auec nous en Paradis? Comment y pourrons nous viure en paix? penfez vous y pouuoir accorder l'ame d'vn Huron auec celle d'vn Iroquois? Pauures ignorans qu'ils eftoient pour lors! ils ne sçauoient pas encor, que felon S. Paul Dieu ne fait pas le difcernement entre le Iuif & le Gentil, entre l'Iroquois, le Huron, l'Algonquin & le François; C'est ce que nos victorieux ont appris depuis, & ce qu'ils prattiquent à l'endroit de leurs prisonniers.

Le Pere les prend donc à part, les catechife, & le Saint Efprit trauaillant dans leurs ames bien [92 i.e., 82] plus que luy, ils receurent fes inftructions à cœur ouuert, & fe trouuerent apres trois iours & trois nuits, affez fçauants, & dans vne faincte impatience d'eftre baptifez: Quel bon-heur pour nous, difoient ils, que celuy qui a fait le Ciel & la Terre, & qui n'a que faire de nous, nous ayt conferué la vie à nous feuls, nous deftinant au Paradis où il fait fi beau; pendant qu'il a laiffé tomber nos Compagnons one knowing the intensity of the natural enmity (I may even say fury) existing between these two Nations, the Algonquin and the Iroquois, can judge of the Ascendancy of the Faith which has succeeded in gaining such power over these Barbarians' minds. The Hurons, although feeling less hatred toward the Iroquois, since they speak almost the same tongue, yet were so bitter against them at the time of first receiving our teachings that whenever they captured any of these foes, and we [91 i.e., 81] endeavored to prepare the latter to receive the waters of salvation in the midst of the flames, they would exclaim: "What, my brothers, would you have those people go with us to Paradise? How could we live there in peace? Do you imagine you can make the soul of a Huron agree with that of an Iroquois?" Poor ignorant creatures that they then were, not yet knowing that, according to St. Paul, God makes no distinction between Jew and Gentile, Iroquois and Huron, Algonquin and Frenchman. This lesson our victors have learned since then, and they put it in practice respecting their prisoners.

The Father, accordingly, retired with the latter and catechized them; and as the Holy Ghost was working in their souls much [92 i.e., 82] more powerfully than he, they received his teachings with open hearts, and became, after three days and three nights, sufficiently versed and imbued with a holy impatience for baptism. "How fortunate for us," they exclaimed, "that he who made Heaven and Earth, and who has no need of us, saved our lives only, and destines us for Paradise, where existence is so delightful; whereas he suffered our Companions to fall into Hell, which is a place of perpetual dans l'Enfer qui est vn lieu de fupplices eternels; baptife-nous donc, mon oncle, nous fommes prests à tout, dis-nous ce qu'il faut que nous fassions: ne fontce pas là des fentiments d'vn Sainct Paul au temps de fa conuersion?

Les fentiments de nos Algonquins ne font pas bien éloignés [93 i.e., 83] de ceux d'vn Saint Paulin, puifque quelques-vns veulent s'immoler pour la conuerfion de ces pauures Captifs, & les autres voulants leur procurer vne bien-meilleure liberté, font leurs parrains dans leur Baptefme: ceremonie bien belle, de voir vn Algonquin tenir fur les Saints-Fonts vn Iroquois, & apres l'auoir bien prefché, luy ouurir les portes du bon-heur Eternel au lieu de le ietter au feu.

Ces pauures prisonniers ne sçauoient que penser de ces merueilles: ils ne fe comprenoient pas, & leurs dernieres chanfons, qu'ils appellent chanfons de mort, n'estoient que sur la vie Eternelle. Les raifons d'Eftat les condamnoient à la mort; mais la pieté Chreftienne leur espargna les feux; [94 i.e., 84] Deux ayant esté depéschez à coups de fusil; Pour le troifiefme, il eftoit le propre fils d'vn de nos bons Hurons d'icy, qui ayant esté pris dés son enfance par les Agnieronnons, auoit efté eleué dans l'efclauage iusqu'à l'âge de quinze à vingt ans: Sa fortune en est d'autant plus admirable, ayant à mesme temps efté deliuré de la captiuité des Iroquois, & de celle des Algonquins, ayant échappé le fer dans le combat, & le feu apres sa prise, & ayant icy heureusement trouué fon pere, & la vie qu'on luy donna en cette confideration.

Les prifonniers que font fur nous nos ennemis, ne font pas traittés de cette façon; mais ils n'en font pas torture. Baptize us, then, my uncle; we are prepared for anything; tell us what we must do." Are not those the feelings of a Saint Paul at the time of his conversion?

The sentiments of our Algonquins were not greatly unlike [93 i.e., 83] those of a Saint Paulinus, inasmuch as some were bent on sacrificing themselves for the conversion of these poor Captives; while the rest, in their desire to procure them a far better freedom, stood godfathers to them at their Baptism — truly a beautiful ceremony, to see an Algonquin present an Iroquois at the Sacred Font, and, after fervently exhorting him, open to him the doors of Eternal happiness instead of casting him into the fire.

These poor prisoners knew not what to think of such marvels; they were bewildered, and their last songs, which they call death-songs, were only upon the life Everlasting. Reasons of State condemned them to death, but Christian piety exempted them from the stake - [94 i.e., 84] two being despatched with the musket; while the third proved to be the son of one of our good Hurons here. Captured in his infancy by the Agnieronnons, he had been reared in bondage until he was between fifteen and twenty years old. His good fortune was the more wonderful that he was, at one and the same time, freed from captivity among the Iroquois, and also from imprisonment at the hands of the Algonquins-escaping the sword in the engagement, and the flames after his capture; and happily finding here his father and his life, which latter was granted him on consideration of this relationship.

Those of our number who are made prisoners by our foes are not treated in this manner, but they are moins heureux; car ils font de bon cœur [95 i.e., 85] leur Purgatoire dans les flames des Iroquois, & fouffrent leurs cruautés plustoft comme des Penitens, que comme des captifs. C'est ce que nous auons appris tout fraischement de trois Hurons qui ont efté brulez à Agniée depuis peu, qui faisoient vn Sanctuaire de leurs brafiers, ne pouffants du milieu des flames que ces belles paroles, l'iray au Ciel: ce qu'ils entonnoient auec tant d'ardeur, que leurs boureaux mefmes en eftoient tout rauis. Il faut, difoient-ils, que ces gens-là foient bien affeurez du bon-heur de l'autre vie, puis qu'ils font si peu d'estat des tourments de celle-cy. C'eft ce que nous a rapporté la bonne Helene dont nous auons parlé, laquelle a receu les derniers foupirs de ces bons Chreftiens, [06 i.e., 86] apres les auoir encouragez à mourir conftamment dans la poffession de la Foy.

none the less fortunate; for they undergo with stout hearts [95 i.e., 85] their Purgatory in the flames of the Iroquois, and endure the latter's cruelties rather as Penitents than as captives. This we learned very recently regarding three Hurons who were burned at Agniée a short time ago, and who made a Sanctuary of their fires. uttering amid the flames only these beautiful words, I am going to Heaven,-which they chanted with such ardor as to charm even their executioners. "Those people," said they, " must be well assured of the happiness of the other life, since they make so small account of the torments of this one." This report was given us by the good Helene already mentioned, who received the dving gasps of those good Christians, [96 i.e., 86] after encouraging them to meet death with firmness in the possession of the Faith.

DE LA MISSION DES OUTAOÜAX & DE LA PRECIEUSE MORT DU PERE RENÉ MENARD & DE CELLE DE SON COMPAGNON.

OVS allons voir vn pauure Miffionnaire vfé des trauaux Apostoliques, dans lesquels il a blanchy, chargé d'années & d'infirmité, haraffé d'vn fascheux & penible voyage, tout degouttant de füeurs & de fang, mourir tout feul dans le fonds des bois, à cinq cens lieuës de Quebec; laiffé en prove aux bestes carnacieres, à la faim, & à [97 i.e., 87] toutes les miferes; & qui felon fes fouhaits, & mefme felon fa prophetie, imite en fa mort l'abandon de Saint François Xauier, dont il auoit tres-parfaitement imité le zele pendant fa vie. C'est le Pere René Menard, qui depuis plus de vingt ans a trauaillé dans ces rudes Miffions, où enfin s'eftant perdu dans les bois, en courant apres la brebis egarée, il a heureusement consommé son Apostolat par la perte de fes forces, de fa fanté, & de fa vie. Le Ciel n'a pas voulu qu'aucun de nous ait recueilly fes derniers foupirs, il n'y a que ces forests qui en ont esté les depositaires, & quelque creux de Rocher dans lequel il fe fera peut-estre ietté, a esté seul tesmoin des derniers eslans d'amour que ce cœur tout [98 i.e., 88] embrafé a pouffé vers le Ciel auec fon ame, qu'il a renduë à fon Createur, lors qu'actuellement il couroit à la conqueste des ames.

CHAPTER VIII.

CONCERNING THE MISSION TO THE OUTAOUAX, AND THE SAINTLY DEATH OF FATHER RENÉ MENARD, AS WELL AS THAT OF HIS COMPANION.

JE are going to witness the lonely death, in the depths of the woods, five hundred leagues from Quebec, of a poor Missionary worn out with Apostolic labors, in which he had grown gray, and full of years and infirmities. He was spent with an arduous and toilsome journey; all dripping with sweat and blood; exposed to rapacious animals, hunger, and [97 i.e., 87] every hardship; and, in accordance with his own desires, and even in fulfillment of his own prophecy, imitated in his death the forsaken condition of Saint Francis Xavier, whose zeal he has imitated to the letter during his lifetime. I refer to Father René Menard, who for more than twenty years labored in those rude Missions where, at length, -- losing his way in the woods, while going in search of the lost sheep,-he had the happiness to finish his Apostleship with the loss of his strength, his health, and his life. It was not Heaven's will that any of us should receive his dying gasps, those forests being their only recipients; and some hollow Rock, in which he may have taken refuge, being sole witness to the last outbursts of love which that glowing breast [98 i.e., 88] poured forth to Heaven together with his soul, which he Voicy le peu que nous en auons appris par vne Lettre venuë de Montreal, en datte du 26. Iuillet 1663. Hier le bon Dieu nous amena trente-cinq Canots d'Outaoüax, auec lefquels font reuenus fept François, de neuf qu'ils eftoient: les deux autres qui font le Pere René Menard, & fon fidelle Compagnon nommé Iean Guerin, font allez d'vn autre cofté, pour fe retrouuer pluftoft que ceux-cy au port affeuré de noftre commune Patrie. Il y a deux ans que le Pere eft mort, & Iean Guerin depuis dix mois ou enuiron.

[09 i.e., 89] Le pauure Pere & les huict François fes Compagnons partis des Trois-Riuieres le 28. d'Aoust de l'an 1660, auec les Outaoüax, arriverent à leurs païs le 15. d'Octobre, iour de faincte Therefe, apres des trauaux inexplicables, des mauuais traittements de leurs Matelots, tout à fait inhumains, & vne extreme difette de viures; en forte que le Pere à peine pouuoit-il plus fe porter, estant d'ailleurs de complexion foible, & caffé de trauaux: Mais comme on va encor bien loin apres eftre las, il eut affez de courage de gagner le Cabanage de fes hoftes. Vn nommé le Brochet, chef de cette Famille, homme fuperbe & tres-vitieux, qui auoit quatre ou cinq femmes, traitta fort mal le pauure Pere, & enfin l'obligea [100 i.e., 90] de se separer de luy, & de se faire vne chaumine de branches de fapin. O Dieu quelle demeure pendant les rigueurs de l'Hyuer, qui font presque infupportables en ces contrées-là! La nourriture n'eftoit guere meilleure: le plus fouuent ils n'auoient pour tous mets qu'vn chetif poisson cuit à l'eau toute pure à quatre & à cinq qu'ils estoient, encor estoit-ce vne aumosne que les Sauuages faisoient à quelqu'vn d'entr'eux, qui attendoit au bord de l'eau rendered up to his Creator when in the very act of pursuing the conquest of souls.

Following is the meager information we have obtained in the matter, gleaned from a Letter, dated July 26, 1663, which reached us from Montreal. "Yesterday the good God brought us thirty-five Canoes manned by Outaouax, with whom returned seven Frenchmen of the nine who had gone away. The two others — Father René Menard and his faithful Companion, Jean Guerin by name — have departed elsewhere, to meet each other again sooner than the rest, in the assured harbor of our common Fatherland. The Father died two years ago, and Jean Guerin about ten months ago.

[99 i.e., 89] "The poor Father and the eight Frenchmen, his Companions, setting out from Three Rivers on the 28th of August in the year 1660 with the Outaouax, reached the latter's country on the 15th of October, saint Theresa's day, after enduring unspeakable hardships, ill treatment from their Boatmen, who were utterly inhuman, and an extreme scantiness of provisions. As a result, the Father could scarcely drag himself along, for he was, besides, of a delicate constitution and spent with toil; but, as a man can still go a good distance after growing weary, he had spirit enough left to gain his hosts' Quarters. A man known as le Brochet ["the Pike"], the head of this Family,-proud, extremely vicious, and possessing four or five wives,-treated the poor Father very badly, and finally forced him [100 i.e., 90] to leave him and make himself a hut out of firbranches. Heavens, what an abode during the rigors of Winter, which are well-nigh unbearable in those regions! The food was scarcely better, as le retour des Canots des pescheurs, comme les pauures mandiants attendent l'aumofne aux portes des Eglifes. Vne certaine mouffe qui naift fur les rochers leur a feruy fouuent pour faire de bons repas. Ils en mettoient vne poignée dans leur chaudiere, [101 i.e., 91] ce qui épaisifioit tant foit peu l'eau, y formant vne certaine écume, ou baue comme celle des limaçons, & qui nourriffoit plus leur imagination que leur corps. Les arreftes de poiffon qu'on conferue foigneusement pendant qu'on en trouue en abondance, seruoient auffi dans la necessité à amuser la faim; il n'y a pas mefme jufqu'aux os pilez dont ces pauures fameliques ne fissent leur profit. Quantité d'especes de bois leur fournissoient aussi des viures l'efcorce de Chefne, de Bouleau, de Tilly ou bois blanc, & d'autres arbres, bien cuites & bien pilées, puis mifes dans l'eau, où on a fait boüillir du poiffon, ou bien melées auec l'huille de poiffon, leur faisoient d'excellents ragouts: ils mangeoient le gland [102 i.e., 92] auec plus de goust & plus de plaisir, qu'on ne mange en l'Europe les marons ou les chastaignes, & encor n'en auoient-ils pas leur faoul. Ainfi fe paffa le premier Hyuer.

Pour le Printemps & l'Efté, ils s'en tiroient plus facilement à la faueur de quelque peu de chaffe: Ils tüoient de temps en temps quelques Canards, Outardes, ou quelques Tourtes qui leur preparoient de rauiffants banquets, les Framboifes & autres femblables petits fruicts, leur feruoient de grands rafraifchiffements. On ne fçait ce que c'eft en ces païs-là de bled, ny de pain.

they commonly had for their only dish one paltry fish, cooked in clear water and to be divided among the four or five of their party; and this, too, was a charitable offering made by the Savages, some one of the Frenchmen awaiting, at the water's edge, the return of the fishermen's Canoes, as poor beggars wait for alms at Church doors. A kind of moss growing on the rocks often served them in place of a good meal. They would put a handful of it into their kettle, [101 i.e., 91] which would thicken the water ever so little, forming a kind of foam or slime, like that of snails, and feeding their imaginations more than their bodies.<sup>3</sup> Fish-bones, which are carefully saved as long as fish are found in plenty, also served to beguile their hunger in time of need. There was nothing, even to pounded bones, which those poor starvelings did not turn to some account. Many kinds of wood, too, furnished them food. The bark of the Oak, Birch, Linden or white-wood. and that of other trees, when well cooked and pounded, and then put into the water in which fish had been boiled, or else mixed with fish-oil, made them some excellent stews. They ate acorns [102 i.e., 92] with more relish and greater pleasure than attend the eating of chestnuts in Europe; yet even of those they did not have their fill. Thus passed the first Winter.

"In the Spring and Summer, thanks to some little game, they eked out a living with less difficulty, killing from time to time Ducks, Bustards, or Pigeons, which furnished them delightful banquets; while Raspberries and other similar small fruits served them as choice refreshments. Corn and bread are entirely unknown in those countries.

pesche, ils se resolurent de les imiter, iugeants que la faim estoit encor plus difficile à supporter que la grande peine, & que les rifques de cette pefche. C'eftoit vne chofe digne de compaffion de voir fur ces grands Lacs éleuez fouuent comme la Mer. de pauures François en Canot pendant la pluve & pendant la neige, portez çà & là par des tourbillons de vents: Ils ont fouuent trouué à leur retour leurs mains & leurs pieds gelez: quelques fois ils fe font veus accueillis d'vne fi épaiffe poudre de neiges chaffées par l'impetuosité du vent, que celuy qui gouuernoit le Canot, ne pouuoit decouurir de la veuë fon compagnon qui estoit à la pointe: quel moyen donc d'aborder au port? Certes autant de fois [104 i.e., 94] qu'ils reprenoient terre, il leur fembloit vn petit miracle. Quand la pesche reüfiffoit, ils faisoient de petites prouisions de poisson qu'ils boucannoient, & s'en nourriffoient au temps que la pesche estoit finie, ou que la saison ne permettoit plus de pefcher.

Il y a en ce païs-là vne certaine plante haute de quatre pieds enuiron, qui croift en des lieux marefcageux: Vn peu auparauant qu'elle monte en efpy, les Sauuages vont en Canot lier en touffes l'herbe de ces plantes, les feparant les vnes des autres autant d'efpace qu'il en faut pour paffer vn Canot lors qu'ils reuiendront en cueillir le grain: Le temps de la moiffon eftant venu, ils menent leurs Canots dedans les petites allées qu'ils ont pratiquées [105 i.e., 95] au trauers de ces grains, & faifant pancher dedans les touffes amaffées enfemble, les egrainnent: quand le Canot eft plein, ils vont le vuider à terre dans vne foffe preparée fur le bord de l'eau, puis auec les

"When the second Winter came, the Frenchmen, having observed how the Savages carried on their [103 i.e., 93] fishing, resolved to imitate them,deeming hunger still harder to bear than the arduous labor and risks attending such fishing. It was a sight to arouse pity, to see poor Frenchmen in a Canoe, amid rain and snow, borne hither and thither by whirlwinds on those great Lakes, which often show waves as high as those of the Sea. The men frequently found their hands and feet frozen upon their return, while occasionally they were overtaken by so thick a fall of powdery snow, driven against them by a violent wind, that the one steering the Canoe could not see his companion in the bow. How then gain the port? Verily, as often [104 i.e., 04] as they reached land, their doing so seemed to be a little miracle. Whenever their fishing was successful, they laid by a little store, which they smoked and used for provision when the fishing was over, or the season no longer admitted of fishing.

"There is in that country a certain plant, four feet or thereabout in height, which grows in marshy places. A little before it ears, the Savages go in their Canoes and bind the stalks of these plants in clusters, which they separate from one another by as much space as is needed for the passage of a Canoe when they return to gather the grain. Harvest time having come, they guide their Canoes through the little alleys which they have opened [105 i.e., 95] across this grain-field, and bending down the clustered masses over their boats, strip them of their grain. As often as a Canoe is full, they go and empty it on the shore into a ditch dug at the water's edge. Then they tread the grain and stir it about long pieds ils le foulent & remuent fi long-temps, que toute la bale s'en détache; en fuitte ils le font feicher, & finalement ils le mettent dans des caiffes d'efcorce pour l'y conferuer. Ce grain tire beaucoup fur l'Auoine, lors qu'il eft crud; mais eftant cuit à l'eau il r'enfle plus qu'aucune femence d'Europe.

Si ces pauures François eftoient deftitués prefque de tout ce qui peut recréer le corps, ils eftoient en recompenfe confolez des graces du Ciel: Tandis que le Pere fut en vie, ils auoient tous les iours [106 i.e., 96] la faincte Meffe, & fe Confeffoient & Communioient quafi tous les huict iours. Apres le trefpas du Pere, ce qui les a conferué dans l'integrité de leur foy & de leurs bonnes mœurs, a efté l'vnion & la bonne intelligence dans laquelle ils ont toufiours vefcu; Et de plus, vne fainte liberté Chreftienne que quelques-vns de la bande prenoient de reprendre ceux qui par hazard fe feroient par fois emancipez en quelque legereté.

Quant à la mort du Pere, voicy ce que i'en ay appris. Pendant fon hyuernement parmy les Outaoüak, il commença vne Eglife chez ces Barbares, bien petite à la verité; mais bien pretieufe, parce qu'elle luy a coufté bien des füeurs & bien des larmes; [107 i.e., 97] auffi fembloit-elle n'eftre compofée que de Predeftinez, dont la meilleure partie eftoient les petits enfants moribonds, qu'il eftoit obligé de baptifer à la defrobée, parce que les parents les cachoient lors qu'il entroit dans les Cabanes, eftans dans la vieille erreur des Hurons, que le Baptefme leur caufoit la mort.

enough to free it entirely of hulls; after which they dry it, and finally put it into bark chests for keeping. This grain much resembles Oats, when it is raw; but, on being cooked in water, it swells more than any European grain.<sup>4</sup>

"If these poor Frenchmen were well-nigh destitute of all bodily refreshment, they were, in compensation, comforted by Heaven's favors. As long as the Father was alive, they had [106 i.e., 96] holy Mass every day, and Confessed and received Communion about once a week. After the Father's death, what kept them in the integrity of their faith and of their good morals was the harmony and perfect understanding in which they always lived, and also a holy Christian freedom which some of the party took in reproving those that might by chance have indulged in some lightness of conduct.

"Regarding the Father's death, I have learned the following. While he was wintering with the Outaouak he began a Church among those Barbarians—very small, indeed, but very precious, since it cost him much exertion and many tears. [107 i.e., 97] So, too, it seemed to be composed only of the Predestined, the greater part of whom were the little dying children whom he was obliged to baptize by stealth, because their relatives hid them whenever he visited the Cabins, being under the old superstition of the Hurons that Baptism made them die.

"Among the adults there were two Old men whom grace had fitted for Christianity — one through a mortal illness, which robbed him of the life of the body soon after he had received that of the soul. He breathed his last after making public profession of the Faith, and preaching by his example to his vne maladie mortelle, qui luy rauit la vie du corps, peu apres auoir receu celle de l'ame, expirant, apres auoir fait profession publique de la Foy, & presché par son exemple à ses parents, qui se mocquants de luy & de ses prieres, luy donnerent occasion de rendre des preuues d'vne pieté [108 i.e., 98] tres-forte, quoy que tout fraischement enracinée.

L'autre Vieillard fut éclairé par fon aueuglement, peut-eftre n'eust-il iamais apperceu les brillants de la Foy, fi fes yeux eusfent esté ouuerts aux objets de la terre: Mais Dieu qui tire la lumiere des tenebres, & qui fe plaist à nous faire voir de temps en temps, des traits de fa Prouidence, a fi bien disposé de tout pour ce pauure aueugle, que le Pere s'est trouué tout à propos pour l'esclairer, & luy ouurir le Ciel, lors qu'il auoit déja vn pied dans l'Enfer: Il mourut quelque temps apres son Baptesse, benissant Dieu des graces qu'il luy faisoit à la fin de se iours, qu'il auoit fi peu meritées pendant le cours de prés de cent ans de vie.

[109 i.e., 99] Il y auoit encor quelques bonnes femmes qui groffifioient cette Eglife folitaire; Vne veufue entr'autres qui receut le nom d'Anne en fon Baptefme, & qui paffe pour Saincte parmy ces peuples, quoy qu'ils ne fçachent pas ce que c'eft que Saincteté: depuis que le Perre l'a difpofée à receuoir le tres-Sainct Sacrement de l'Autel, elle ne fçait plus ce que c'eft que de vie Barbare parmy les Barbares: elle fait feule fes prieres à genoux pendant que toute la famille s'entretient de fales difcours; elle continüe dans ce Saint exercice de deuotion auec l'admiration de nos François, qui l'ont veüe les années fuiuantes auffi feruente que le premier iour; & par vn exemple relatives, who, by mocking at him and his prayers, gave him an opportunity to show proofs of a piety [108 i.e., 98] that was very strong, although but recently rooted.

"The other Old man was enlightened through his blindness; never, perhaps, would he have perceived the brightness of the Faith, had his eyes been open to earthly objects. But God, who brings forth light out of darkness, and is pleased to give us occasional glimpses of the workings of his Providence, ordered all things so favorably for this poor blind man, that the Father came just in time to enlighten him and open Heaven's doors to him, when he already had one foot in Hell. He died some time after his Baptism, blessing God for the favors which he had shown him at the end of his days, and which, during his lifetime of nearly a hundred years, he had done so little to deserve.

[109 i.e., 99] " There were also some good women who swelled the membership of this solitary Church: and, among others a widow who was christened Anne at her Baptism, and who passes for a Saint among those people, although they know not what Sanctity is. Ever since the Father prepared her to receive the most Holy Sacrament of the Altar, she has ceased to know what it is to lead a Barbarian life among Barbarians. Alone and on her knees, while all the family are indulging in filthy conversation, she says her prayers, continuing this Holy exercise of devotion to the admiration of our Frenchmen, who have found her in later years as fervent as on the first day. Moreover, setting an example never seen among those people, wholly [110 i.e., 100] given over as they are to lechery, she has voluntarily qui ne s'eft iamais veu parmy ces peuples, totalement [110 i.e., 100] addonnez à la lubricité, d'elle-mefme elle a confacré le refte de fon veufuage à la Chafteté, parmy des abominations continuelles dont ces infames font gloire de fe foüiller inceffamment.

Voilà les fruicts des trauaux du Pere Menard, bien petits en apparence; mais bien grands en ce qu'il faut vn grand courage, vn grand zele, vn grand cœur, pour fouffrir de fi grandes fatigues, & aller fi loin pour fi peu de chofe; quoy qu'on ne puiffe appeller peu, quand il ne feroit queftion que d'vne ame fauuée, pour laquelle le Fils de Dieu n'a pas épargné fes füeurs & fon fang, qui font d'vn prix infiny.

Outre ces Eleuz, le Pere ne trouua dans le reste de ces Barbares qu'opposition à la Foy, à [111 i.e., 101] cause de leur grande brutalité, & de leur infame Polygamie. Le peu d'esperance de conuertir ces gens plongez dans toutes fortes de vices, fit qu'il prit resolution d'entreprendre vn nouueau voyage de cent lieuës, pour aller instruire vne Nation de pauures Hurons, que les Iroquois ont fait fuir iufqu'au bout de ce monde: Il y auoit parmy ces Hurons quantité d'anciens Chreftiens, qui demandoient inftamment le Pere. & luy promettoient qu'à fon arriuée chez eux, tout le reste de leurs Compatriotes embrafferoient la Foy: Mais auparauant que de s'acheminer vers ce païs fi éloigné, le Pere pria trois ieunes François de fa Troupe de l'aller auparauant reconnoistre pour faire des presens aux anciens, & [112 i.e., 102] les affeurer de fa part, qu'il les iroit instruire auffi-tost qu'ils luy enuoyeroient du monde pour le mener. Ces trois François arriuent enfin.

consecrated the rest of her widowhood to Chastity, amid the unceasing abominations wherewith those infamous wretches glory in constantly defiling themselves.

"Those are the fruits of Father Menard's labors, small indeed in appearance, but very great when we consider the high courage, earnest zeal, and stout heart called for in enduring such severe hardships and going so far for so small results. In fact, they cannot be called small, and could not, even did they involve only the saving of one soul, for which the Son of God spared not his sweat and his blood, which are infinitely precious.

"Except these Elect, the Father found nothing but opposition to the Faith among those Barbarians, [111 i.e., 101] owing to their great brutality and infamous Polygamy. His small hope of converting these people, immersed as they are in all sorts of vice, made him decide to undertake a fresh journey of a hundred leagues, for the sake of giving instruction to a Nation of poor Hurons whom the Iroquois caused to flee to the very end of that part of the world. Among those Hurons there were many oldtime Christians, who eagerly asked for the Father. and promised him that, upon his arrival in their country, all the rest of their Countrymen would embrace the Faith. But before setting out for that country, so far away, the Father begged three young Frenchmen of his Company to go first and reconnoiter the situation, for the purpose of giving presents to the elders, and [112 i.e., 102] assuring them for him that he would go and instruct them as soon as they sent him an escort. These three Frenchmen. after many hardships, finally reached this poor apres bien des fatigues à cette pauure Nation agonifante: & entrant dans leurs Cabanes, ils ne trouuent que des squeletes qui estoient si foibles, qu'à peine fe pouuoient-ils ny remuer, ny tenir fur pied: Cela fut caufe qu'ils ne iugerent pas à propos de faire les prefens qu'ils auoient apportés de la part du Pere, ne voyants point d'apparence qu'il deuft fi-toft les venir trouuer, à moins que de s'expofer à mourir en peu de iours de faim auec eux, qui n'en pouuoient plus, & qui eftoient encor bien éloignez de la recolte du bled d'Inde, dont ils auoient fait de [113 i.e., 103] petits champs: Ils expedierent donc bien-toft leurs affaires auec ces pauures affamez, prirent congé d'eux, leur donnants parole qu'il ne tiendroit point au Pere qu'ils ne fussent enseignez: Ils se remettent en chemin pour reuenir, qui fut bien plus rude, à caufe qu'il leur falloit monter la Riuiere en reuenant, au lieu qu'en allant, ils l'auoient descenduë: S'ils n'eussent esté ieunes, & faits à la fatigue, ils n'en fuffent iamais reuenus. Vn bon Huron qui vouloit les accompagner, fut bien contraint de rebrouffer, de peur de mourir de faim en chemin. Pour furcroist de leurs peines, le Canot dans lequel ils eftoient venus leur fut dérobé; & s'ils n'euffent autresfois appris lors qu'ils eftoient auec [114 i.e., 104] nous chez les Iroquois, à faire des Canots à l'Iroquoife, qui fe font aifément de groffes efcorces d'arbre, & presque en tout temps, c'estoit fait d'eux: L'ayant donc acheué en vn iour, ils s'embarquerent enuiron fur la fin de May; quelques Tortuës qu'ils trouuoient fur le bord des Lacs & des Riuieres, auec quelques Barbuës qu'ils peschoient à la ligne, leur feruirent de nourriture l'espace de quinze iours qu'ils

Nation in its death-agony, and entering the people's Cabins, found naught but skeletons, in such a state of weakness as to be unable to move or stand. Therefore they deemed it inexpedient to offer the presents they had brought from the Father, seeing no likelihood of his going to visit them very soon without running the risk of dying of hunger in a few days with them, since they could not hold out any longer, and were still separated by a long interval from the harvesting of their Indian corn, of which they had made but [113 i.e., 103] a small planting. So they quickly despatched their business with these poor starvelings, and took leave of them with the promise that it should not be the Father's fault if they were not instructed. They started on their return journey, which was much more arduous. for they were compelled to ascend the River in coming back, whereas in going they had descended it. Had they not been young, and inured to fatigue, they never would have reached their destination. A good Huron who undertook to accompany them was fairly forced to turn back, for fear of starving to death on the way. To increase their difficulties, the Canoe in which they had come was stolen from them; and had they not formerly, when they were with [114 i.e., 104] us in the country of the Iroquois, learned to make Canoes in the Iroquois fashion, - and they are easily made from large pieces of bark in almost any season,-they would have been undone. Having, then, completed one in a day, they embarked toward the end of May. Some Turtles which they found on the edges of Lakes and Rivers, together with some Catfish which they caught with a line, served them employerent à se rendre au lieu d'où ils estoient partis.

Ils racontent d'abord au Pere le peu d'apparence qu'vn pauure Vieillard caduc, foible, destitué de viures comme il estoit, entreprist vn tel voyage: Mais ils ont beau luy estaller & mettre deuant les yeux les difficultés des [115 i.e., 105] chemins foit par terre, foit par eau, la multitude des rapides, des cheutes d'eau, & des longs portages, les precipices qui [sc. qu'il] faut paffer, les rochers fur lesquels il fe faut traifner, les terres feiches & steriles où l'on ne peut trouuer rien pour viure, tout cela ne l'épouuente point, il n'a qu'vne seule response à faire à ces bons enfants; Dieu m'y appelle, il faut que i'y aille, m'en deust-il couster la vie. Saint François Xauier, leur dit-il, qui fembloit fi neceffaire au monde pour la conuersion des ames, est bien mort dans la poursuitte de son entrée à la Chine; & moy qui ne fuis bon à rien, de peur de mourir en chemin, refuserois-ie bien d'obeïr à la voix de mon Dieu qui m'appelle au fecours des pauures [116 i.e., 106] Chreftiens & Catechumenes dépourueus de Pasteur, depuis tant de temps: Non, non, ie ne sçaurois souffrir que des ames periffent, foubs pretexte de conferuer la vie du corps à vn chetif homme que ie fuis: Quoy? ne faut-il feruir 'Dieu, ne faut-il aider le prochain, que quand il n'y a rien à fouffrir, ny aucun rifque de fa vie? Voicy la plus belle occafion de montrer aux Anges & aux hommes que i'ayme plus mon Createur que la vie que ie tiens de luy, & vous voudriez que ie la laisse eschapper? Aurions nous iamais esté rachetés, fi nostre cher Maistre n'eust preferé l'obeiffance de fon Pere touchant nostre falut à fa propre vie?

"They at once told the Father how little likely it was that a poor Old man, broken in health, feeble and without provisions, as he was, could undertake such a journey. But it was vain for them to enumerate and put before his eyes the difficulties of the [115 i.e., 105] route, whether by land or by water the great number of rapids, waterfalls, and long portages; the precipices to be passed, and the rocks over which one must clamber; and the arid tracts where nothing can be found to eat. All that failed to daunt him, and he had but one reply to give those good sons: 'God calls me thither, and I must go, although it should cost me my life. Saint Francis Xavier,' he told them, ' who seemed so necessary to the world for the conversion of souls, met his death in the act of effecting an entrance into China; and should I, who am good for nothing, refuse, for fear of dying on the way, to obey the voice of my God, who calls me to the relief of poor [116 i.e., 106] Christians and Catechumens so long bereft of a Pastor? No, no, I cannot, under the pretext of keeping life in the body of a paltry creature like myself, suffer souls to perish. What? Is one to serve God and aid his fellow-man only when there is nothing to endure and no risk to one's life? Here is the fairest opportunity to show Angels and men that I love my Creator more than the life which I hold at his hands; and would you have me let it slip by? Should we ever have been redeemed if our dear Master had not preferred obedience to his Father, in the matter of our salvation, rather than his own life?'

"Accordingly, the resolution was taken to go in Voilà donc la refolution prife d'aller chercher ces pauures brebis [117 i.e., 107] égarées; quelques Hurons venus en traite aux Outaoüax, fe prefentent au Pere pour le conduire; il est heureux de cette rencontre, il les charge de quelques hardes, & fait choix d'vn des François qui estoit Armurier, pour l'accompagner; & pour toute prouision, il prend vn fac d'Efturgeon sec, & quelque peu de chair boucannée, qu'il espargnoit depuis long-temps pour ce voyage qu'il premeditoit. Son dernier Adieu qu'il fit aux autres François qu'il laiffoit, fut en ces termes prophetiques: Adieu, mes chers enfans! leur difoit-il. les embraffant tendrement; mais ie vous dis le grand Adieu pour ce monde, car vous ne me reuerrez plus: Ie prie fa bonté Diuine que nous nous reünifions dans le Ciel.

[118 i.e., 108] Le voilà donc en chemin le 13. Iuin 1661. neuf mois apres fon arriuée dans le païs des Outaoüaks: Mais les pauures Hurons, pour peu chargez qu'ils eftoient, perdirent bien-toft courage, les forces leurs manquant, faute de nourriture. Ils abandonnent le Pere, en luy difant qu'ils alloient en hafte à leur bourg aduertir les anciens, comme il estoit en chemin, & pour faire en sorte qu'on l'enuoyaft querir par de jeunes hommes robustes. Le Pere esperant ce secours, demeure auprés d'vn Lac enuiron quinze iours; mais comme les viures luy manquoient, il se resolut de se mettre en chemin auec fon Compagnon, à la faueur d'vn petit Canot qu'il auoit trouué dans des broffailles: Ils s'embarquent auec [119 i.e., 109] leurs petits pacquets: Helas qui pouroit nous redire les trauaux que ce pauure corps extenüé fouffrit le long de ce voyage, de la quest of those poor [117 i.e., 107] stray sheep. Some Hurons, who had come to trade with the Outaouax, offered the Father their services as escort. Delighted at this opportunity, he loaded them with some wearing apparel and chose one of the Frenchmen, who was an Armorer, to accompany him; and, for provision, all that he took was a bag of dried Sturgeon and a little smoked meat, which he had for a long time been saving for this intended journey. His last Farewell to the other Frenchmen, whom he left behind, was in these prophetic terms: 'Farewell, my dear children,' he said to them while embracing them tenderly; 'and it is the final Farewell that I bid you in this world, since you will not see me again. I pray the Divine goodness that we may be reunited in Heaven.'

[118 i.e., 108] "So he started on the 13th of June, 1661, nine months after his arrival in the Outaouaks' country. But the poor Hurons, lightly laden. although they were, soon lost courage, their strength failing them for lack of food. They left the Father, telling him that they were going in all haste to their village to notify the elders that he was on the way, and to take measures for having some strong young men sent out to fetch him. The Father waited near a Lake for about two weeks in expectation of this aid; but as his provisions were falling short, he decided to set out with his Companion, making use of a little Canoe which he had found in the bushes. They embarked with [119 i.e., 109] their little bundles. Alas, who could describe to us the hardships which that poor emaciated form underwent during that journey, from hunger, heat, and weariness, from the portages in which both Canoe and baggage had to be shouldered, with no other comfort than that of daily celebrating Holy Mass? At length, about the 10th of August, the poor Father, while following his Companion, went astray, mistaking some woods or rocks for others. At the end of a somewhat arduous portage past a rapid, his companion looked behind to see if he were following; he searched for him, called to him, and fired as many as five musket-shots to guide him back into the right path; but in vain. Therefore he [120 i.e., 110] decided to push forward as rapidly as possible to the Huron village, which he thought to be near, in order to hire some men, at whatever price, to go in search of the Father. But unfortunately he himself lost his way, passing by the Village without knowing it. He was, however, more fortunate after going astray; he met a Savage who set him right, and led him to the village; but he did not arrive there until two days after the Father had lost his way. And then what was a poor man to do who knew not one word of the Huron tongue? Nevertheless, as charity and necessity are not without eloquence, he managed so well with gestures and tears as to make the people understand that the Father was lost. He promised a young man various [121 i.e., 111] French wares as an inducement to go and search for him, which this fellow at first feigned to do, and started out; but scarcely had two hours elapsed when, behold, my young man was back again, calling out: 'To arms, to arms! I have just met the enemy.' At this cry the pity before felt for the Father vanished, as well as the inclination to go and search for him.

Il fut pourtant plus heureux dans fon égarement, ayant esté rencontré d'vn Sauuage qui le redressa, & le conduisit au village; mais il n'y arriua que deux iours apres que le Pere se fut égaré: Et puis que fera vn pauure homme qui ne fçait aucun mot de la langue Huronne? Neantmoins comme la charité & la neceffité ont affez d'eloquence, il fit fi bien par ses gestes & par fes larmes qu'il donna à entendre que le Pere eftoit égaré: Il promet à vn ieune homme diuerfes [121 i.e., 111] denrées Françoises pour l'obliger à l'aller chercher, lequel fit femblant d'abord de le vouloir faire, & fe mit en chemin; mais à peine fe paffa-il deux heures, que voicy mon jeune homme de retour en criant, aux armes, aux armes, ie viens de rencontrer l'ennemy: A ce bruit s'euanoüit la compaffion qu'on auoit conceuë du Pere, & la volonté de l'aller chercher.

"And so he was left utterly forsaken, but in the

Et ainfi le voilà laiffé à l'abandon, mais entre les mains de la Prouidence diuine, qui fans doute luy aura donné le courage de fouffrir constamment en cette extremité le denüement de tout secours humain. quand il n'y auroit que les picqueures des Maringoüins, dont le nombre est effroyable en ces quartiers, & fi infupportable, que les trois [122 i.e., 112] Francois qui ont fait le voyage, affeurent qu'il n'y auoit point d'autre moien de s'en deffendre, que de courir toufiours, fans s'arrefter, & mesme il falloit que deux d'entr'eux fussent occupées à chasser ces bestioles. tandis que le troisiéme vouloit boire, autrement il ne l'auroit pû faire. Ainfi le pauure Pere eftendu qu'il eftoit fur la plate-terre, ou peut-eftre fur quelque rocher, demeura exposé à toutes les picqueures de ces petits Tyrans, & fouffrit ce cruel tourment: pendant le temps qu'il a furuescu la faim & les autres miseres l'ont acheué, & ont fait sortir cette ame bienheureuse de son corps, pour aller ioüir des fruits de tant de trauaux qu'il a fouffert pour la Conuerfion des Barbares.

Vn Sauuage trouua de là à quelque temps le fac du Pere, mais il ne voulut pas auoüer d'auoir trouué fon corps, de peur d'eftre accufé de l'auoir tué. Ce qui hands of divine Providence, which doubtless must have given him courage, in his extremity, to bear with constancy the lack of all human aid-even though there had been nothing worse to endure than the stings of Mosquitoes. These are formidably numerous in those regions, and so unbearable that the three [122 i.e., 112] Frenchmen who made the journey declare there is no other way to ward them off than to run without stopping; and it was even necessary for the two others to busy themselves driving away those little creatures whenever any one of them wished to drink, for otherwise he could not have done so. Thus the poor Father, stretched flat on the ground, or perhaps on some rock, remained exposed to all the stings of those little Tyrants, and suffered that cruel torture. While he lingered alive, hunger and the other hardships drained his strength, and made that blessed soul leave its body, and go to enjoy the fruits of so many labors undergone by him for the Conversion of the Barbarians.

[123 i.e., 113] "As for his body, the Frenchman who had accompanied him did what he could to induce the Savages to go and search for it, but in vain. Nor can we determine precisely the time or the day of his death. His traveling companion thinks it was near the Assumption of the Virgin, as he says the Father had with him a piece of smoked flesh about as long and as wide as one's hand, which could have kept him alive two or three days. Some time afterward, a Savage found the Father's bag, but would not admit having found his body, fearing lest he should be accused of killing him — an accusation perhaps only too well founded, since those Barbarians do not scruple to cut a man's throat when they meet peut-estre n'est que trop-vray, puisque ces Barbares ne font point de difficulté d'égorger vn homme quand ils le rencontrent [124 i.e., 114] feul dans les bois fur l'esperance de faire quelque butin: Et de fait on a veu dans vne Cabane le reste de quelque meubles qui servoient à fa Chapelle.

Quoy qu'il en foit du genre de fa mort, nous ne doutons pas que Dieu ne s'en foit voulu feruir pour couronner vne vie de cinquante fept ans, dont il a emploié la meilleure partie dans les Miffions Huronnes, Algonquines, & Iroquoifes, s'eftant rendu capable par vn trauail fainctement opiniaftre d'enfeigner ces trois fortes de peuple en ces trois langues differentes.

Son zele, qui eftoit tout de feu, & qui luy tiroit presque tousiours les larmes des yeux lors qu'il preschoit aux François, luy auoit donné vne tendresse fi grande pour [125 i.e., 115] les pauures Sauuages, & à mesme temps vn Empire sur eux si absolu, qu'il s'est trouué peu de Missionnaires, qui avent sceu mieux les gagner par amour, ou qui ayent pû les maistriser auec plus d'authorité. C'estoit vn zele infatigable, qui dans vne complexion foible & delicate fembloit auoir vn corps de bronze; il retranchoit vne bonne partie du repos de la nuit pour vaquer à Dieu vniquement, donnant tout le iour aux trauaux Apostoliques de fa Mission: On le voioit feicher sur les pieds, & comme rongé de melancholie, quand il ne pouuoit pas trauailler pour le falut des ames; Mais auffi le voioit-on dans des ioyes inexplicables quand il fe trouuoit au milieu de fes Neophytes Barbares, s'oubliant [126 i.e., 116] de prendre & repos, & repas, & vacquant à fes fonctions inceffamment & him [124 i.e., 114] alone in the woods, hoping to capture some booty. And, as a matter of fact, there have been seen in a Cabin the remnants of some furnishings used in his Chapel."

Whatever may have been the nature of his death, we doubt not that it was God's will to use it as a means for crowning a life of fifty-seven years, the greater part of which he spent in the Huron, Algonquin, and Iroquois Missions, having fitted himself by a labor of holy perseverance to teach those three different peoples in their three several languages.

His zeal — which was full of fire, and almost always drew tears from the eyes when he preached to the French-had given him so great a tenderness for [125 i.e., 115] the poor Savages, and at the same time so complete an Empire over them, that there have been few Missionaries better able to win them by love, or master them by authority. His was a tireless zeal, which, although coupled with a weak and delicate constitution, seemed to possess a body of bronze. He was wont to forego a large part of his night's rest, that he might devote himself solely to God, giving the whole day to the Apostolic labors of his Mission. He was observed to pine away and be well-nigh consumed with melancholy when he could not work for the salvation of souls; and, on the other hand, he was seen to be filled with unutterable joy when amid his Barbarian Neophytes. Then he would forget [126 i.e., 116] to take either rest or food, and apply himself to his duties unceasingly and without respite (a trait observed in him as peculiarly characteristic), and without ever in the slightest degree belying his fervor. And so the name always given him by his Superiors was that of Pater Frugifans relafche (chofe qu'on a remarquée en luy comme bien particuliere) & fans s'eftre iamais tant foit peu dementy de fa ferueur, auffi le nom que luy ont toûiours donné fes Superieurs eftoit celuy-cy, Pater Frugifer, le Pere fructifiant. L'Ame de ce zele eftoit l'amour de Dieu dont fon cœur brufloit, & qui luy mettoit fouuent en bouche comme pour fa deuife ces paroles qu'il auoit couftume d'adreffer à celuy de nos Peres qui eftoit compagnon de fes peines & de fes Miffions, Pater mi, difoit-il ordinairement, fat multa agimus, fed non fatis ex amore Dei. Mon cher Pere, nous n'en faifons que trop, mais nous ne faifons pas affez [127 i.e., 117] pour l'amour de Dieu.

Son courage alloit de pair auec fon zele, il a veu fans fremir des Iroquois se ietter sur luy le cousteau à la main pour l'efgorger, lors qu'il trauailloit à leur conuerfion dans le Bourg d'Oïogoën; d'autres ont leué la hache fur luy au mefme lieu pour luy fendre la teste, mais il ne s'en estonnoit pas; il souffroit encor d'vn vifage guay les affronts des enfans qui le hüoient par les ruës, & qui couroient apres luy comme apres vn insensé, mais ce genereux Pere, faifoit gloire auec l'Apostre d'estre fol pour IESVS-CHRIST, afin d'engendrer dans les tranchées des perfecutions, vne Eglife Iroquoife qu'il compofa en peu de temps de plus de quatre cents Chreftiens, & donnoit esperance [128 i.e., 118] de conuertir bientoft tout le Bourg, fi l'obeifsance ne l'eust arresté au milieu de fa courfe. Ce fut quand nous fufmes obligez de quitter les Miffions Iroquoifes, en fuitte des nouueaux meurtres que ces traitres faisoient dans nos habitations; quand il luy falut donc quitter cette belle moiffon dont il auoit defia enuoié les premices fer — " the fruitful Father." The Soul of this zeal was the love of God, with which his heart was kindled, and which often put into his mouth as a motto these words, which he was wont to address to that one of our Fathers who acted as his companion in his Missionary labors: Pater mi, he would say commonly, sat multa agimus, sed non satis ex amore Dei,— " My dear Father, we are doing only too much; but we are not doing enough [127 i.e., 117] for the love of God."

His courage went side by side with his zeal. Without trembling, he has seen Iroquois fall upon him, knife in hand, to cut his throat, when he was laboring for their conversion in the Village of Oiogoën. Others, at the same place, raised their hatchets against him to split his head; but he was not frightened. He also bore with a cheerful countenance the insults of children who hooted at him in the streets, and ran after him as after a madman. But that brave Father gloried with the Apostle in being mad for JESUS CHRIST'S sake, in order to bring forth, in the throes of persecution, an Iroquois Church, which he built up in a short time with a membership of more than four hundred Christians; and he was giving hope [128 i.e., 118] of soon converting the whole Village, when obedience checked him midway in his course. That was when we were forced to leave the Iroquois Missions in consequence of the fresh murders that those traitors were committing in our settlements. When now he was compelled to forsake that fair harvest, of which he had already sent the first-fruits to Heaven, in the death of many children and Old people whom he had baptized, it was like tearing his heart out of his bosom - as when a good mother is au Ciel, par la mort de quantité d'enfans, & de Vieillards baptifez, ce fut luy arracher le cœur du ventre. comme à vne bonne mere qu'on destache de se chers enfans; il en a gemy bien des fois depuis, tefmoignant par l'abondance des larmes qu'il versoit, le regret qu'il auoit de n'auoir pas versé tout son sang, au milieu de fon cher Troupeau. Il a eu cette confolation de mourir [129 i.e., 119] en cherchant de nouuelles Oüailles, il a paffé cinq cents lieuës de faults & de precipices pour cela, il est celuy de tous nos Miffionnaires qui a approché le plus prés de la mer de la Chine, mais Dieu l'a reüny à fon cher Apostre des Indes par d'autres routes de vray, mais par vn dernier paffage prefque tout femblable, mourants tous deux dans l'abandon, & fur le chemin des nouuelles conquestes qu'ils pretendoient faire pour le Ciel.

Ie ne puis obmettre de dire icy quelque chofe du fidele compagnon du Pere nommé comme nous auons defia dit Iean Guerin, vn de nos Domeftiques depuis plus de 20. ans.

C'eftoit vn homme de Dieu, d'vne eminente vertu, & d'vn zele [130 i.e., 120] tres ardent pour le falut des ames: il s'eftoit donné à nous afin de cooperer par fes feruices à la conuerfion des Sauuages: De fait, apres auoir accompagné nos Peres prefque dans tous les quartiers du Canadas, & dans toutes nos Miffions, foit aux Iroquois, foit aux Hurons, aux Abnaquiois, & aux Algonquins, dans de grands dangers; & de grandes fatigues, donnant par tout des marques d'vne faincteté tres-rare: Enfin ayant efté donné pour compagnon au Pere Menard en ce dernier voyage; Il eft mort dans ce glorieux employ, fuiuant separated from her dear children. Many a time afterward did he lament this parting, testifying, by the abundant tears that he shed, his regret at not having poured out his last drop of blood in the midst of his dear Flock. He had the consolation of dying [129 i.e., 119] in the quest for new Sheep, having traversed five hundred leagues of rapids and precipices in that work, and being the one of all our Missionaries who approached nearest to the China sea. God, however, brought him into the company of his dear Apostle of the Indies—by different routes, indeed, but by a last passage that was almost identical with the Apostle's, both having died in solitude, and on the way toward fresh conquests which they purposed making for Heaven.

I cannot forego saying something here about the Father's trusty companion, Jean Guerin by name, as already stated, and for upward of 20 years one of our Domestics.<sup>5</sup>

He was a man of God, of eminent virtue and a [130 i.e., 120] very ardent zeal for the saving of souls, having devoted himself to us for the purpose of coöperating by his services in the conversion of the Savages. Indeed, after attending our Fathers in almost all parts of Canadas and in all our Missions, both among the Iroquois and among the Hurons, Abnaquiois, and Algonquins, amid great dangers and severe hardships, showing throughout evidences of a very rare holiness,— finally, having been assigned as companion to Father Menard in this last journey, he met his death in that glorious calling, following his good Father to Heaven after following him so far on earth. For as soon as he learned of his death, he thought of nothing but quitting the Outaouax, among fon bon Pere dans le Ciel, apres l'auoir fuiuy fi loing fur la terre: Car il n'eust pas plustost appris fa mort, qu'il ne fongea plus qu'à quitter les Outaoüax, parmy lesquels il [131 i.e., 121] auoit esté laissé, pour aller chercher le corps du Pere: Mais Dieu auoit d'autres deffeins fur luy, il l'establit comme Missionnaire en chef de cette pauure Eglife; qui n'auoit pas pû ioüir de fon Pasteur: Ce fust par le Baptesme qu'il y confera à plus de deux cents enfants qu'il enuoya bientost apres dans le Ciel, pour y couronner le Pere d'vn beau Diadefme de ces petits predestinez, au falut & à la recherche desquels il estoit mort. Apres qu'il eut ainfi bien emploié vn Hyuer, comme il faifoit vn voyage auec quelques François la pluye les obligeant de mettre à terre, & faire vne maison de leur Canot, le renuersant sur eux: lors qu'ils estoient deffoubs, vn d'eux remüant vn fusil, le declin lascha, [132 i.e., 122] & alla droit donner dans la cofté gauche de ce bon Frere, qui pour lors eftoit en contemplation de la Paffion de Nostre Seigneur; Ce sont les paroles de ces François qui en ont fait le rapport, & qui le nommoient Frere à cause qu'il s'estoit confacré à nostre service: Et puis ils adjoustent, que c'estoit fon ordinaire d'eftre toûjours abforbé dans Dieu. Il tomba roide mort du coup, fans rien dire que le nom de IESVS, auec lequel il expira.

C'eftoit vn homme de grande Oraifon, il y employoit fouuent vne partie de la nuit, & le matin venu il fe retiroit hors du bruit, pour la continüer dans le filence de la foreft: c'eft pour cela que les Outaoüax difoient qu'il faifoit tous les matins la defcouuerte [133 i.e., 123] hors de leur paliffade: parce qu'il ne manquoit point d'aller hors des Cabanes fe cacher à whom he [131 i.e., 121] had been left, in order to go in search of the Father's body; but God had other plans for him and constituted him the Missionaryin-chief of that poor Church, which could not enjoy its Pastor's ministrations. For he there conferred Baptism on more than two hundred children, whom he soon afterward sent to Heaven, in order to crown the Father with a beautiful Diadem of those little predestined ones, for whose salvation and in quest of whom he had died. After devoting one Winter to these good works, he set out on a journey with some Frenchmen; and the rain forced them to land, and make a house of their Canoe, by inverting it over them. While they crouched beneath it, one of them moved his musket so that the spring relaxed, [132 i.e., 122] causing this good Brother, who was just then meditating on Our Lord's Passion, to be shot directly in the left side. Such is the account of those Frenchmen, who reported the accident, and who called its victim "Brother," because he had consecrated himself to our service. Moreover, they add, it was his common habit to be continually absorbed in God. He fell stark dead at the shot, only uttering the name of JESUS, with which he expired.

He was preëminently a man of Prayer, often employing a part of the night therein, and, when morning came, withdrawing from the noise to continue his orisons in the silence of the woods. Hence it was that the Outaouax declared he went reconnoitering every morning [133 i.e., 123] outside of their palisade; for he never failed to leave the Cabins, and hide himself in some remote spot, for the purpose of engaging in Prayer, in which he received very special consolation. For a number of years he had continued l'efcart pour faire fon Oraifon, dans laquelle il receuoit des confolations bien particulieres, il la continuoit mefme pendant le fommeil de la nuict depuis plufieurs années, & auoit fouuent des fonges fi myfterieux, que vous euffiez dit qu'il eftoit mefme raifonnable en dormant.

Il eftoit fi referué auec les femmes, qu'il ne les vouloit iamais regarder en face; ce que voulant perfuader à fes Compagnons, ils luy refpondoient en riant: Si nous faifons tous comme vous, nous ferions bien-toft dépoüillez de tout le peu que nous auons. Ils vouloient luy reprocher que les femmes Sauuages luy auoient dérobé [134 i.e., 124] quantité de chofes faute de les auoir voulu obferuer. Et parmy les Iroquois, lors qu'il alloit à la chaffe, il eft arriué que quand nous demandions à des femmes qui venoient du lieu où il eftoit allé, fi elles ne l'auoient point veu; Nous l'auons veu, difoient-elles, mais luy ne nous a pas veu; car il ne nous regarde pas quand il nous rencontre.

Son humilité eftoit tout à fait rare, il s'offrit vne fois à eftre Boureau en Canadas, afin d'eftre en horreur à tout le monde par cét office. Et vne chofe l'empelcha de preffer pour eftre en nostre Compagnie: de peur seulement, disoit-il, que la Sotanne qu'il porteroit, ne le fit estimer plus qu'il ne valloit.

Ie ne puis que ie n'adjoufte [135 i.e., 125] quelques fragments des dernieres Lettres qu'efcriuit le Pere Menard eftant fur le poinct de fon depart: elles nous donnent vne nouuelle connoiffance du zele de ce bon Pere & de fon fidelle Compagnon; Voicy donc ces mots. Plufieurs me veulent faire peur, & me détourner de mon entreprife, me reprefentant les to pray even during his night's sleep, and often had such mysterious dreams that you would have said he exercised his reason even in his sleep.

So reserved was he with women that he would not look them in the face. When he tried to persuade his Companions to follow his example, they used to answer him laughingly, "If we all did as you do, we would soon be completely plundered of the little we possess,"—wishing to reproach him with having let the Savage women rob him [134 i.e., 124] of many things because of his unwillingness to look at them. And it has happened, among the Iroquois, that when he went hunting and we asked women, coming from the place whither he had gone, if they had not seen him, they would say, "We saw him, but he did not see us; for he does not look at us when he meets us."

His humility was quite extraordinary. On one occasion he offered himself as public Executioner in Canadas, that he might become an object of abhorrence to every one by reason of that office. And one thing prevented him from pressing for admission to our Society—namely, the fear alone, as he said, lest the Cassock he would wear might cause him to be esteemed more highly than he deserved.

I cannot refrain from adding [135 i.e., 125] some fragments from the last Letters written by Father Menard, when he was on the eve of his departure; they give us an added knowledge of the zeal of this good Father and his faithful Companion. The following, then, are his words: "Many wish to frighten me and to turn me aside from my undertaking, by representing to me the arduous labors of those Missions and the constant peril of dying either at the hands of the Iroquois, or from hunger or other grands trauaux de ces Miffions, & les perils continuels de mourir, ou par la main des Iroquois, ou par la famine, ou par d'autres miferes: Ils adjouftent aux fatigues qu'il me faudra endurer, & qui font prefque infuportables aux plus robuftes, mon âge & la foibleffe de ma complexion: Il n'y a que le bon Iean Guerin qui m'encourage, & qui m'eft venu trouuer pour me dire, [136 i.e., 126] O mon Pere! que le bon Saint François Xauier en a bien deuoré dauantage, & que vous feriez heureux de faire vne auffi belle mort que luy, ne deuffiez-vous iamais voir le païs: Et apres ces mots, il s'eft offert à moy d'vn grand cœur pour ce voyage.

En vne autre Lettre le Pere parle ainfi. Nous voilà à Montreal fur le poinct de partir pour aller à la rencontre de l'Iroquois: il n'eft pas peut-eftre en fi grand nombre que nous; mais nos Sauuages de làhaut font fi peu aguerris, que cinquante Iroquois font capables d'en mettre trois cents en fuitte. S'ils nous deffont ou nous emmenent, nous fuiurons les deffeins de la Prouidence de Dieu, qui a peut-eftre attaché le falut de quelque pauure Iroquois à noftre mort.

[137 i.e., 127] Enfin il conclud en ces termes, Ie demande mille pardons à voître Reuerence, & à tous nos Peres, des fautes que i'ay commifes par tout ou i'ay efté, ie vous prie d'offrir ce qui me peut refter de vie dans cét employ penible, comme vne fatisfaction à la diuine Iuftice, en vnion des trauaux de noître Seigneur, à ce qu'il luy plaife de me receuoir à la mort au nombre des Enfans de Saint Ignace, nonobítant l'excez de mes pechez: Quis ego? Helas! pour que Dieu me faffe cét honneur de me ietter hardships. In addition to the fatigues which I shall be obliged to undergo, and which are well-nigh unbearable even for the most robust, they adduce my age and the weakness of my constitution. Good Jean Guerin alone gives me encouragement, having come to me on purpose to say to me: [136 i.e., 126] 'O Father, how much more did the good Saint Francis Xavier undergo with avidity; and how happy you would be to die as beautiful a death as he, although you were never to see that country!' And after these words he made me a most cordial offer of his services for the journey."

In another Letter, the Father speaks in the following manner: "Here we are at Montreal, on the eve of setting out to meet the Iroquois. He does not, perhaps, equal us in number; but those Savages of ours from above are so little used to fighting, that fifty Iroquois are sufficient to put three hundred of them to flight. If they defeat us or carry us away, we shall but fulfill the designs of the Providence of God, who has perhaps made the salvation of some poor Iroquois depend upon our deaths."

[137 i.e., 127] Finally, he concludes in these terms: "I ask a thousand pardons of your Reverence, and of all our Fathers, for the errors I have committed wherever I have been. I pray you to offer up whatever of life may be left me in this arduous occupation, as an atonement to the divine Justice, in union with our Lord's sufferings, to the end that he may be pleased to receive me at death, despite the excess of my sins, into the number of the Children of Saint Ignatius. Quis ego? Alas, may God do me this honor—to send me once more upon so great a work! I see in myself, to tell the truth, nothing of any Ie ne voy, à vray dire, rien qui vaille en moy, finon l'idée que i'ay toûjours eu du grand honneur que Dieu faifoit à vn homme qu'il met dans l'occafion de pâtir pour [138 i.e., 128] fon nom: O la grande grace de le traitter comme fon fils & comme fes plus grands feruiteurs. Oh, what infinite grace, to treat men as his sons and foremost servants! I implore your Reverence not to deprive me, in that general deprivation wherein I am about to be placed, of your holy Sacrifices, obtaining for me from the Divine goodness patience and perseverance to the last."

VOYAGE DEPUIS L'ENTRÉE DU GOLPHE SAINT LAU-RENT JUSQUES À MONTREAL.

OMME l'on imprimoit cette Relation, il nous eft tombé entre les mains le narré d'vn voy-

Quelques perfonnes ont cru qu'il eftoit à propos d'en faire vn extrait, & de le communiquer au public dans cette Relation. Voicy ce qu'il en efcrit.

Apres auoir paffé le Golphe on rencontre vne Isle, recommandable tant pour fa grandeur, ayant pour le moins trente lieuës de circuit, que pour le grand nombre d'Ours qu'elle nourrit, qui feroient des richeffes pour ce pays, s'il estoit en estat de s'en feruir; à cause de leurs peaux qui sont de debit, & de leur graisse & de leur huile, qui sont de prix; outre que leur chair est d'vn goust excellent. Cette Isle a vne Riuiere confiderable, sur les bords de [140 i.e., 130] laquelle l'on rencontre, à ce qu'on nous affeure, des amas de moruës mortes, en forme de collines, composez des arrestes de ce poisson, que les vagues de la Riuiere ont coustume d'y ietter quand elle est agitée.

Toutes ces contrées font fi abondantes en Moruës, qui s'y perchent en toutes les faifons de l'année, que

JOURNEY FROM THE ENTRANCE TO THE GULF OF SAINT LAWRENCE UP TO MONTREAL.

W HILE this Relation was being printed, there fell into our hands the account of a journey performed by a person of merit expressly to reconnoiter [139 i.e., 129] the country of New France, from the entrance of the Gulf of Saint Lawrence up to Montreal.<sup>6</sup> Some persons have thought it fitting to make an extract from this narrative, and publish it in this Relation. Following is what the traveler writes.

"After passing the Gulf, we come to an Island which is noteworthy both for its size — being at least thirty leagues in circumference — and for the great number of Bears which it maintains, which would be a source of wealth to this country were it able to turn them to account. For their skins are salable, and their fat and oil are of value, — not to mention their flesh, which is of excellent flavor. This Island has a River of considerable size, on the banks of [140 i.e., 130] which, as we are told, are found dead codfish, heaped up in hillocks which were formed of the bones of this fish, the waves of the River casting them up there when it is stormy.

"All those waters so abound in Codfish, which are caught there in every season of the year, that Ships are quickly filled with them—their number les Nauires en font bien-toft remplis: Ce poiffon eftant en vne quantité fi prodigieufe, que fouuent vne ligne eftant iettée dans l'eau, à cinquante, foixante & quatre-vingts braffes de profondeur, le pefcheur fent ce poiffon qui aualle incontinent l'hameçon auec fon amorce, qui n'eft pour l'ordinaire que quelque morceau des entrailles de la Moruë mefme, qui [141 i.e., 131] eft fi gouluë qu'elle aualle indifferemment quoy que ce foit; fuft-ce vn morceau de linge, ou de drap & de cuir qu'on aura mis à l'hameçon pour tout apaft. Les Habitans de Canadas pourront tirer en fon temps de grandes richeffes de cette pefche, qui eft vrayement à leur bien-feance.

Le Fleuue au deffus du Golphe fe reftreffit; mais non point tant qu'il ne foit large encore de vingt lieuës, jufques à vn havre diftant de quatre-vingts lieuës de cette Ifle. Iufqu'à-là le Fleuue n'a point de fonds pour l'anchre: mais ce havre eftant paffé, l'on trouue fond en quelques endroits, dont on peut faire autant de Ports-de-mer, tres-commodes. Et le Fleuue fe retreffiffant encore, ne fait plus que douze lieuës de largeur [142 i.e., 132] iufques à l'Ifle-aux-Aloüettes, ainfi nommée, pour le nombre de ces oyfeaux, dont il y a vne quantité fi eftonnante, qu'en vn feul coup de fuzil on en tuë quelquesfois iufques à deux & trois cens, & dauantage.

Les riuages de ces quartiers-là fe voyent quelquesfois couuerts d'enuiron vn pied de hauteur d'vn petit poiffon, qu'on appelle de l'Efplan, principalement quand il fait vn grand vent, qui le pouffe ainfi auec la vague.

Les eaux font falées iufques-icy, & on y voit flotter les mefmes poiffons & monftres-marins qui fe being so vast that when a line is cast into the water to the depth of fifty, sixty, or eighty brasses, the fisherman often feels the fish swallowing the hook on the instant, together with its bait, which is commonly nothing but a bit of the entrails of the Cod itself. It [141 i.e., 131] is so greedy that it snaps at anything indifferently, be it but a piece of linen, cloth, or leather stuck on the hook for bait. The Settlers of Canadas will be able, in its season, to realize great wealth from this fishery, which is, in very truth, adapted to their convenience.

"Above the Gulf, the River narrows; still it remains no less than twenty leagues wide, up to a port eighty leagues distant from this Island. Up to that point, the Stream is too deep for anchorage; but beyond this harbor anchor may be cast in a number of places, which can be converted into so many very convenient Seaports. The River, narrowing still more, is not over twelve leagues wide [142 i.e., 132] as far as Isle aux Alouettes—thus named because it abounds in these birds, whose numbers are so astounding that with a single musket-shot sometimes as many as two or three hundred of them, and even more, are killed.

"The river-banks in these districts are occasionally seen covered, to the depth of about a foot, with small fish called Smelt—chiefly when there is a high wind, which thus drives them ashore with the waves.

"Thus far the water is salt, and is observed to be inhabited by the same fishes and sea-monsters that are found in the Ocean, although the latter is eightscore leagues distant. But, forty leagues above this Island, the Stream becomes as potable and clear as rencontrent dans l'Ocean, quoy qu'il en foit éloigné de huit-vingts lieuës. Mais quarante lieuës apres cette Isle, le Fleuue deuient potable & clair, comme de l'eau [143 i.e., 133] de fontaine; couleur qu'il ne quitte plus iusques à fon origine, que l'on ne connoist pas encore que par coniecture, quoy qu'on l'aye cherchée à cinq cents lieuës de Quebec.

Ie n'aurois iamais fait fi ie vouloit raconter le nombre des Ifles qui s'y rencontrent; la beauté de leur fituation, & la fecondité de leur terroir, l'Ifle aux Coudres, l'Ifle aux Oyes, & l'Ifle d'Orleans, meritent d'eftre nommées en paffant. La premiere eft fouuent remplie d'Elans qui s'y rencontrent. La feconde eft peuplée en fon temps d'vne multitude d'oyes, de canards & d'outardes, dont l'Ifle qui eft platte & chargée d'herbes, comme vne prairie, en paroift toute couuerte. Les lieux circonuoifins retentiffent inceffamment [144 i.e., 134] des cris de ces oyfeaux, excepté durant les tremblemens de terre, qui fe font fait fentir cette année; car ces oyfeaux pour lors, à ce que m'ont affeuré quelques Chaffeurs, gardoient vn merueilleux filence.

L'Ise d'Orleans est remarquable pour sa grandeur, ayant plus de quinze lieuës de tour. Elle est abondante en grains, qui y viennent de toutes sortes, & auec tant de facilité, que le Laboureur ne fait quasi que grater la terre, qui ne laisse pas de luy donner tout ce qu'il veut; & cela durant quatorze ou quinze ans continuels, sans auoir reposé. Cette Isle n'est que deux petites lieuës au dessous de Quebec.

Ce nous fut vne nauigation diuertiffante en montant la Riuiere [145 i.e., 135] depuis le Cap de Tourmente iusques à Quebec, de voir de part & d'autre spring-water; [143 i.e., 133] nor does it lose this clearness from that place to its source, which as yet is only known by conjecture, although search has been made for it to the distance of five hundred leagues from Quebec.

"I would never have done if I attempted to enumerate the Islands to be found here, and to describe the beauty of their situation and the fertility of their soil. The Isle aux Coudres, the Isle aux Oyes, and the Isle of Orleans deserve mention in passing. Elk are found on the first named, often in great abundance. The second is frequented in their season by great numbers of geese, ducks, and bustards, so that the Island, which is flat and grass-covered like a prairie, appears to be quite overrun with them. The neighboring districts constantly resound [144 i.e., 134] with the cries of these birds, except in time of earthquakes, such as were experienced here this year; for then, as I was informed by some Hunters, the birds preserved a wonderful silence.

"The Isle of Orleans is remarkable for its size, being more than fifteen leagues in circumference. It is rich in grain, all kinds of which are raised there so easily that the Husbandman scarcely does anything but scratch the ground; and it never fails to yield him all that he wishes, continuing to do so for fourteen or fifteen years uninterruptedly, without lying fallow. This Island is but two short leagues below Quebec.

"It was an interesting journey for us to ascend the River [145 i.e., 135] from Cap de Tourmente to Quebec, noting on either hand, for the distance of eight leagues, the Farms and houses of the country, planted by our French all along these shores—on l'efpace de huict lieuës, les Fermes & les maifons de la campagne bafties par nos François tout le long de ces coftes: A droit, les Seigneuries de Beaupré, de Beauport, de Noftre-Dame des Anges; & à la gauche cette belle Isle d'Orleans, qui continuë à se peupler heureusement d'vn bout à l'autre.

La baffe & la haute ville de Quebec donnoient encore plus d'agréement à noître veuë, y voyant de loin des Eglifes & des Monasteres bastis, & vne Forteresse fur le haut d'vn rocher, qui commande sur toute la Riuiere.

Paffant plus outre, nous y voyïons à gauche les Habitans de la cofte de Laufon, & à la droite [146 i.e., 136] les Habitans de la cofte Saincte Geneuiefue, & les Fortereffes de Saint Iean & de Saint Xauier dans les terres; Sillery & toute la cofte du Cap rouge habitée fur les riues du grand Fleuue.

Enuiron trente lieuës plus haut que Quebec, les Habitans du Cap de la Magdeleine fortoient de leurs maifons, refpanduës plus d'vne lieuë fur toute cette coste, nous venans au deuant, & nous inuitans de mettre pied à terre, pour nous regaler à la champestre.

Mais il falloit aller defcendre à la Ville des Trois-Riuieres, qui n'eft diftante que d'une lieuë de ce Cap. Nous y fufmes receus auec autant d'abondance, & les tables où nous fufmes inuitez, eftoient quafi auffi bien couuertes [147 i.e., 137] & auffi bien fournies, qu'elles peuuent eftre en plufieurs endroits de la France.

Les tremblemens de terre y continuoient encore, s'y eftant fait fentir grands & épouuantables depuis le cinquiefme iour de Feburier; & nous eftions toutesfois bien auant dans le mois de Iuillet. Les the right the Seigniories of Beaupré, Beauport, and Nostre-Dame des Anges; and on the left this fair Isle of Orleans, the peopling of which from one end to the other continues successfully.

"We were still more pleased at sight of the lower and upper towns of Quebec, beholding from a distance Churches and Monasteries that had been built, and a Fortress perched upon a rock and commanding the entire River.

"Passing onward, we saw on the left the Habitans of the coste de Lauson, and on the right [146 i.e., 136] those of the coste Sainte Geneviefve, as well as the Fortresses of Saint Jean and Saint Xavier farther inland; we also saw Sillery and all the settlement of the coste du Cap rouge, on the banks of the great River.

"About thirty leagues above Quebec, the Habitans of Cap de la Magdeleine ran out of their houses, which are scattered over more than a league along that entire shore,—coming to meet us, and inviting us to land, that they might regale us in rustic fashion.

"But we were going down to the Town of Three Rivers, only a league distant from this Cape. There we were received with as much plenty, and the tables to which we were invited were nearly as well laid [147 i.e., 137] and furnished, as is possible in many parts of France.

"The earthquakes were still continuing there, severe and alarming shocks having been felt ever since the fifth day of February; and yet we were well along in the month of July. The great trees hurled down into the River, together with whole hills and mountains, were still rolling about in a grands arbres precipitez dans la Riuiere, auec des collines & des montagnes toutes entieres roulloient encore effroyablement dans ces eaux, qui les reiettoient fur le riuage auec vne eftrange confusion.

Les chaleurs y ayans efté extraordinaires & la terre ayant efté toute defechée par les feux fouterrains & enfouffrés, qui auoient efpuifé toute l'humidité, vn incendie qui s'eftoit pris dans ces [148 i.e., 138] vaftes Forefts, & qui en auoit defia brulé plus de dix-huict lieuës, menaçoit les habitations de nos François, & toutes leurs terres heureufement enfemencées: mais les Proceffions & les prieres publiques y apporterent vn prompt remede par la grace de Dieu; les pluyes ayants fuiuy fi abondantes, que iamais on n'en a efperé vne plus riche recolte.

Apres quelques iours de repos nous remontons dans noître barque, fans crainte des Iroquois qui battoient la campagne, ou pluîtoît les Foreîts voifines, les Riuieres & les Lacs, pour furprendre ceux qu'ils trouueroient efcartés.

Nous n'auions pas nauigé vne bonne heure continuants noftre [149 i.e., 139] route, que nous entrafmes dans vn Lac, qui eft entretenu par fix grandes Riuieres qui fe iettent dedans, outre le fleuue de Saint Laurent qui paffe par le milieu. Ces Riuieres font en leur emboucheure des Ifles & des peninfules fi agreables à la veuë, & fi propres pour l'habitation des hommes, qu'il femble que la nature aye ramaffé vne partie des beautés de la terre habitable, pour les eftaler en ce lieu-là. Les riuages qui font partie en prairies, & partie en bocages, paroiffent de loing comme autant de iardins de plaifance; ils n'ont rien de Sauuage, que les beftes fauues comme les Elans, frightful manner in those waters, which continued to cast them up again on the bank in strange confusion.

"The heat there having been extraordinary, and the ground all parched with subterranean sulphurous fires which had exhausted all the moisture, a conflagration that had started in those [148 i.e., 138] vast Forests and had already burned down more than eighteen leagues of woods, was threatening the settlements of our French people and all their fields, which they had successfully planted. But by the grace of God the public Processions and prayers brought speedy relief, rains following in such plenty that never has a richer harvest been hoped for.

"After several days' rest, we once more boarded our bark without fear of the Iroquois, who were beating up the country—or, rather, the neighboring Forests, Rivers, and Lakes—in order to fall upon whomsoever they might find astray.

"Continuing our route, we had not sailed quite an hour [149 i.e., 139] when we entered a Lake fed by six large Rivers which empty into it, besides the river Saint Lawrence which flows through its middle. These Rivers form, at their mouths, Islands and peninsulas so pleasing to the view and so adapted to human habitation, that nature seems to have gathered together a portion of the beauties of the habitable globe expressly to display them here. The banks, partly prairies and partly groves, appear from a distance like so many pleasure-gardens, having nothing of Savagery about them but the tawny animals, such as Elk, Deer, and Wild Cows, which are seen in herds and in large numbers.

"We crossed this Lake in a [150 i.e., 140] calm les Cerfs, les Vaches Sauuages, qui fe voient par bandes, & en grand nombre.

Nous paffasmes ce Lac en vn [150 i.e., 140] temps fi calme, qu'il ne fut troublé que par les faults & par le bruit des efturgeons, & autres poiffons inconnus en Europe, qui fautoient à centaines autour de nostre Barque. C'est dans ce Lac que nous trouuasmes vn Orignac qui paffoit à la nage: C'est vn animal bien plus grand que les plus hauts mulets d'Auuergne, qui a des forces incomparables, des agilitez nonpareilles, & fur la terre & dans les eaux, où il nage comme vn poiffon. Nous detachasmes auffi toft apres luy vn petit canot d'ecorce conduit par deux François, & par deux Sauuages Algonquins qui nous accompagnoient, qui estans encore plus habiles à la nage que cet animal, luy firent faire quantité de tours & de detours dans ce [151 i.e., 141] grand Lac, où il fe manioit comme vn Cerf qui feroit pourfuiuy par les Chaffeurs en pleine campagne. C'eftoit vn plaisir de voir comme à force d'élancemens & de secousses, il taschoit de gaigner la terre; & comme les Chaffeurs en mesme temps qui voltigeoient sur l'eau dans leur Canot, luy bouchoient le paffage, & le condu[i]foient malgré luy du costé de la Barque, où on l'attendoit pour luy donner le coup de mort qui ne luy manqua pas.

Il ne fut pas fi toft tué, qu'il fe prefenta l'occafion d'en tuer encore trois autres de la mefme façon, & auec de nouuelles circonftances qui rendent cette chaffe des plus agreables du monde.

Ceux qui durant ce temps-là vacquoient à la pefche, ne faifoient [152 i.e., 142] pas moins bien leur deuoir: de forte qu'en peu de temps nous eufmes de quoy regaler noftre equipage à chair & à poiffon.

broken only by the leaping and the noise of sturgeon and other fish unknown in Europe, which sprang up by the hundred about our Vessel. In this Lake we encountered a Moose swimming across - an animal exceeding in height the tallest mules of Auvergne, and possessed of incomparable strength and unequaled agility, both on land and in the water, where it swims like a fish. We straightway despatched a little bark canoe in pursuit, manned by two Frenchmen and by two Algonquin Savages who were accompanying us. These men, being still more dexterous in the water than the animal, made it turn and double many times in that [151 i.e., 141] great Lake, where its actions were like those of a Stag chased by Hunters in the open country. It was a pleasure to see how, by dint of bursts of speed and convulsive movements, he tried to gain the land, and how the Hunters at the same time, tossing on the water in their Canoe, blocked its way and guided him despite himself toward the Bark, where men were waiting to despatch it - which they finally did.

"No sooner was he killed than opportunity was offered to kill three more in the same manner, and with fresh incidents, such as render this one of the pleasantest modes of hunting in the world.

"Meanwhile, those who busied themselves with fishing did [152 i.e., 142] their part not less acceptably, so that we soon had the means of regaling our company with fish and flesh.

"We had no sooner reached the end of this Lake than those famous Richelieu Islands were disclosed to us. When the settlers of these regions need venison and game, they have only, during a certain

Nous ne fuímes pas fi-toft arriuées à l'extremité de ce Lac, que ces celebres Isles de Richelieu fe decouurirent à nous. Ouand les habitans de ces quartiers ont befoin de venaifon & de gibier, ils n'ont en certain temps qu'à s'y transporter. Il ne faut point d'autre monnoye pour l'achetter, que le plomb & la poudre. Ces Isles font bien au nombre de cent cinquante; les vnes de quatre lieuës de circuit; les autres de deux & de trois lieuës. Les vnes en prairies, fans aucuns arbres que des pruniers, dont le fruit est rouge, & d'affes bon goust; [153 i.e., 143] les autres chargées d'arbres & de vignes Sauuages, qui grimpent sur les arbres, dont le fruit ne laisse pas d'eftre affez fauoureux. On y trouue d'autre fruicts Sauuages, comme fraises, framboises, merifes, bluets d'vn goust exquis, meures, grofeilles rouges & blanches; & beaucoup d'autres petits fruicts inconnus en Europe: entre lesquels il y a des especes de petites pommes ou fenelles & de poires, qui ne meuriffent qu'à la gelée. Mais rien ne me semble si curieux que quelques racines Aromatiques & quelques Simples de grande vertu, qui s'y rencontrent.

Ces Ifles font feparées les vnes des autres par vne grande inegalité de canaux: les vns tirez en droite ligne, comme dans les [154 i.e., 144] maifons de plaifance, de deux lieuës en longueur, & d'vn quart de lieuë en largeur; les autres plus eftroits, où on ne peut nauiger qu'à l'ombre des arbres, qui fe ioignent quafi de part & d'autre en forme de berceau, fe perdant infenfiblement & fe defrobant agreablement à la veuë des hommes, iufques à ce qu'ils reioignent la Riuiere d'où ils font fortis: Mais ils font tous admirables pour l'abondance de poiffon qui s'y no[u]rrit de toute efpece.

season, to repair hither, where the only money required to buy them is lead and powder. These Islands are fully a hundred and fifty in number, some being four leagues in circumference, and others two or three leagues. Some are like prairies, with no trees but plum-trees, whose fruit is red and of fairly good flavor. [153 i.e., 143] Others are covered with trees and Wild vines: these climb the former, which bear fruit that is always tolerably palatable. Other Wild fruits are found here, such as strawberries, raspberries, cherries, blueberries of exquisite flavor, blackberries, currants, both red and white, and many other small fruits that are unknown in Europe, among them being some species of little apples or haws, and of pears which ripen only with the frost. But nothing seems to me so curious as certain Aromatic roots and some Simples of great virtue, which are found here.

"These Islands are separated from one another by canals of great diversity of form. Some extend in a straight line, as in [154 i.e., 144] pleasure-resorts, and are two leagues in length and a quarter of a league in width; others are narrower, and only admit of being traversed in the shade of trees, which almost meet from either side in the form of an arbor. These latter canals become insensibly lost, and vanish in a pleasing manner from one's view, until they rejoin the River whence they started. But they are all wonderfully stocked with fish of every species, which find their living there.

"The River, after thus pursuing its tortuous path through such pleasant regions, resumes its course and keeps thenceforth to but one channel, which the observer would rather take for a great canal made by the hand of man than for the bed of a River, so [155 i.e., 145] straight is it, and with banks so symmetrical, clothed on either side with very beautiful trees rare in Europe — as far as an Island four leagues long. It is rather a cluster of Islets than a single one, so remarkable for channels and streams that those who have attempted to count them reckon more than three hundred. They merge into one another, and form labyrinths of such surprising beauty and so rich in fish, Otters, Beavers, and Muskrats, as almost to surpass belief. The Iroquois cause this abundance by preventing our Algonquins from hunting in these beautiful regions.

Apres que la Riuiere s'est ainsi promenée auec tant de tours & de detours dans des efpaces si agreables. elle reprend fon cours & ne fait plus qu'vn lit, qu'on prendroit plustoft pour vn grand canal fait à main d'homme, que pour le lit d'vne Riuiere, tant il [155 i.e., 145] eft droit & d'vn riuage efgal, couuert de part & d'autre de fort beaux arbres rares en Europe, iusques à vne Isle de quatre lieuës en longueur, qui est plustost vn amas d'Islets, qu'vne Isle: car elle est distinguée par tant de canaux & de ruisseaux, que ceux qui en ont voulu faire le denombrement, en comptent plus de trois cents, qui se confondent les vns dans les autres, font des labirintes fi furprenans pour leur beauté, & fi riches pour le grand nombre de poiffon, de Loutres, de Caftors & Rats mufquez, que la chofe est quasi hors de croyance. Les Iroquois caufent cette abondance, empefchant nos Algonquins de chaffer en ces belles contrées.

C'eft fur le bord de cette belle Isle que nous trouuasses vne [156 i.e., 146] troupe de Vaches Sauuages, c'eft vne espece de Cerfs; mais bien meilleurs que les nostres, & si faciles à tuer, qu'on n'a qu'à les pousser dans la Riuiere en les épouuantant, où ils se iettent incontinent à la nage; & pour lors les chasseurs en Canot, ont la liberté de les prendre par les oreilles, de les tuer à coups de cousteau, ou de les emmener tous viuans sur le riuage: quelquesois on en voit deux & trois cents de compagnie.

Cette proye fe prefenta trop heureufement à nous pour ne nous en feruir pas. Cependant nous nous auancions toûiours du cofté de Montreal, & nonobftant la rapidité des eaux qui est grande de ce cofté, nous montafmes iufques à la Riuiere des [157 i.e., 147]

"On the shore of this fair Island we found a [156 i.e., 146] herd of Wild Cows, which are a kind of Deer, but much more savory than ours — and so easy to kill that they have only to be driven by being frightened into the River, into which they immediately plunge and begin to swim; and then the hunters in their Canoes are at liberty to catch them by the ears and kill them with the knife, or to lead them alive upon the bank. Occasionally two or three hundred of them are seen together.

"This prey was offered us too fortunately for us not to profit by it. Meanwhile we were constantly advancing toward Montreal, and despite the rapidity of the current, which flows with great strength in that vicinity, we ascended as far as the River des [157 i.e., 147] Prairies, which flows from the North and empties into the Saint Lawrence river.

"This spot even exceeds all the others in beauty; for the Islands met with at the junction of these two streams are so many large and beautiful prairies, some oblong and others round,—or so many gardens Prairies, qui vient du costé du Nord, & qui se iette dans le fleuue de Saint Laurent.

Ce lieu-là furpaffe encore tous les autres en beauté: car les Ifles qui fe rencontrent dans l'emboucheure de ces deux fleuues, font autant de grandes & de belles prairies, les vnes en long, les autres en rond; ou autant de iardins faits à plaifir, tant pour les fruits qui s'y rencontrent, que pour la forme & l'artifice dont la nature les a preparées, auec tous les agrémens que les Peintres peuuent reprefenter dans leur païfage. Les oyfeaux & les beftes fauuages y font fans nombre; la pefche admirable: C'eftoit vn abord general de toutes les Nations de ce païs; auparauant que les Iroquois euffent infecté toutes [158 i.e., 148] ces contrées, & par confequent ce fera vn iour vn pays tres-propre pour eftre la fituation d'vne grande & groffe ville.

De là nous montafmes à Montreal, le lieu le plus expofé aux Iroquois, & où par confequent les habitans font des plus aguerris. Le climat eft à mefme hauteur que celuy de Bourdeaux; mais fort agreable; le terroir eft tres-bon: le Iardinier ne fait que ietter la grene de Melons fur vn peu de terre remuée parmy les pierres, & ils ne laiffent pas d'y venir fans aucun foin de la part des hommes. Les Citroüilles y viennent encore auec plus de facilité; mais tres-differentes des noftres; car quelques-vnes ont quafi le gouft de pommes & de poires, quand elles font cuites.

[159 i.e., 149] Les habitans y font fi charitables, que quand quelqu'vn est pris par les Iroquois, ils cultiuent ses champs pour faire sublister sa famille.

C'eft aux enuirons de ce lieu que nous furprifmes le Capitaine General des Iroquois, furnommé par nos designed for pleasure, both because of the various fruits found there, and because of the shape of the gardens themselves and the artifice wherewith nature has prepared them with all the charms possible for Painters to depict in their landscapes. Birds and wild animals are there without number, and the fishing is excellent. This used to be a general resort for every Nation before the Iroquois had tainted all [158 i.e., 148] these regions; and hence it will some day be a place most suitable for the site of a large and wealthy city.

"Thence we ascended to Montreal, the place most exposed to the Iroquois, where consequently the settlers are among the most inured to war. The latitude is about that of Bordeaux, but the climate is very agreeable. The soil is excellent, and if the Gardener but throw some Melon seeds on a bit of loosened earth among the stones, they are sure to grow without any attention on his part. Squashes are raised there with still greater ease, but differ much from ours— some of them having, when cooked, almost the taste of apples or of pears.

[159 i.e., 149] "The settlers there are so kindhearted that, when a man has been captured by the Iroquois, they till his fields for the support of his family.

"Near this place we surprised the Captain General of the Iroquois, surnamed Nero by our Frenchmen who have been in their country, because of his notorious cruelty. This in time past has led him to sacrifice to the shade of a brother of his, slain in war, eighty men, burning them all at a slow fire, and to kill sixty more with his own hand. He keeps François qui ont efté en ces païs là, Neron, à caufe de fon infigne cruauté, qui l'a porté autrefois à immoler quatre vingt hommes aux manes d'vn fien frere tué en guerre, en les faifant tous brußer à petit feu; & à en tuer foixante autres de fa propre main; dont il porte les marques imprimées fur la cuiffe, qui pour ce fuiet paroift couuerte de caracteres noirs.

Cét homme a ordinairement neuf efclaues auec luy; c'eft à [160 i.e., 150] fçauoir cinq garçons & quatre filles. C'eft vn Capitaine de grande mine & de grande prestance, & d'vne si grande egalité & presence d'esprit, que se voiant enuironné de gens armés, il n'en témoigna pas plus d'estonnement que s'il eust esté seul: & interrogé s'il ne vouloit pas bien venir auec nous à Quebec; il se contenta de respondre froidement, que ce n'estoit pas vne demande à luy faire, puis qu'il estoit entre nos mains.

On le fit donc monter dans noftre Barque, où ie prenois plaifir à confiderer le genie de cet homme, & celuy d'vn Algonquin qui eftoit auec nous, & qui portoit la cheuelure d'vn Iroquois qu'il auoit tué tout fraichement en guerre. Ces deux hommes, [161 i.e., 151] quoy qu'ennemis à fe manger, s'entretenoient dans cette Barque fort familierement, & en riant; eftant fort difficile de iuger lequel des deux eftoit le plus habile à diffimuler fes fentimens.

Ie faifois mettre Neron auprés de moy à table, où il fe comportoit auec vne grauité, vne retenuë & bienfeance qui ne tenoit rien de fon Barbare: mais le refte de la iournée, il mangeoit inceffamment, de forte qu'il ne ieûnoit que quand il eftoit à table.

Ie defcendis auec ce prifonnier à Quebec, auffi heureufement que i'estois monté à Montreal. Et the tally of these on his thigh, which consequently appears to be covered with black characters.

"This man commonly has nine slaves with him, namely, [160 i.e., 150] five boys and four girls. He is a Captain of dignified appearance and imposing carriage, and of such equanimity and presence of mind that, upon seeing himself surrounded by armed men, he showed no more surprise than if he had been alone; and when asked whether he would not like to accompany us to Quebec, he deigned only to answer coldly that that was not a question to ask him, since he was in our power.

"Accordingly he was made to come aboard our Vessel, where I took pleasure in studying his disposition as well as that of an Algonquin in our company, who bore the scalp of an Iroquois but recently slain by him in war. These two men, [161 i.e., 151] although hostile enough to eat each other, chatted and laughed on board that Vessel with great familiarity, it being very hard to decide which of the two was the more skillful in masking his feelings.

"I had Nero placed near me at table, where he bore himself with a gravity, a self-control, and a propriety, which showed nothing of his Barbarian origin; but during the rest of the time he was constantly eating, so that he fasted only when he was at table.

"With this prisoner I had as prosperous a voyage down to Quebec as I had enjoyed in going up to Montreal; and I will say to you that, having been enabled by this journey to examine the country and the River, it would be difficult for me to [162 i.e., 152] believe in the existence of a better-watered region in puis que ce voyage m'a donné l'occafion de confiderer le païs & le Fleuue; Ie vous diray que i'aurois de la peine à [162 i.e., 152] croire qu'il y euft païs au monde plus arrofé, puis qu'on ne peut faire vne demie-lieuë, fans trouuer quelque Riuiere ou quelque Lac: outre vne infinité de Torrens & de Ruiffeaux, qui rendent le païs fort fecond; mais fi beau, qu'à peine y a-t-il rien de femblable en l'Europe.

Le Fleuue a de grandes richeffes, qui confiftent en poiffons, dont les vns luy font naturels, les autres luy viennent de la Mer & les Lacs; dont il y en a deux & trois cents lieuës de contour; Le grand Lac des Hurons, le grand Lac de la Nation du Saut, celuy de la Nation des Puants, le grand Lac des Iroquois.

Les poiffons qui luy font naturels, font le Brochet de deux efpeces; la Perche de deux efpeces; [163 i.e., 153] le poiffon armé, à raifon de fon bec qui eft en forme d'vne lance; le poiffon doré, d'vn gouft exquis; le poiffon dit du Bord-de-l'eau, encore meilleur. La Loche, d'vne groffeur & grandeur extraordinaire: Les Grenoüilles grandes comme des affiettes, & dont la voix eft femblable au meuglement des Bœufs.

Les poiffons qui luy viennent des Lacs, font la Barbuë, qui nous eft inconnuë en Europe; qui ne cede point pour le gouft au plus exquis de nos poiffons. Les Marfoüins blancs, de la grandeur d'vne Chaloupe; & l'Anguille qui a vn gouft bien meilleur de beaucoup que les noftres: & tout cela en tres-grande abondance: Tel Pefcheur s'eft trouué auoir pris dans fes naffes en vn iour cinq [164 i.e., 154] mille Anguilles, qui font tres-excellentes, eftant fallées, & de the world, since one cannot go half a league without finding some River or Lake—not to mention innumerable mountain Streams and Brooks, which make the country highly fertile, and so beautiful that there is scarcely any like it in Europe.

"The River possesses great wealth, consisting in fish, some being native to it, and others coming from the Sea, or from Lakes whose borders measure two or three hundred leagues each — as the great Lake of the Hurons, the great Lake of the Nation of the Saut, that of the Nation of the Stinkards, and the great Lake of the Iroquois.

"The fishes native to it are the Pike, of two species; two kinds of Perch; [163 i.e., 153] the armored fish—so called from its snout, which has the shape of a lance; the golden fish, of exquisite flavor;<sup>7</sup> the fish named the "fish of the water's Edge," which is still more savory; the Loach, of great breadth and length; and Frogs, which are as large as plates, and whose noise resembles the lowing of Cattle.

"The fishes entering it from the Lakes are the Catfish, which is unknown to us in Europe, and equals in flavor the choicest of our fish; the white Porpoise, of the size of a Shallop; and the Eel, which has a far better flavor than ours, and is, besides, very abundant. One Fisherman was found to have caught in a single day, in his weir, five [164 i.e., 154] thousand Eels, which are very excellent when salted, and keep extremely well. That makes ten casks in a day, selling on the spot at twenty-five frances a cask; for it is an excellent kind of food, carrying its own seasoning with it, and being eaten roasted over the fire, without need of butter or any other sauce, while

Les poiffons qui luy viennent de la Mer font les Baleines, les Souffleurs, les Marfoüins gris, les Efturgeons, le Saulmon, le Bar, l'Alofe, la Moruë, le Haran, le Maquereau, l'Eplan: le Loup-marin, dont les riuages paroiffent quelquefois tout couuerts, & dont quatre ou cinq hommes experts, [165 i.e., 155] ont quelquefois tué en deux heures quatre & cinq cents à coups de bafton, qu'on leur donne fur la tefte, qu'ils ont fort tendre; On les furprend fur des longues battures de rochers, où ils demeurent au Soleil, la Mer s'eftant retirée. On dit qu'ils font quafi aueugles; mais en recompenfe ils ont l'oüye fort fubtile.

L'abondance de tous ces poiffons eft incroyable: outre que les huiles que l'on peut tirer du Loup-marin, des Marfoüins & des Baleines, felon le fentiment des Marchands, peuuent faire vn commerce tres-confiderable. Mais nos pauures François ne font encore en ce païs que des Paralytiques aupres d'vn grand threfor; fur lequel ils ne peuuent porter les mains, tant à caufe que l'Iroquois ne leur [166 i.e., 156] en laiffe pas la liberté, qu'à caufe que les premieres penfées de ceux qui ont habité ces païs, ont efté de fe pouruoir de pain par la culture de la terre, dont ils font venus heureufement à bout, quoy que l'on creuft d'abord que ce païs eftoit trop froid, & que it even serves, when boiled, both as butter and as fat for making soups.

"The fish entering it from the Sea are Whales, Blowers, gray Porpoises, Sturgeon, Salmon, Barbel, Shad, Cod, Herring, Mackerel, Smelt, and sea-Wolves [seals]. The banks sometimes appear entirely covered with the last named, and four or five skillful men [165 i.e., 155] have occasionally killed, in two hours, four or five hundred of them by hitting them with a stick on the head, which is very tender. They are taken by surprise on long rocky reefs, where they lie in the Sun when the Tide has gone out. It is said they are almost blind; but, to compensate for that, their hearing is very acute.

"The abundance of all these fish passes belief not to mention that with the oil obtainable from the Seal, Porpoise, and Whale, according to the opinion of the Traders, a very considerable commerce can be carried on. But our poor French people are as yet only Paralytics in this country, in the presence of a great treasure on which they cannot lay their hands. This is because the Iroquois do not [166 i.e., 156] leave them free to do so, and also because the first thought of those who settled these regions was to gain their living by tilling the soil; and in this they have been successful, although the country was originally believed to be too cold, and the winters too long, to warrant the hope of raising good wheat and other grains.

"As for land animals, there are none in France which cannot thrive excellently in Canadas — where, however, there are many besides, that are not found l'hyuer y eftoit trop long pour en pouuoir efperer & de bon bled froment, & les autres grains de la terre.

Pour ce qui est des animaux que la terre nourrit, il n'y en a point en France qui ne puissent venir tresbien en Canadas; où toutesfois il y en a quantité d'autres que la France n'a pas: comme Orignaux, Ours, Caribous, Vaches Sauuages, Castors, Ratz musquez.

Entre les oyfeaux qui s'y rencontrent de toute efpece, il est à [167 i.e., 157] remarquer que les Tourtes y font en si grande abondance, que cette année tel en a tué fix vingts-douze d'vn feul coup: elles paffoient inceffamment par bandes & fi époiffes, & fi proches de terre, qu'on les abbatoit quelquefois à coup de rames. Elles se sont iettées cette année fur les grains, & y ont fait vn grand rauage, apres auoir depeuplé les forests & les campagnes de fraises & de framboifes, qui croiffent icy par tout fous les pieds des perfonnes: mais quand on prenoit ces Tourtes en dommage, on leur faisoit bien payer les frais; car les Laboureurs, outre la profusion qu'ils en ont fait dans leur maison, à leurs seruiteurs, & mesme à leurs chiens & à leurs cochons, en ont salé des bariques [168 i.e., 158] pour leur hyuer.

Mais on peut dire que tous ces auantages ne font rien, au prix de la bonté de l'air qui y est fi excellent, qu'il y a fort peu de malades en ce païs; & on n'y peut quasi mourir, à moins qu'on ne meure par accident & de mort violente: & i'ay remarqué qu'en vn an que i'ay esté en Canada, il n'y est mort que deux perfonnes de mort naturelle, encore estoit-ce de vieillesse.

"Among the birds of every variety to be found here, it is to [167 i.e., 157] be noted that Pigeons abound in such numbers that this year one man killed a hundred and thirty-two at a single shot. They passed continually in flocks so dense, and so near the ground, that sometimes they were struck down with oars. This season they attacked the grain fields, where they made great havoc, after stripping the woods and fields of strawberries and raspberries, which grow here everywhere underfoot. But when these Pigeons were taken in requital, they were made to pay the cost very heavily; for the Farmers, besides having plenty of them for home use, and giving them to their servants, and even to their dogs and pigs, salted caskfuls of them [168 i.e., 158] for the winter.

"But all these advantages may be accounted as nothing in comparison with the purity of the air, which is here so excellent that the country has very few sick persons; and it is well-nigh impossible to die here, unless it be by accident or violence. In the year which I have spent in Canada, I have noted the death of only two persons from natural causes, and they died of old age.

"The Winter — of which so much is said in Europe, because of its severity and length — seemed to me more endurable than in Paris. Wood costs nothing but the cutting, for those who own land, which is given freely to such as ask for it, and are willing to cultivate it. Some may receive four or [169 i.e., 159] five hundred arpents, and others more.

Le temps de l'Hyuer eft le plus propre pour les Chaffeurs, qui s'enrichiffent pour lors, & le païs auec eux, des peaux de beftes fauues. L'Hyuer n'eft pas moins fauorable pour les gens de trauail, la neige rendant tous les chemins egaux, & le froid glacant les Riuieres & les Lacs, en forte que l'on peut paffer par tout en affeurance, & traifner les fardeaux, ou les faire traifner par les chiens, fur la neige, qui eft folide fur la fin de l'Hyuer: & ainfi les promenades pour ceux qui cherchent leur diuertiffement, y font pour lors tres-belles, & d'ordinaire fauorifées d'vn beau Soleil, & d'vn temps fort ferain.

"The Winter season is the most suitable for Hunters, who then enrich themselves, and likewise the country, with the skins of animals of the deer kind. No less favorable is it for working-people, the snow making all roads smooth, and the frost covering Rivers and Lakes with ice, so that one can go anywhere with safety and drag loads, or have dogs drag them, over the snow, which becomes solid toward the close of Winter. So, too, the walking for pleasureseekers is at that season very fine, and usually favored with a beautiful Sun and very clear weather."

TERY REVEREND FATHER IN CHRIST,

V There lately came into my hands a Narrative of the great Earthquake by which new France was long and severely shaken this year, 1663. It was composed in the vernacular speech by Father Charles Simon, of our Society, an eye-witness; and, as it greatly pleased me, I thought that it would likewise please your Paternity, and even the supreme Pontiff, Alexander VII., as well as Our Fathers who are at Rome. In this hope I have rendered it into latin, and send a faithful translation of it, in my own handwriting, to Your Paternity.

SINCE what has already been published concerning the position of Quebec is sufficient for the Reader's information and the location of the place, it might be considered discourteous and even Unreasonable to delay one who is hastening to the narrative of the Earthquake by the recital of something not at all necessary. As, however, the Natural strength of that fortress is worthy to be known, and as it commends most highly the foresight of him who first selected a place and seat for the French Colony and founded the Citadel, I have concluded that a Topographical description of the city, apart from the body of the narrative, ought not to be omitted; and I trust that it will not be displeasing.

Ouebec, therefore, is the Key to North America, and, as I said, a very firm bulwark of New France, because it is first a rock, secondly a Height, Thirdly a promontory; and, lastly, because it is fortified by two rivers in the manner of a trench and moat. The rock serves as a very solid base for the citadel and town founded upon it, and prevents them from being washed away by the waves or undermined by sappers. The Height offers a steep and arduous ascent, almost unscalable by enemies. The promontory, jutting out into the river saint Lawrence, forms a secure haven for Our own ships, but a dangerous port for those of an enemy; for cannons, on the level space at the base of the cliff, and in the Citadel above, can protect or defend our ships and hinder the others from approaching or passing.

For from the mouth of the river—that is, for a distance of three hundred and sixty miles—the shores are not within cannon-range of each other; here, for the first time, one bank defends the other. Finally, the river St. Lawrence on the East and South, and the Saint Charles, the other river, flowing into the St. Lawrence on the North, form as it were a moat and wall. From these points it is evident how great is the Natural strength of the Citadel, and the stability of the town.

THE EARTHQUAKE IN NEW FRANCE.

COR the plainer and more ample understanding of what we shall relate here, it will not be out of place to mention that Quebec-so is the principal Town of the French Colony called in New Francewas, before our arrival on these shores, a wooded and uncultivated piece of land without a name, - as is, at present, all that surrounding region peopled by barbarians, which, on account of its numerous hills, is called Montagne, the inhabitants being named Montagnais. To guard this town from the incursions of enemies, a Citadel has been erected on the steep and commanding crest of the Rocky height. It is very well fortified by both nature and artifice. and is the residence of the Governor and the garrison, being the strongest bulwark of that part of West or North America. So much concerning the situation and nature of the place; now let us begin the narrative of what has occurred there.

On the third of February of this year, one Thousand six hundred and sixty-three after Christ, a Native woman,—a barbarian, indeed, yet old in probity among the new Christians, and of most righteous life,—while quietly resting on her bed, and awake, alone of all those who slept together in the same Cabin, heard early in the night a voice very similar to that of a human being, distinctly and articulately speaking to her, which warned her that great and wonderful things would befall the town on the day after the next. On the following day she again heard the same voice in the woods—warning her that on the next day, between five and six o'clock proximo die quintam inter et sextam a meridie horam, terra motibus quateretur horrendis. Visa est contubernalibus suis quibus iterum audita renarravit, quasi ludens loqui, aut certe quæ ipsa sibi seu dormiens seu vigilans finxerat, venditare pro veris, et prophetissæ famam aucupari.

Altero dierum illorum tranquilla satis et serena fuit cœli facies: altero multo etiam serenior longeque tranquillior, ad quintam usque serotinam. sub illam horam magnæ cum Deo familiaritatis, intimæque conjunctionis altera, sed hæc, emeritæ consummatæque virtutis, sensit in fervore profundæ Orationis Deum vehementer iratum, provocatumque peccatis quæ in Nova Francia committerentur: nec sibi temperare potuit quin Zelo Iustitiæ Deique Gloriæ succensa, vindictam aliquam insignem, et ad omnium terrorem atque exemplum publicum a Deo vehementer optaret ardenterque deposceret cum ecce subito comparent Dæmones quatuor furibundi, rabiemque spirantes, ad quatuor oppidi Quebeccensis totiusque adeo circumfusæ regionis angulos, connitentes ut tractum illum omnem a fundamentis everterent.

Conspexit in medio virum quem, pari oris venustate ac majestate spectabilem, modo præcipiti illorum furori fræna laxantem, modo habenas in tempore adducentem, cum prope esset ut omnia subverterent. Quinetiam dæmonum collocutiones audivit, prospicientium plurimos fore suarum partium in the afternoon, a fearful earthquake would take place. Her fellow-lodgers, to whom she again related what she had heard, thought that she was jesting, or at least attempting to palm off as true what she herself had imagined, either sleeping or waking, thus seeking to acquire the reputation of being a prophetess.

On this day the aspect of the sky was quite tranquil and serene; and even more so on the succeeding day, until five o'clock in the evening. Toward that hour another woman was in prayer — an intimate and close friend of God, but also of tried and consummate virtue: she felt in the fervor of profound Praver that God was vehemently angry and provoked at the sins committed in New France; and, becoming kindled with Zeal for the Justice and Glory of God, she could not restrain herself from earnestly desiring and ardently requesting of him some signal punishment, one which would strike terror into all and serve as a public example. Then, lo! there suddenly appear four furious and rage-breathing Demons at the four corners of the town of Quebec, indeed, of the whole surrounding country, striving to overthrow that whole region from its very foundations.

In the center she beheld a man of beautiful and majestic countenance, now giving free rein to the headlong fury of those demons; now holding them in, just as they were about to destroy everything. She even heard the demons' conversations. They foresaw that many of their partisans would be roused at the danger of imminent death, and, terrified and remorseful, would be converted. But they also knew how they would entrap and frighten them, and thus drag those deserters back to their camp and recall qui ad præsentis mortis periculum commoverentur, conterritique ac compuncti converterentur: sed sibi perspectas esse artes et iras, quibus desertores illos ad sua castra retraherent fugitivosque revocarent. Ad longum se tempus interea terram succussuros, et nisi cohibeantur ab imis sedibus revulsuros.

Vix illa orandi, et quæ monstrarentur spectandi finem fecerat, cum tranquillo serenoque cœlo, fremitus primum quasi futurorum motuum buccinator ex improviso auditus est, ut ex longinguo, tanguam duorum exercituum ad pugnam cum impetu sublato clamore concurrentium successit in intimis terræ penetralibus, et in extima terræ superficie, quasi ex confusione fluctuum et sonitu maris fragor horribilis tum veluti grando lapidum summa domorum tecta quatientium, mox in horrea, in cubicula, in secretiora conclavia irrumpentium: Ad extremum volare pulvis turbinatim et in nubem cogi, portæ per sese subito aperiri, subito claudi, æra campana publicæ trepidationis signum et triste carmen canere, sacrarum ædium obelisci ut proceræ arbores ventorum ludibria huc illuc inflecti, totoque nutare fastigio, pretiosæ domorum gazæ confundi supellex everti, diffringi muri, devolvi lapides, tabulosa dissolvi, mugire ad hæc animantes nidere, ululare.

Nec minor hominum perturbatio, aliis domo erumpentibus, alijs domum ad perfugium repetentibus, plerisque omnibus fanaticorum instar errantibus, nec quid consilij potissimum caperent in procinctu, the fugitives. Meanwhile, they would shake the earth for a long time, and, unless checked, upheave it from its nethermost strata.

Just as she ceased praying and as the vision disappeared, a noise was suddenly heard under the tranquil and serene sky. At first it sounded as the trumpeter of future disruptions; it seemed to come from afar, and was like the noise of two armies rushing wildly to combat with loud shouts. A frightful crash followed, appearing to proceed from the lowest depths and extreme confines of the earth, and resembling in sound the battle of the waves and the roar of the sea. Then comes a shower of stones, which shatter the roofs of houses and burst into barns, chambers, and the most hidden nooks. Finally the dust rises in whirling columns and forms into a cloud; doors suddenly open and close of themselves; churchbells ring out in token of the general alarm, intoning a doleful chant; the steeples of churches, like tall trees, become the sport of the winds, sway in every direction, and nod their whole height; costly articles are destroyed, furniture is upset, walls are broken asunder, stones become detached, and timbers give way; and all this is accompanied by the bellowing and howling of animals.

The terror experienced by men is equally great. Some rush out of their houses, while others seek refuge in houses; but by far the greater number run aimlessly about as if possessed. They know not what to resolve upon in the emergency, or what were best to be done in such circumstances and at such a time; as is always the case in sudden catastrophes and panics, they are deprived of the liberty of both judging and choosing at the dreadful sights on every side. quidve optimum factu arriperent in tali re ac tempore satis certo statuentibus, amota ut fit in repentinis malis panicisque terroribus, rerum undequaque formidabilium intuitu et judicandi et eligendi libertate.

So swift and unexpected was the blow: and it was especially so because, on that day, our French were intent on nothing but spending the time of the Carnival in festive pleasures, orgies, drinking-bouts, and dances — not to speak of some things more serious, which may offend chaste ears and are better passed over in silence than mentioned. Thunder reverberated and lightning flashed in the heavens, over the heads of those whom either the remembrance of past crimes or the consciousness of present ones accused as culprits. In truth, however, the earthquake was but a mighty token of God's mercy toward men, as well as a means whereby he exercised that mercy as became manifest from the sequel.

But, when the people had had time to become reassured, and to recover somewhat from their fear, they all issued forth from their houses into the open air. Meanwhile, observing the rolling motion of the earth, which tossed to and fro under our feet as a boat is restlessly buffeted about by the waves, we perceived that it was an earthquake, caused, as we supposed, by subterranean fires; nor was our supposition a false one.

But how great, how sudden and wild was the alarm among the people, who were Ignorant of the causes which produced those motions! Some cried, "Fire, fire!" others, "To arms, to arms!" As when the alarm of fire is raised, some ran for water to put it out; others rushed to arms to drive back the enemy, imagining that a hostile band of fierce barbarians were at their doors. By far the greater number took Refuge in the churches, as if the end of the World had come, to wait for death in those more sacred places. Many lost heart altogether, and were unable ut ad instantem Mundi ruinam ad templorum Asila confugientibus, quo sanctiori in loco mortem operirentur, alijs cordis deliquio hærentibus, nonnullis arbores circumplectentibus nec sine gravi ab illis metu, quod inter se colliderentur, et confunderentur, alijs denique truncos arborum amplexentibus, quorum crebris et validis ictibus ad pectus tundebantur.

Pro suo interim genio diversimode barbari afficiebantur, et ex præceptis opinionibus a prima adolescentia tum maxime agebantur. Quod enim existimarent ex superstitione Gentis defunctorum animas ad nova corpora, et ad antiquas domos velle postliminio reverti; displotis in ventos catapultis, sic tanquam pro aris et focis pugnarent; accessu prohibebant.

Primi illius succussus violentia, post mediam circiter horam deferbuit. Respiravimus non tamen sine probabili conjectura metuque novæ Impressionis: nec vanus fuit augur malorum futurorum metus. Cœpit sub horam noctis nonam terra iterum concuti: duravitque illa succussionum et intervallorum quasi Lucidorum vicissitudo, ad 5 Idus Septembris quo hæc teribimus, sed cum magna dissimilium succussionum varietate, quarum aliæ diuturniores, aliæ breviores fuerunt: frequentes quædam, sed modicæ, quædam post longam intermissionem resumptis cessatione viribus, vehementiores. Sic itaque motu non languescente, nisi ut revalesceret; finis alterius mali gradus erat futuri, ac persæpe gravioris. Vix animo to recover their courage. Some clung to trees, not, however, without dread lest the latter should be dashed against one another and crushed; while others held fast to logs, repeatedly receiving from them violent blows on the chest.

Meanwhile, the barbarians were variously affected according to their various temperaments, being then especially influenced by the ideas which had been taught them from their earliest youth. For, supposing—such is the superstition of their Race—that the souls of the departed were striving to break through the gates of death and return into new bodies and reënter their former dwellings, they fired shots into the air, as if fighting for their hearths and homes, believing that thus they were hindering the approach of the souls.

The violence of that first shock subsided after about half an hour. Nevertheless, we did not regain breath without conjecturing and fearing the probability of a new Shock; nor was the foreboding of future evils a vain misgiving. At about nine o'clock in the evening, the earth again began to shake; and that alternation of shocks-and, as it were, Lucid intervals - lasted until the oth of September. During this time, we frequently had these experiences, but with a great variety of dissimilar shocks. Some were longer, others shorter; some were frequent but moderate; others, after a long intermission, were more violent, as if fresh strength had been gained by stoppage. Thus, therefore, the disturbance languishing only to revive again with power, the end of one evil was the step for the next one, and very often one of greater gravity. We had scarcely forecast the coming shocks in our mind when they were at our door, attacking us unawares, sometimes by day, more often by night, while men were withering for fear.

It is uncertain whether the greater cause of dread was from the earth or from the Air. On all sides the air resounded with cries and horrid howlings. Crashes, and more vehement dins than of cymbals, brazen cannon or thunders, burst forth from the bowels of the earth and deep caverns. From the same furnaces emanated fiery torches and globes of flame — now relapsing into the earth, now vanishing in the very air, like bubbles. Moreover, what each one's own fear and alarm invented to his fancy, and represented as plausible truth, tormented him just as seriously as if it had been real.

At this time of general consternation, when every one was in a state of anxious uncertainty as to where those waves would break, and what would be the last Act of this tragedy,-what issue, in fine, such dreadful threats were likely to have, - a certain person was Praying and pouring out his heart in the presence of the most holy sacrament of the Eucharist, devoting himself in behalf of the common safety, by way of expiation, as a victim to placate and avert to another time the anger of God. After a sudden horror, which invaded his mind as if at the approach of some noble personage, there suddenly appeared to him an Angel, with great Majesty of countenance, and terrible and wrath-breathing eyes. His vesture was bordered round about on every side with this one text, often repeated: Quis ut Deus? In his left hand he held a balance, in one scale of which smokes and vapors were weighed; in the other, texts were read, inscribed in these words: Loquere ad Cor Jerusalem, quia completa est malitia ejus et dimissa est iniquitas illius. In his right hand he brandished three arrows, on the ends of which was written: Impietas, Impunitas, defectus Charitatis. And as he prayed more abundantly, and more fervently presented himself as an opposing wall before the house of God, he saw a text issuing from the mouth of the Angel: Deus non irridetur. He felt an ardent desire, at the Angel's departure, for imploring God to abate his wrath, and postpone his Judgments for some time yet.

Meanwhile, a more obstinate foe continued to revolve beneath our feet. Globes of flame burst up, much more vehemently than before, every person wavering between life and death, between hope and fear, according as the force of the shocks was intensified or relaxed. To another person — also engaging in prayer, and boldly urgent in his Orison, there appeared a brightness in his chamber, resembling the reflection which a drawn sword gives back and flashes forth when opposed to the rays of the sun, or the sparks emanating from the eyes of a man in Anger; and at the same time he heard these words: Quem feriam, domine? Cujus caput petam? He did not hear the answer, but only the confused outcries of those mourning and wailing.

A month thus passed with shocks gradually relaxing in Violence, except that five or six were more intense, and that they persist to this day, but are less violent and less frequent. This cessation or intermission has left us the opportunity for observing what were the effects of the Past shocks.

There occur, here and there, wide and deep gaps in the earth and frequent fissures. New torrents have appeared, and new springs of very limpid water have gushed forth in full streams. On level ground, hills have arisen; Mountains, on the other hand, have been depressed and flattened. Chasms of wonderful depth, exhaling a foul stench, have been hollowed out in many places. Plains lie open, far and wide, where there were formerly very dense and lofty forests. Cliffs, although not quite leveled with the soil, have been shattered and overturned. The earth is furrowed, but more deeply than can be done with a plow or hoe. Trees are partly uprooted, partly buried even to the ends of their branches. Melancholy and unquestionable are the Earthquake's marks. Two rivers have returned to the bowels of the earth, whence they had issued. Others resembled in color Streams of Milk or of blood, and thus gave rise among the ignorant to the belief that they had been suddenly changed into the milk and blood, whose color they put on.

Nothing, moreover, filled us with more wonder than what was observed in the river Saint Lawrence. That this matter may be understood more thoroughly and clearly, I think it will not be amiss to mention in this place the dimensions of that noble river — until recent years unknown to Europeans. If antiquity had known these, it would surely have named the Saint Lawrence, with much better right than the Po, the "King of rivers."

First, it is certain from the Report of those who have explored it that its Length is at least thirty-six hundred miles, although as yet its source has not been reached. Whenever entering this country of New France, we had occasion to observe on the way its width. Not to mention the gulf, — which is two hundred and forty miles broad, and has the shape of quotquot in Novam Franciam pervenimus, ejus latitudinem, quæ præter sinum ducentorum et quadraginta milliariorum in quadrum rectilineum quaquaversum, in ostio cum primum littoribus continetur. patet ad quinque et septuaginta milliaria, præcelsis deinde ac præruptis rupibus, altissimisque circum munita, etiam triplici ordine montibus, sensim ac sine sensu decrescens, ad Tadoussacum portum Borealem ducentis ab ostio et quadraginta milliaribus, unius adhuc est et viginti milliariorum. Tanta vero est, et tam profunda ejus altitudo, ut immissa bolide exploratoria, nullum ullibi fundum ne ad passum quidem littoris reperias fundandis navibus anchorisque iaciendis, sed littus importuosum cautibus insuper ad certum naufragium si tempestas eo nolentes impellat exasperatum, nisi post decem circiter et ducenta ab ostio milliaria.

Duo sunt præterea quæ magnitudinem illius fluvij Majestatemque declarent. Alterum, æstus inusitatus maritimi fluctus tam rapide in profluentem exundantis, ut in loco quantumlibet iniquo, nempe a declivi per acclivem alveum non modo cursum ejus frænet, verum etiam ad caput reflectat, et motu raptus sex statis horis compellat innato ponderi contrarium cursum tenere, idque ad quadringenta triginta quinque milliaria: nec prius sinat refluere et relabi, quam refluentis maris, fluctusque æstuosos resorbentis hora revenerit. Alterum invariabilis nullisque casibus obnoxia in suo eodem statu constantia, quâ fit, ut a square, rectilinear on each side,-at the mouth, where first the stream is hemmed in by the shores, it is seventy-five miles wide. Then, confined between lofty and abrupt rocks and very high hills, even in triple array, it gradually and imperceptibly narrows as far as Tadoussac, a Northern port, two hundred and forty miles from the mouth. At this place, the width is still twenty-one miles. Besides, so great and profound is its depth that, when the soundinglead is dropped, you can nowhere find bottom for grounding ships or casting anchor, - not even within a pace from the shore. It is a harborless coast, roughly lined with sharp crags, - inviting to certain shipwreck, if a tempest drive thither the unwilling vessels,-up to about two hundred and ten miles from the mouth.

Two other facts demonstrate the magnitude and the Majesty of that river. One is the extraordinary flow of the tide, so swiftly surging up against the forward current that,-be it in places the most uneven, where the river flows over declivities,- it not only breaks the river's downward course by means of the upward stream, but even turns it back toward its source, and violently compels it for six whole hours, by sheer weight, to hold a contrary course; and this for four hundred and thirty-five miles. Nor does it suffer the current to subside and relapse, until the hour returns when the ebbing sea swallows back the tidal waves. The other peculiarity is the invariable constancy of this river, subject to no accidental changes, as regards its uniform flow. Thus it happens that the winter snows,-exceedingly abundant in that Region, and of long duration on account of the darkness and density of the forests, - melting at the return of spring, and flowing together from the entire and vast extent of the plains, do not cause it to overflow. It does not even so much as swell perceptibly, or become greater by the flowing in of more than a thousand rivers, although among them are very many of considerable magnitude. Such is the Saguenay at Tadoussac harbor, which finds its source twelve hundred miles from its mouth,—similar to the Rhone in velocity and not less noble in other respects; also that other river ninety miles above Quebec, which, because it empties through three mouths, has obtained the name of "three rivers;" another one, too, flowing down from the Iroquois; and very many others.

These things being maturely considered, which I have purposely set forth somewhat at length, it may be very easily inferred how great was the upheaval of the earth, from the fact that such and so great a river changed its color, not for a brief space of time, but for eight entire days, put on a sulphurous one, and kept it constantly; for, from the bowels of the earth, agitated in their nethermost depth and poured into it, and from sulphur mines, its waters were diluted with an abundance of liquid sulphur. This is a notable proof of the precious things which the earth conceals, whether of dangers or of metals, and especially of the undiscovered gold which men have so eagerly desired from the beginning of the world until this day. But of this we speak only in passing; let others inquire about it while we return to our topic.

Some barbarians, whom terror had driven out of the woods, report that when, free from fear, they wished to return to their forsaken hut, they found tem sibi notum inquirerent, in cuius iugo novam extruerent, lacum, ubi mons fuerat, invenisse. Addunt vidisse se in medio aëre adolescentem facem præferentem, multoque his progidia mirabiliora, sive illa vere viderint, sive ut fit in rebus turbulentis, se vidisse putaverint.

Multa sunt Terræmotus adjuncta, variæque peristates quibus adducamur ut credamus totam eo Americam esse concussam. Certe iam hoc pro explorato habemus ab Iroquæorum finibus, ad usque Acadiam, quæ pars est Australis Americæ pertinuisse hoc est ad milliaria mille et quingenta tribus milliaribus cuique terræ ut supra in fluvii dimensionibus, attributis.

Magnæ fuerunt omnino succussæ Naturæ convulsiones, Terræque motus effectus magni et admirabiles: sed certe Gratiæ Majores et admirabiliores. Nam sive Barbarorum conuersionem spectemus qui magno numero in Ecclesiæ Matris gremium per baptismum confugerunt, sive fidelium reductionem, qui depravatos prioris vitæ mores emendarunt; facile sentiemus, Deum cum terræ fundamento concuteret. eadem opera majori etiam inclinatione voluntatis peccatorum animos concussisse. Bacchanaliorum dies in dies pietatis, luctus contritionis, lacrimarumque conversi sunt privatorum preces ad multam noctem productæ, Indictæ supplicationes publicæ, susceptæ peregrinationes, frequentata Jejunia, Confessiones institutæ, et inter eas plurimæ quæ peccathat it had been swallowed up by a gap in the earth; and that, when they then sought a Hill that was known to them to build on its ridge a new hut, they found a lake where the hill had been. They add that they saw in mid-air a young man, holding a torch, and prodigies much more wonderful than these: either they really saw these things, or, as happens in troubled circumstances, thought they saw them.

There are many things incidental to the Earthquake and various circumstances by which we are led to believe that all America was shaken by it. In fact, we have already ascertained that it extended from the borders of the Iroquois country to Acadia, which is a part of Southern America,—that is, a thousand miles; multiplying this extent, for each region, by five hundred and three miles, as the measure of the [St. Lawrence] river valley.

The convulsions of shocked Nature were in every way violent, and the effects of the Earthquake great and admirable; but certainly its Graces were Greater and more admirable. For,-whether we regard the conversion of the Barbarians, who through baptism sought refuge in great numbers in the lap of Mother Church; or the restoration of the faithful, who mended the depraved morals of their former life,we readily perceive that when God shook the earth at its foundation, by the same process he shook the minds of sinners, to a still greater bending of their wills. The days of the Carnival were turned into days of piety, mourning, contrition, and tears; private prayers were protracted till late at night; public supplications were Announced; pilgrimages were undertaken, and Fasts observed. Confessions were instituted,-and, among these, many which comtorum totius vitæ summam complecterentur, et quidem ea omnino fide, quâ se quisque vellet a Deo Iudicari, quæque ejus iram æternam sententiamque præverterent: extinctæ inimicitiæ, depositæ simultates, lesæ Charitatis redintegrationes, ad genua provolutiones, mutuæ veniæ petitiones, et alia generis ejusdem satis declarant, Misericordiæ potius Divinæ Consilium quam Justitiæ flagellum Terræmotum fuisse, præsertim cum in tanta rerum confusione et elementorum perturbatione, vitam aut Fortunas amiserit nemo: timor ad omnes, ad neminem pæna pervenerit.

Non defuerunt prognostici magnorum malorum quæ nobis impenderent denuntiatores, qui quasi prophetico afflati spiritu, quæ de suo comminiscebantur, in vulgus spargerent, ut in rebus turbatis et obscuris usuvenit, quarum exitum futurum scire cupiunt curiosi, rei perhorrescunt, ut prorsus peccatorum conscij, prospicere prudentes possunt, divinare ac certo prænuntiare nisi a Deo doctus, nemo potest.

Ecce autem barbari ad nos veniunt, referuntque milliaribus ab hinc duodeviginti terræmotum multo quam ante sævire vehementius. Nostri præterea Mercatores renuntiant dum in S. Laurentij fluvio navigarent, navim suam ex improviso, contremuisse, novoque modo concussam, quali nunquam antea in maximis tempestatibus, sic ut ingens metus esset, ne disruptis compagibus dissolveretur, et in partes tot disrumperetur.

prised the sins of a whole life,—and indeed they were generally made in that faith wherein each one wished to be Judged by God, and that these might prevent his eternal wrath and condemnation. Enmities extinguished, disputes laid aside, restorations of offended Charity, kneeling supplications, mutual petitions for pardon, and other things of the same kind, sufficiently declare that the Earthquake was rather a Scheme of the Divine Mercy than a scourge of Justice,—especially since, in so great a confusion of affairs and perturbation of the elements, no one lost life or Fortune. Fear came to all, penalty to none.

There were not wanting, as prognostics of the great evils which threatened us, informers who, inspired as it were with prophetic spirit, spread abroad among the multitude the things which they themselves invented. This commonly happens in matters troubled and obscure, whose future issue the curious desire to know, the guilty, as being thoroughly conscious of their sins, dread, and the prudent can calmly expect,—yet no one can divine and certainly foretell, unless taught by God.

Now, too, the barbarians come to us and report that eighteen miles from here, the earthquake is raging much more violently than before. Moreover, our Traders announce that, while they were sailing on the river St. Lawrence, their ship suddenly trembled mightily, and was shaken in a peculiar manner, such as was never the case before, even in the greatest storms; and there was great fear lest, its timbers being shattered, it should be broken asunder, and wrenched apart into so many pieces.

Furthermore, opposite them they saw a great

Crevit vero in immensum illorum admiratio, cum in ostio fluminis sibi noti, viderunt lapidum aceruum, ruptumque congeriem: contra autem, nec longe ab illo sic concluso repente ostio, rupibusque completo, ubi montes fuerant, comprimendis fluvij exundationibus aggeres à Deo iam inde a Mundi procreatione positi novos aquarum sinus invenerunt, et portus ad fidam navium stationem opportunos: Unum ante alios, et sinum eundem et portum, ubi prout illorum omnium testimonio constat, quotquot oras illas frequentarunt, ubi, inquam, tam solidæ rupes, et tam inaccessæ atque imperviæ fuerant, ut mortalium omnium coniunctis viribus, non modo non perfici, sed section of the earth borne upward and carried into the river; and, at the place whence it was separated by the vawning open of the earth, there burst forth globes of smoke and flame, at certain spaces from one another, and very dense clouds of ill-smelling ashes were cast upward; and, as these fell down, the deck of their ship was filled with them. The same traders observed, on their way, that from the inmost bowels of the earth Jets of water surged violently upward, with the magnitude of streams, as if from fountain-pipes or leaden conduits. Where hitherto had been thorns and rocks, they saw gardens, planted as it were by the hand of a skillful gardener, and arranged with all possible art and care for the delight of the eyes. There were blossoming and high trees, laid out in the lines of a star, by no one's planting, no one's hand, except that of an accidental disaster and of Nature.

But their wonder immensely increased when, at the mouth of a river known to them they saw a heap of stones and an array of debris. On the other hand, - not far from that mouth thus suddenly closed up and filled in with rocks, - where there had been mountains set by God from the very origin of the World as barriers for confining the overflowings of the river, they found new bays of water, and ports convenient for the safe harboring of ships. One of these, especially, was both bay and harbor at once, where — as appears from the testimony of all those who visited those shores - where, I say, there had been rocks. So solid, and so inaccessible and impenetrable were they that this could not have been accomplished even if the strength of all mortals had been combined; and could not, without temerity, have been even attempted with any hope of accomplishment; but that very thing was actually accomplished by a secret hand.

The same traders affirm that whole forests, and those of three hundred or even four hundred Arpents in extent, and their hills, had been scattered into the river, which in turn cast them forth upon the shore a confused mass of trees. But these things are nothing to their relation of a City blazing in the air before their eyes, girt about with whirlwinds of smoke and flames.

Those who return from the fort of our French people which is situated at three rivers — ninety miles above Quebec, as was said shortly before report things not less marvelous than those above. They relate that the earth was shaken with so great force that it leaped up to the height of a foot, and rolled in the manner of a skiff tossed by the waves; all greatly feared lest the yawning earth should involve all in like ruin, and bury them alive in the same grave, — with what consternation to all! what present fear!

It appears by the common affirmation of all, and is entirely beyond any doubt or controversy, that the barriers and defenses of that shore, given by Nature to the river Saint Lawrence, although of unusual height, were overturned on both banks from their lowest foundations, and completely uprooted. It is certain that the forests planted upon them were destroyed and scattered into the river; it is certain that the shore was now leveled with the plain and with the channel of the river, for twelve miles in length, twelve Arpents in width,—and this with so great a crash and concussion that not even one of the trees arborum quidem una integra permanserit, sed ramis omnes omnibus undique decisis, intactoque trunco.

Saltus, qui propter vicinitatem fluminis trium fluviorum, ab eo flumine nomen acceperat; complanatus est, quod uno verbo dictum rem multo quam verba sonant admirabiliorem comprehendit: nec nisi ab eo qui saltus quid sit audiverit intelligi potest. Saltus ergo est, rupium series concatenata quæ fluvij Latitudinem omnem in transversum occupat, ex imo fundo procedens, atque ex omni parte capita tollens quam plurima, ad quæ fluctus impetu decurrentes alliduntur, et spumant nec liberam nautis navigationem relinquunt, sed certum potius naufragium minantur, si quis tam periculosis se cautibus audeat credere. protenduntur autem hæ rupes in longitudinem ad sex, octo, decem, nonnunquam etiam duodecim milliaria. Quis iam non miretur tantas et tam formidolosas rupes sic terræmotu esse depressas, ut nullum penitus earum vestigium appareat?

Hanc tam solidarum tamque a constitutione mundi fundatarum rupium extirpationem, prodigia duo sunt consecuta. Alterum quod spectrum horrendum, informe, et immane visum est in labris præstructæ fossæ oppidi munitioni præsidianæ, ab Oriente ad Occidentem pertransire: Alterum quod auditi sunt Delphines, seu quacumque alio nomine pisces illis haud multum absimiles appellari, e regione munitionis nostræ, mugire et planctus edere lamentabiles, sæpiusque repetitos.

remained intact, but each had all its branches lopped off on all sides, the trunk standing unbroken.

The sault which on account of its nearness to three rivers had received its name from that river, was leveled. This, although said in one word, comprehends a thing much more wonderful than words can utter: nor can it be understood save by one who has heard what a sault is. A sault is therefore a chain of rocks which lies across the whole Width of the river: these start from the lowest bottom, and, crowding together, raise their heads in every direction. The waves, violently rushing down against them, break and foam; and they not only hinder navigation to the boatmen, but even threaten certain shipwreck, if any one dare to commit himself to such dangerous shoals. Moreover, these rocks are stretched along six, eight, ten, sometimes even twelve miles. Who indeed will not marvel that so great and formidable rocks were so reduced by the earthquake that absolutely no trace of them appears?

Two prodigies followed this extirpation of rocks, so solid and so established from the constitution of the world. One, which was a horrid, shapeless, and monstrous specter, was seen crossing from East to West along the edges of the moat constructed for the military defense of the town. The other was the fact that Porpoises—or by whatever other name fish not very different from them be called — were heard, from the region of our fortification, to bellow and utter lamentable wails, often repeated.

Still greater was the ruin and desolation about the river which the barbarians call Batiscan. Reports were heard as of brazen cannon, and of frequent and horrible thunders, which, mixed with the crashing

Major adhuc fuit ad fluvium quem barbari Batiscan vocant ruina et desolatio. Effodiebantur præcipitia, excavabantur abyssi, terra sub pedibus dehiscebat, irruebant in apertas abyssos cum arboribus montes consepulti. Barbari denique a nobis omnium remotissimi pro certo renuntiant, se quam longum est iter triginta noise of shattered trees, — falling together by hundreds, and loudly dashing into one another, — caused to stand on end the hair of those who were either present at those spectacles, or heard such an unusual din from a distance. Precipices were undermined, and chasms excavated; the earth yawned beneath one's feet; mountains, buried together with their trees, rushed into the open chasms. One of the Frenchmen, who had made his cabin there with the barbarians, was, when the subterranean waters welled up and suddenly burst forth, almost submerged at his own fireplace; and this would have been his fate, had not one of the bystanders held out a helping hand to him, thus in jeopardy on so treacherous ground.

There are persons who certify that they saw very lofty hills striking together with brows opposed, like headstrong rams, then suddenly and instantaneously swallowed up in the yawning of the earth. Others relate that, in their presence, rocks, cleft and shattered, burst upward to the height of tall trees. The same person saw a very long and very wide tract of the earth, thirty miles in extent, suddenly changed into deep chasms. The barbarians, at those prodigies, raised horrible shouts, along with our countrymen of like superstition, and discharged their guns to drive away those aërial demons, and rout them from their borders.

Finally, the barbarians most distant of all from us, announce as a fact that they were borne along those recent chasms to the extent of a thirty-mile march, nor were they able to find their origin or extent, or, finally, to measure their profound depth.

And if that earthquake was most terrible on account of the frequency and violence of its shocks, assuredly milliariorum recentes illas abyssos prætervectos, nec earum originem, nec longitudinis terminos, invenire potuisse nec denique profundam altitudinem metiri.

it was much more to be dreaded, and indeed is so still, on account of its long duration. We have lived, if yet we live, from the fifth of february till the ninth of September — namely, full seven months, and more than that, — between hope and fear, between life and death; on the border of both, and uncertain as to the hours of either.

Concerning the magnitude and presence of the danger, there happened to a certain man, deeply meditating in the presence of God, a thing which I will reproduce in this place, from his own handwriting, faithfully translated. "On the night," he says, "between the second Sunday in lent and the day of the second quarter of the moon, at half past ten, I saw plainly for the space of half an hour, the Heaven divide. Then, present in the spirit on a very broad field. I heard a voice which said: 'Look up and down.' While shivering in all my body, I again heard the voice of one Commanding me to Look. My mind being somewhat reassured, and recovering a little strength, I saw in a very bright cloud an Angel brandishing an arrow in his right hand, ready to strike. In truth, for great reverence, I did not dare to resist; but yet I earnestly desired - and, although silent with my lips, I signified in my speechless heart my wish --- that he would withhold the blow, and postpone the judgments. He answered, clearly seeing what I asked: 'To what purpose that delay? To what purpose a postponement of judgments? Look back,' he said, 'at those.' For then indeed I looked about. Among many whom I saw, I recognized two by their features. Their hands were full of blood which they were casting forward into the earth, with signal contempt. I knew that the blood which they were shedding was none other than the blood of God. I earnestly endeavored to excuse those two whom I had known by appearance, mingled in with that confused throng of victims devoted to hell: and also the wine-Dealers and retailers of Brandy, basely ministering to the lusts of drunkards for the sake of gain,- Rebellious against the severe and oft-repeated prohibitions of the Church, and the thunders of Excommunication, to the great scandal of the good. It was answered that their measure was fulfilled, and their repentance feigned; and that soon a public penalty would be inflicted, to the terror of all, upon those men as hypocrites. I persisted nevertheless and besought a truce, and earnestly desired that their punishments, due for wickedness and obstinacy, be directed against me. And to me, indeed, the Infernal fires seemed desirable, if only the wrath of God might cease. However, notwithstanding this sentiment of mine, I rejoiced in the knowledge that God would shortly take vengeance upon his enemies - a severe one, indeed, yet perfectly consistent with his Justice."

Certain extracts from the letters of Father Charles Simon, written to his sister at Bourges, and dated at Orleans, the 2nd and 9th of December, 1663:

1st. He affirms that he learned, from the very persons to whom they happened, of all the apparitions which he has inserted in his Narrative.

2nd. He mentions that Father Jean de Brebeuf, cruelly slain by the Iroquois,—and dying with the utmost fortitude, on the 16th of March, 1649—had frequently appeared, and given wholesome and seasonable warnings; and had expressly said that

1°. Affirmat se scire ex ijs ipsis quibus contigerunt omnes quas Narrationi suæ inseruit apparitiones.

2°. Memorat P. Joannem de Brebeuf ab Iroquæis crudeliter interfectum, et constantissime mortuum, anno 1649 16°. Martij frequenter apparuisse et monita salutaria et opportuna dedisse: ac nominatim dixisse Terræmotuum causam esse ex parte Gallorum quorumdam contumaciam, qui fulmina et excomunicationes Ecclesiæ contempsissent, et sanguinem Christi conculcassent.

3°. Recenset mortem unius contemptorum illorum duorum qui ex vultu cogniti fuerant, quem de nocte famulus suus telo perfossum, minutatimque concisum, in proprio foco flammis ustulatum redegit in cineres, ne facti indicium superesset.

4°. Confirmat vidisse se arboribus eradicatis constratum S. Laurentis litus utrumque ad trecenta milliaria quæ pertransiit.

5°. Narrat virum ex subito Terræmotu, sic inhorruisse, alioqui generosum ut arrectis horrore comis, Galerum surgentes capilli excusserint.

the cause of the Earthquakes was partly the contumacious conduct of certain Frenchmen, who had despised the thunders and excommunications of the Church, and trampled upon the blood of Christ.

3rd. He reviews the death of one of those two despisers who had been recognized from their features. This man is stabbed at night by his servant, who cuts his corpse into pieces and reduces it to ashes, burning it in the flames before his own hearth, lest a clue to the deed should remain.

4th. He certifies that he saw both shores of the St. Lawrence strewn over with uprooted trees, for three hundred miles, which distance he has traversed.

5th. He relates that a man so shuddered at the sudden Earthquake, although at other times he was brave, that his hair, bristling up with horror and standing upright, shook off his Fur-cap.

JANUARY, 1664.

O<sup>N</sup> this Day, Monseigneur the Bishop came to say the Communion mass for our brethren, at 6 o'clock. When he arrived in the sacristy, the bell was rung 5 or 6 times, as a signal for all our Fathers and brethren to be there to receive his blessing, after the superior should pay him his Compliments. Then 3 masses were said, besides the last one. In the procession that came in the afternoon to our church, at Vespers, were Monseigneur the Bishop and Monsieur the Governor. The priests placed themselves below on both sides of the officiating priest, with 3 Choir-boys. The others went up into the Jube, and the rest took place as usual.

At the Litanies The day before, I gave a Picture on vellum; and the father Minister brought to each of our Fathers and to the master a coil of wax taper, as well as a dish or plate of prunes from tours, in default of other things.

Monsieur the governor having invited Monseigneur the Bishop to dinner, I invited all the remainder of his household to dine with us. Only four came — Monsieur duduit, Monsieur Morin, Monsieur forest, and le Chevalier. New-year's Day.

Monsieur de bernieres and Monsieur meseré had gone to Monsieur the Governor's with Monseigneur.9 We had gone in the morning,-that is, one of our Fathers, who is his Confessor, father pijart, and I,-to pay our respects to Monsieur the Governor at his house. Monsieur de Meseré commenced the sermons between Advent and Lent.

This month the troubles began about the tithes. etc.<sup>10</sup>

Ten or twelve frenchmen from 3 rivers made a journey hither.

FEBRUARY, 1664.

The troubles continued; among other things conflicting notices between the authorities were posted up, and the disorders of drunkenness began again-to such an extent that a savage named robert hache 11 ravished a Young woman whom he met on the road.

The devotions of the 40 hours were per- 40 hours during the formed as usual. The exposure was made in too unceremonious a manner. It is necessary at least that he who exposes the sacrament for the 1st time on Sunday should, with the person who assists him, recite the litany of the Saints. The masses should follow each other closely; to that end there should be a double set of vestments in the sacristy, and the priests should say their Thanksgiving before the blessed sacrament. The Children who can read should, when employed there, say the 7 penitential psalms. The feast of St. Mathias fell on shrove Monday; high mass

There was also high mass on tuesday, in honor of the blessed sacrament. It is good to have high Mass as often as possible on those Days; otherwise the morning devotions lack fervor. Benedictions and short exhortations as usual.

The order of the music was as follows: 1st. a motet in honor of the blessed sacrament: then a short sermon; then the organ, while the rest of the candles were being lighted; then the above Anthem, and the Dixit of the vespers of the blessed sacrament; repetition of the Anthem: orisons; then the 2nd benediction of the virgin and a Domine salvum fac regem. Sic aliis diebus proportionately, -v.g.: the 3rd Anthem of the aforesaid vespers, with its psalm, on the 2nd Day; and on the 3rd the 5th Anthem, with its psalm. We begged Messieurs the Ecclesiastics to officiate at the benedictions and to sing the high masses; after that, we Invited them and the extra singers to breakfast. It would be better to give breakfast to the ordinary Musicians of the house before the high masses, to enable them to sing better. We might have high Mass as early as Sunday; of this, however, I am in doubt - nondum factum.

on holv saturday the Exultet be not chanted, it would suffice to begin the service at 10 o'clock, or a little before that time. On saturday, there was solemn benediction here. On the 3 following festivals, there was benediction at the parish church, with Instrumental music (tunc primum) in the Jube near the organ. All went well, except that the voices and Instruments are weak for so vast a structure. For the remainder of the week there was benediction at our church. At the parish church 4 masses were said. I had to say two-one at the Ursulines', and the other at the hospital for the sick, as there seemed to be no priest to say it. However, this could have been provided for, had they thought of it.

On the same Day, the Council was dissolved by Monsieur the governor, and Monsieur bourdon was badly treated by him.

Av Reverend Pere Provincial de la Compagnie de IESVS, en la Province de France.

SENUOYE à Vostre Reuerence la Relation de ce qui s'est passé depuis un an en ces Contrées. Les Iroquois qui ont desolé cette Eglise naissante, & qui ont jusqu'a maintenant empesche ses progrez, commencent à ressentir la main de Dieu qui les punit, & qui vange le sang des Seruiteurs de Dieu si cruellement respandu par ces Barbares. Les maladies, la famine & la guerre vont les depeuplant puissamment, & les font craindre de ce voir eux-mesmes sur le point de leur desolation. Le secours que le Roy nous a fait esperer pour le prochain embarquement, mettra fin Dieu aidant à ce grand mal de la Nouuelle France; qui en mesme temps à besoin d'un nombre extraordinaire de Missionaires, pour auancer la Foy dans les peuples e floignez qui nous attendent, & que Dieu nous presente. Il y à beaucoup à souffrir, & tout à craindre. pour ceux à qui ce sort heureux arrivera pour leur partage. Ie ne leur cacheray point les peines où ils s'engagent, & les perils où ils s'exposent; plutost c'est l'attrait que je presente à leur courage, & la recompence plus grande, dont Dieu couronnera tous leurs trauaux, puis qu'un bon cœur est trop heureux de souffrir & de mourir pour Iesus Christ, qui le premier a souffert & est mort pour nous. C'est de la bonté du Roy que toutes ces Contrées de la Nouuelle France attendent le secours des Soldats qui mettent icy la Foy en liberté; c'est de la main de Vostre Reverence, que nous attendons de ces genereux Missionaires, qui portans

SEND to Your Reverence the Relation of what has occurred during the past year in these Countries. The Iroquois, who have ravaged this infant Church and have, until now, prevented its progress, begin to feel the hand of God punishing them, and avenging the blood of the Servants of God, so cruelly shed by those Barbarians. Diseases, famine, and war continue to depopulate them rapidly, and make them fearful of seeing themselves on the point of destruction. The succor for which the King has made us hope, and which is to come at the next embarkation, will put an end, with God's help, to this great scourge of New France. But, at the same time, she has need of an extraordinary number of Missionaries to advance the Faith among the distant tribes who await us. and whom God offers to us. For those to whom this happy lot shall fall as their share, there is much to suffer and everything to fear. I will not conceal from them the difficulties in which they engage and the dangers to which they expose themselves; these are rather the allurements which I offer to their courage, and the highest reward with which God will crown all their labors; for a good heart is but too happy to suffer and die for Jesus Christ, who first suffered and died for us. It is from the King's goodness that all these countries of New France await the aid of the Soldiers, who set the Faith at liberty here; it is from the hand of Your Reverence that we expect some of those brave Missionaries who, carrying Jesus Christ in Iefus-Christ dans leur cœur, aillent portant son Nom jusqu'au bout de ce nouueau monde. Nous demandons pour cet effet l'assistance des prieres de tous les gens de bien, & de tous nos Peres & Freres, & particulierement de V. Reuerence, Depuis l'année derniere il nous est tombé entre les mains quelques fragmens de letres que le Pere a écrites depuis son départ des trois Rivieres, d'ou nous aprenons quelques circonstances de sadvantures, & l'estat de cette nouvelle Eglise qu'il a bastie, & cymantée de su fueurs & de son sang.

Nostre [3] voyage a esté tres-heureux graces à Dieu, pour le regard de nos  [1] Relation of what occurred in the Mission of the Fathers of the Society of JESUS in the country of New France, from the Summer of the year 1663 to the Summer of the year 1664.

CHAPTER FIRST.

OF THE ALGONKIN CHURCH TOWARD THE OUTAOUAK.

THE first Chapter of the Relation of this year will serve as a sequel to the last of that of the previous year, in which we set forth [2] that which concerns the Church of the Outaouak, and the precious death of its Pastor, Father René Menard, who, after traveling more than five hundred leagues in these vast Forests of the Occident, with an indefatigable zeal for the conquest of souls, happily finished all his travels by an end worthy of an Apostle.

During the past year, there have fallen into our hands some fragments of letters which the Father wrote after his departure from three Rivers. From them we learn some circumstances of his adventures and the state of that new Church which he built and cemented with his sweat and blood.

In the following manner he begins a letter, put into the form of a journal, which he wrote after having at last arrived in the country of the Outaouak. "Our [3] journey has been very fortunate, thanks be to God, inasmuch as our Frenchmen all arrived in François, eftans tous arrivez en bonne fanté environ l'a my-Octobre: Ce n'a pas efté toutefois fans avoir bien paty, & évité de grands hazards, du cofté des Lacs puiffamment agitez, des torrents, & des cheutes d'eau effroyables à voir, qu'il nous a fallu traverfer fur vne fresse écorce; du costé de la faim qui nous a presque tousiours accompagné; & de la part des Iroquois qui nous ont combatu.

Entre les Trois Rivieres & le Montreal nous fifmes heureufement rencontre de Monfeigneur l'Evefque de Petrée, qui me dit ces paroles lefquelles entrerent bien avant dans mon cœur, et me feront vn grand fujet de confolation, parmy tous les facheux accidents qui m'arriveront. Mon Pere, toute raifon [4] femble vous retenir icy; mais Dieu plus fort que tout, vous veut en ces quartiers-là. O que j'ay beny Dieu depuis cette heureufe entreveuë, & que ces paroles forties de la bouche d'vn fi faint Prelat, me font doucement revenuës dans l'efprit, au plus fort de nos peines, de nos miferes, & de noître abandon, Dieu me veut en ces quartiers! que i'ay fouuent repaffé ces paroles par mon efprit, parmy le bruit de nos torrens, & dans la folitude de nos grandes forefts.

Les Sauvages qui m'avoient embarqué avec affeurance qu'ils me donnoient de me foulager, veu mon aage & mes infirmitez, ne m'ont pas pourtant épargné, & m'ont obligé de porter fur mes épaules des fardeaux tres pefants, par tous les faults que nous avons paffé, ou peu s'en faut; & quoy que mon aviron n'avançaît pas beaucoup [5] leur voyage, eftant manié par des bras auffi foibles que les miens, ils n'ont peu toutefois fouffrir qu'il fuît en repos; fi bien que ne fçachant où trouver le temps de dire mon Breviaire, good health, about the middle of October. But, to accomplish that, we had to suffer much and avoid great risks — from the Lakes, which were very stormy; from the torrents and waterfalls, fearful to behold, which we were forced to cross in a frail shell; from hunger, which was our almost constant companion; and from the Iroquois, who made war upon us.

"Between Three Rivers and Montreal, we luckily met Monseigneur the Bishop of Petræa. He uttered to me the following words, which entered deep into my heart, and will be to me a great source of consolation amid all the vexatious accidents which shall befall me: My Father, every reason [4] seems to retain you here; but God, more powerful than aught else, requires you yonder. Oh, how I have blessed God since that fortunate interview, and how sweetly those words from the lips of so holy a Prelate have reëntered my soul at the height of our hardships, sufferings, and desolation — God requires me yonder! How often have I repeated those words to myself amid the noise of our torrents, and in the solitude of our great forests!

"The Savages who had taken me on board with the assurance that they would assist me, in view of my age and infirmities, did not, however, spare me, but obliged me to carry very heavy burdens on my shoulders at all, or nearly all, the waterfalls which we passed; and, although my paddle did not greatly hasten [5] their progress, being plied by arms so feeble as mine, yet they could not endure that I should be idle. Accordingly, not knowing when I should find the time to say my Breviary, I was forced to have recourse, wherever I could, to my il me falloit avoir recours par tout ou je pouvois, à ma memoire, dautant que nous n'abordions que la nuit, & partions devant le jour. Où je trouvois mon avantage, c'eftoit à la rencontre des autres canots; car alors nos Sauvages s'arreftoient quelque temps à petuner, ou à s'entretenir des routes & des chemins qu'ils devoient prendre, & apres tout, comme ils me voyoient mes heures entre les mains plus fouvent qu'ils n'euffent voulu, ils trouverent moyen de les tirer de mon fac, & les jetterent en l'eau. Ce me fut vne affliction bien grande, de me voir privé de ce pretieux meuble, [6] jufques à ce que jeuffe rencontré vn autre paquet, où par bonheur, j'avois mis vn autre Breviaire en petits tomes; ainfi ils ne profiterent pas de leur impieté.

Ils m'ont obligé vne fois de débarquer en vn tres mauvais endroit, il me fallut passer des roches & des precipices effroyables, pour les retrouver; les endroits par où il falloit passer estoient si entrecoupez d'abismes & de montagnes escarpées, que je ne croyois pas m'en pouvoir tirer: & parce qu'il fe falloit hafter, fi je ne voulois eftre delaiffé en chemin, je me bleffay à la iambe & au pied, qui s'enfla & m'incommoda fort tout le reste du voyage; sur tout lors que les eaux commencerent à eftre froides, & qu'il falloit toufiours avoir les pieds nuds, prest à sauter à l'eau, quand ils le jugeoient à propos [7] pour foulager le canot. Adjoustez à tout cecy, que ce sont gents qui n'ont point de repas reglez; ils mangent tout à la fois, & ne gardent rien pour le lendemain. Pour la couchée; ils n'ont nullement égard à la commodité de leur perfonne, ny de leur hofte, mais à l'abord de leurs canots, & à la commodité de l'embarquement & du memory, all the more that we touched land only at night, and set out before daylight. I found my advantage at the meeting of other canoes; for then our Savages stopped for some time to smoke, or talk about their routes and the courses which they were to take. After all, as they saw me with my hours in my hands oftener than they wished, they found means to take them from my bag, and threw them into the water. This was a very great affliction to me, to see myself deprived of this precious chattel, [6] until I hit upon another parcel in which, by good luck, I had put a second Breviary in small volumes; thus they did not profit by their impiety.

"They compelled me, on one occasion, to disembark in a very bad place, where I had to pass over rocks and frightful precipices in order to rejoin The places through which I had to go were them. so cut up with abysses and steep mountains that I did not think I could extricate myself from them; and as it was necessary to hasten, if I did not wish to be left behind on the way, I wounded myself in the arm and in one foot. The latter became swollen, and gave me much trouble all the rest of the journey, especially when the water began to be cold, and it was necessary to remain barefoot all the time, ready to jump into the water when the Savages judged it fitting, [7] in order to lighten the canoe. Add to this that they are people having no regular meals; they eat up everything at once, and keep nothing for the morrow. In taking their repose, they pay no regard to their bodily comfort or that of their guest, but only to facility in landing their canoes and the convenience of embarking and disembarking. Furthermore, they lie ordinarily upon rocks and rough débarquement, à ce qu'il foit aifé; du refte ils couchent d'ordinaire fur des roches & des cailloux inégaux, fe contentans de jetter deffus quelques branches, quand ils en trouvent.

Nous ne nous fommes quasi pas entreveus nos François & moy, pendant tout le cours des voyages; & ainfi nous n'avons peu nous donner aucune affiftance mutuelle: ils ont eu leurs Croix, & moy les miennes: Dieu peut-eftre leur a donné plus [8] de patience qu'a moy; mais je puis dire neantmoins que je n'ay jamais penfé ny jour ny nuit à ce voyage des Outaoüak. qu'avec vne douceur, vne paix d'efprit, & vn reffentiment de la grace que Dieu me faifoit, tel que j'aurois peine à vous le pouvoir expliquer.

Nous avons tous jeuíné, mais fort rigoureufement, nous contentans de quelques petits fruits, qui fe trouvoient affez rarement, & qu'on ne mange nulle autre part. Bienheureux ceux qui pouvoient rencontrer vne certaine mouffe, qui s'éleue fur les rochers, & dont on fait une purée noire; pour les peaux d'Orignar, ceux qui en avoient encore, les mangeoient en cachete: tout paroift bon dedans la faim.

Mais ce fut bien pis, quand eftans enfin arrivez au Lac Superieur, [9] avec toutes ces fatigues, au lieu du repas [sc. repos] & rafraichiffemens, qu'on nous y faifoit esperer, noître canot fut brisé de la cheute d'vn arbre, fans efperance de le pouvoir refaire, tant il eftoit en defordre; chacun nous quitte, & nous reftons feuls, trois Sauvages & moy, fans vivres & fans canot, nous demeurons en cét eftat fix jours, vivans de quelques ordures, que nous eftions obligez, pour ne pas mourir de faim, d'arracher avec les ongles à l'entour d'vne cabane, qui avoit efté abanpebbles, contenting themselves with throwing some branches upon them, when they find any.

"Our Frenchmen and myself have scarcely caught sight of one another during the whole course of our journeys; and so we have not been able to give one another any assistance. They have had their Crosses, and I mine. Perhaps God gave more [8] patience to them than to me; but I can say, nevertheless, that I have never thought, day or night, of this Outaouak expedition except with a sweetness and peace of spirit, and a feeling of God's grace toward me, such as I would have difficulty in explaining to you.

"We all fasted, and very rigorously, contenting ourselves with some small fruits which were found rather seldom, and which are eaten nowhere else. Fortunate were those who could chance upon a certain moss which grows upon the rocks, and of which a black soup is made. As to Moose-skins, those who still had any, ate them in secret; everything seemed good in time of hunger.

"But matters became much worse when, arriving at last at Lake Superior, [9] after all this fatigue, instead of rest and refreshment, which we had been led to hope for, our canoe was shattered by the fall of a tree; nor could we hope to repair it, so much was it damaged. Every one left us, and we remained alone, three Savages and myself, without provisions and without canoe. We remained in this condition six days, living on some offal which we were obliged, in order not to die of hunger, to scrape up with our fingernails around a hut which had been abandoned in this place some time ago. We pounded up the bones which we found there, to make soup of them; we collected the blood of slain animals, with which donnée en ce lieu-là, depuis quelque temps, nous pilafmes les os qui fe trouvoient là, pour en faire du potage; nous ramaffions le fang des bestes tuées, d'ont la terre eftoit imbuë, en vn mot nous faisions nourriture de tout. Vn de nous eftoit toufiours au guet fur le bord de l'eau, pour [10] crier mifericorde aux paffans, dont nous tirafmes quelques morceaux de chair feche, qui nous empécherent de mourir; jusques à ce que enfin on eut pitié de nous, & que l'on nous vint embarquer, pour nous transporter au rendez vous, ou nous devions hyverner. C'est vne grande baye, du cofté du fud du Lac Superieur, ou j'arrivay le jour de fainte Terefe, & j'eu la confolation d'y dire la Meffe, pour me payer avec vfure de tous mes maux paffez. C'est icy où je commencay le Christianisme, qui est composé de l'Eglise Volante des Chrestiens Sauvages, plus voifins de nos habitations Françoises, & de ceux que la mifericorde de Dieu a attirez icy.

L'vne de mes premieres vifites, fut dans vne méchante cahuéte pratiquée fous vn gros arbre pourry, qui luy fervoit d'abry d'vn cofté, [11] & fouftenoit quelques branches de pruffe qui la defendoient du vent; j'y entray de l'autre cofté quafi le ventre contre terre & en rampant, & trouvay fous cét arbre vn trefor; c'eftoit une femme abandonnée de fon mary & de fa fille, qui luy avoit laiffé deux petits enfans qui s'en alloient mourans; l'vn eftoit d'environ deux ans, & l'autre de trois, je parlay de la Foy à cette pauvre creature affligée, qui m'écouta avec plaifir. Mon Frere, me dit-elle, je fçay affez que mes gens improuvent tes difcours; mais pour moy je les goufte fort, ce que tu dis eft plein de confolation; en mefme temps elle tire de deffous cét arbre vn morceau de the ground was soaked; in a word, we made food of everything. One of us was always on the watch at the waterside, to [10] implore pity of the passers-by. from whom we obtained some bits of dried flesh which kept us from dving, until at last some men had mercy on us and came and took us on board, to transport us to the rendezvous where we were to pass the winter. This was a large bay on the south side of Lake Superior, where I arrived on saint Theresa's day; and I had the consolation of saying Mass there, to pay myself with interest for all my past woes. It was here that I began a Christian community which is composed of the Flying Church of the Savage Christians more nearly adjacent to our French settlements, and of those whom God's compassion has drawn hither.

"One of my first visits was to a wretched hovel fashioned under a large rotten tree, which served it as shelter on one side [11] and sustained some branches of spruce, which protected it from the wind. T entered here from the other side, almost crawling on my stomach, and found under this tree a treasure: it was a woman abandoned by her husband and her daughter, the latter having left to her two small children, one about two and the other three years of age, who were dying. I spoke about the Faith to this poor afflicted creature, who listened to me with pleasure. 'My Brother,' said she to me, 'I know very well that my people disapprove of thy talk, but as for myself, I like it very much; what thou sayest is full of consolation.' At the same time, she drew from under the tree a piece of dried fish, taking it from her own mouth, as it were, to pay me for my visit. But I declined the gift with thanks, and valued more poiffon fec, qu'elle s'ofta de fa bouche pour me payer de ma vifite; mais je la remerciay & prifay plus la belle occafion que Dieu me donna de m'affeurer du [12] falut de ces deux enfans, en leur conferant le faint Baptefme.

Ie retournay quelque temps apres chez cette bonne creature, & je la trouvay pleine de refolution de fervir Dieu, & en effet elle commença deslors à venir aux prieres foir & matin; fi conftamment, qu'elle n'y a pas manqué vne feule fois, quelque affaire ou empeschement qu'elle eust pour gagner sa pauvre vie. Le plus jeune de ces deux enfans n'a pas beaucoup tardé à donner au Ciel les premices de cette Miffion, s'y estant envolé apres avoir fait quelque exercice du Christianisme tout enfant qu'il estoit. dedans le peu de temps qu'il a furvescu à fon Baptesme, car ayant remarqué que sa grand-mere prioit Dieu avant que de manger, il prit de luy mesme auffitoft l'habitude de porter la main au front, pour former le signe [13] de la Croix, avant que de boire & de manger, ce qu'il a gardé jusques à l'extremité. Chose affez rare en vn enfant Sauuage, qui n'avoit pas encore deux ans.

La feconde perfonne qui femble avoir efté predeftiné pour le Paradis, eft vn jeune homme d'environ trente ans, qui s'eft fait admirer de nos Sauvages depuis longtemps, par vne conftance inconnuë parmy eux, qui l'a fait refifter à toutes les tentations de l'esprit d'impureté, qui font icy auffi frequentes, peuteftre qu'en aucun lieu du monde. Il m'avoit quelquefois accofté pendant noftre voyage, & me montroit de grands defirs d'eftre Chreftien; mais comme j'aprenois qu'il n'eftoit pas marié, je me perfuadois highly the excellent opportunity which God gave me to assure myself of the [12] salvation of those two children by conferring upon them holy Baptism.

"Some time afterward, I returned to this good creature's hut, and found her filled with a resolve to serve God; and, in fact, she began from that moment to come to prayers, morning and evening, with such constancy that she did not miss a single time, no matter how occupied or hindered she might be in her wretched life. The younger of those two children was not long in giving to Heaven the first fruits of this Mission; he took flight thither after exercising to some extent the Christian faith, mere infant although he was, in the short time that he survived his Baptism. For, having observed that his grandmother praved to God before eating, he of his own accord immediately formed the habit of carrying his hand to his forehead to make the sign [13] of the Cross before eating and drinking, a habit which he retained to the end - a thing rare enough in a Savage child, not yet two years old.

"The second person who seems predestined for Paradise is a young man about thirty years old, who for a long time has made himself an object of wonder to our Savages by reason of a firmness unknown among them, which has made him resist all the temptations of the spirit of impurity — which are here as frequent, perhaps, as in any place in the world. He had several times addressed me during our journey, and he showed me a great desire to become a Christian; but, as I learned that he was not married, I became persuaded that he was more addicted to sin than those who were married. Here, however, I found that he had [14] always conducted qu'il eftoit plus engagé dans le peché que ceux qui eftoient mariez: Ie trouvay icy toutefois qu'il s'eftoit [14] toufiours comporté tres fagement, & qu'on n'avoit jamais peu tirer de fa bouche aucune parole libertine. Ce fut vn des premiers qui me vint trouver, fitoft que je me fus retiré, comme en vn petit hermitage, en vne pauvre cabane faite à l'écart de branches de fapins les vnes fur les autres; non pas tant pour me defendre des rigueurs des faifons, que pour corriger mon imagination, & me perfuader que j'eftois à couvert. Ce jeune homme y estant entré, je luy demanday apres plusieurs bons entretiens, d'où venoit qu'il n'estoit pas marié, & s'il estoit dans la pensée de tenir bon en cét estat. Mon Pere, me dit il, ma resolution n'eft pas de vivre à la façon de nos gens, ny de me joindre à vne femme qui s'abandonne au vice comme toutes les autres de ce pays icy; fi je n'en trouve point de [15] chaste & d'innocente, jamais je n'en prendray, & je suis content de demeurer avec mon frere le reste de ma vie. Au reste quand tu auras remarqué, que je fais autre chose que ce que je te dis, tu pourras m'exclure de la priere. Cette ferme resolution, iointe aux inftances qu'il m'a fait pour eftre du nombre des prians, m'obligea de luy accorder le faint Baptesme, auquel ie luy donnay le nom de Louys; & depuis i'ay bien veu que Dieu a pris poffession de son cœur, comme il le faisoit paroistre en tout rencontre. Vne fois entr'autres qu'on fit cét Hyuer vn festin remply d'impureté, par l'ordonnance des Medecins du pays, pour remettre fur pied vn malade desesperé, nostre Louys fut prié & pressé instamment de s'y trouver, pour accomplir le nombre destiné à cette infame ceremonie; [16] il en fit refus.

himself very discreetly, and that no one had ever been able to draw from his lips a single licentious word. He was one of the first who came to find me as soon as I had withdrawn into a little hermitage. as it were,-that is, a poor hut separated from the rest and made of fir-tree branches, laid one over another; its purpose was not so much to protect me from the severity of the seasons as to correct my imagination, and persuade me that I was under cover. This young man having entered there, I asked him, after some good talk, whence it came that he was unmarried, and whether he entertained the thought of continuing in that state. 'My Father,' said he to me, 'my resolve is not to live after the manner of our people, nor to join myself to a woman who abandons herself to vice, as they all do in this country; if I never find one that is [15] chaste and innocent. I shall never take one, and I am content to dwell with my brother for the rest of my life. Furthermore, whenever thou seest me doing otherwise than I say to thee, thou mayst debar me from prayer.' This firm resolve, joined to the entreaties which he made to me to be admitted to the number of those who prayed, obliged me to grant him holy Baptism, at which I gave him the name of Louys; and since then I have seen clearly that God has taken possession of his heart, as he made it apparent on every occasion. At one time, among others, when, last Winter, a feast replete with impure actions was being held,-by order of the Medicine-men of the country, for the recovery of a sick man whose life was despaired of,our Louys was begged and urgently pressed to make up the number requisite for this infamous ceremony. [16] He refused; and, when all his relatives urged & comme tous fes parens le preffoient & le quereloient pour le faire marcher, il fe leve, & fortant par vne porte de la Cabane, il demeura quelque temps en vne place à prier Dieu; puis rentrant par l'autre porte, il apprefta à rire à tout le monde, & encourut l'indignation de tous fes parens; & comme il eft vnique en fa maniere de vivre, il luy faut effuyer mille petits affronts de tous coftez, à quoy graces à Dieu, il eft defia fait, payant d'vn fouris toutes ces railleries qu'on luy adreffe, fans reculer ny fans fe relacher d'vn feul point, de tous les devoirs d'vn bon Chreftien. Cette Barbarie n'a iamais veu des courages de cette trempe.

La troisiéme ame d'élite qui s'est trouvée, c'est la fœur aifnée de nôtre Louys; vne veuve chargée de [17] cinq enfans, femme paifible, & qui est tout le iour dans fon petit ménage; elle m'amena l'aifné de fes enfans, qui est vne fille aagée de feize ans, pour l'instruire: afin, disoit-elle, que Dieu eust pitié de sa fille, & qu'il luy rendift la fanté, qu'elle avoit perduë depuis quelques mois: elle avoit vn reume habituel, qui luy eftouffoit la voix, & luy oftoit l'vfage de la parole. Ie la fis prier Dieu, & en fuite ie la fis feigner, ce qui luy rendit la parole, apres quoy la mere me vint presenter toute sa famille pour estre instruite, Dieu se servant de tout pour le falut de ses Eleus. I'efprouvay d'vne bonne façon leur pieté, & les ayant trouvées fortes & bien disposées pour le Baptesme, ie le conferay en mesme temps à la mere, & aux enfans; qui depuis ce temps-là font tres reconnoissans [18] envers Dieu, de la grace qu'ils ont receuë, & à mon endroit, m'ayans beaucoup aidé à fublister par leurs charitez.

him and quarreled with him to make him comply, he arose, and, going out through one door of the Cabin, spent some time in prayer at a certain place. Then, coming back by the other door, he provoked a general laugh, and incurred the indignation of all his relatives. As he is the only one who lives in this way, he has to bear a thousand little affronts on all sides—a test to which, thanks be to God, he is already accustomed, returning a smile for all the raillery addressed to him, but never in the least shrinking from or relaxing in the observance of all the duties of a good Christian. This land of Barbarism has never seen a courage of this stamp.

"The third noble soul was found in the elder sister of our Louys, a widow burdened with [17] five children, a peaceable woman, occupied all day long in her little home. She brought me the eldest of her children, a girl sixteen years old, asking me to instruct her, in order, said she, that God might take pity on her daughter and restore her health, which she had lost a few months before. She had a constant cold, which choked her voice and deprived her of speech. I made her pray, and then I had her bled, which restored her voice. Thereupon the mother came to present all her family to me for the purpose of having them instructed, God making use of all means for the salvation of the Elect. I made proper trial of their piety, and having found them strong in the faith and well-disposed for Baptism, I conferred it at the same time upon the mother and upon the children. Since then they have been very grateful [18] to God for the grace which they have received; and as for me, they have, by their deeds of kindness, aided me much in supporting myself.

Il eft imité en cela par vn autre vieillard aagé de quatre-vingt ans, qui eft aveugle, & pour cela ne peut pas venir chez nous avec les autres, pour eftre inftruit; mais en recompenfe, il fe porte avec tant d'ardeur à retenir ce que ie luy enfeigne, qu'il le repete iour & nuit, [20] dans l'efperance de trouver vn iour l'eternité bien-heureufe apres fa mort, qui ne peut pas beaucoup tarder.

Pour les autres Chreftiens qui compofent cette Eglife, ils font peu en nombre; mais ils font choifis, & me donnent bien de la fatisfaction. Ie n'en ay pas voulu admettre vn fi grand nombre, me contentant de ceux que i'ay iugé devoir perfeverer conftamment dans la Foy, pendant mon abfence; car ie ne fcay

"The fourth whom God gave us is a poor old man, who fell desperately ill at Three Rivers last year and to whom I could not gain access at that time, as their Jugglers never left his side. This worthy man, upon whom God had designs, was at that time not yet ripe for Heaven; the misfortune which befell him on the journey humbled him greatly. A blast of wind having assailed him on Lake Superior, he lost, in order to save his life, all that he had gone to get at Three Rivers; and, as old age and poverty are held in great contempt among the Savages, he saw himself obliged to retire into our Cabin. Here at first [19] he showed some inclination to ridicule our mysteries; but God inspired me so well for checking his boldness and appealing to his heart that, yielding to grace and to the holy Ghost, he came to me on the next day and asked to pray to God; and since then he has prayed so openly, fervently and constantly. that I could not refuse him holy Baptism. He continues to show himself worthy of that favor, making public profession, before his compatriots, who are all pagans, of being a disciple of Jesus Christ.

"He is imitated in this by another old man eighty years of age, who is blind, and for that reason cannot come to our cabin with the others to be instructed. But to offset this he applies himself with such zeal to retain what I teach him that he repeats it day and night, [20] in the hope of one day finding a blessed eternity after his death, which cannot be far distant.

"As to the other Christians who compose this Church, they are few in number; but they are chosen ones, and give me much satisfaction. I was unwilling to admit a large number, contenting myself with those who, I judged, would continue firm in the Ie puis dire avec verité, que i'ay eû plus de contentement icy en vn iour, nonobstant la faim, le froid & les autres incommoditez presque inexplicables, que ie n'en ay reffenty en toute ma vie, en quelque endroit du monde, ou i'aye efté. I'avois fouuent ouv dire au Pere Daniël, & au Pere Charles Garnier, lors qu'ils eftoient aux Hurons, que plus ils s'eftoient veus delaiffez & éloignez des confolations humaines, plus Dieu s'eftoit emparé de [22] leur cœur, & leur avoit fait fentir combien fa fainte grace l'emportoit par deffus toutes les douceurs imaginables, qui fe trouuent parmy les creatures: ce peu de confolation qu'il a pleu à Dieu me donner icy, m'a fait aduoüer ce fecret, & m'a fait prifer, plus que ie n'aurois iamais penfé, le bien qu'il y a de me trouver icy tout feul parmy nos barbares, à cinq cens lieuës de nos habitations Françoifes.

Faith during my absence. For I am still uncertain what will become of me or whither I shall turn; vet not without violent efforts could I resolve to descend from the Cross which God has prepared for me in my latter days at this end of the world. My heart longs not to see Three Rivers again. I know not of what nature are those nails which [21] hold me upon this adorable cross; but the mere thought of any one's coming to take me away chills me; and I very often awake with a start, thinking that there are no longer any Outaouaks for me, and that my sins consign me again to the same place whence the compassion of my God has, by signal favor, drawn me. I can say with truth that I have had more happiness here in one day, in spite of hunger, cold, and other almost indescribable sufferings, than I have felt in all my previous life in whatever part of the world I may have been. I often heard Fathers Daniël and Charles Garnier say, when they were among the Hurons, that the more they saw themselves abandoned and removed from human comforts, the more God took possession of [22] their hearts and made them feel how far superior the favor of heaven was to all conceivable delights which are to be found among finite creatures. That small measure of consolation which it has pleased God to give me here has made me confess this secret, and has made me prize, more highly than I could ever have thought possible, the blessing there is in finding myself here all alone among our barbarians, five hundred leagues from our French settlements.

"I hear every day mention of 4 Nations, very populous, and distant from here two or three hundred leagues. I expect to die on the way; since I arriuer. Le chemin est coposé presque par tout de Marets par lesquels il faut passer, fondant le gué, & en danger de tellement enfoncer, qu'on ne s'en puisse retirer; les viures [23] qu'on n'y trouve qu'autant que l'on y en porte, & les maringoins qui y font en nombre effroyable; font les trois grandes difficultez, qui font que j'ay de la peine à trouver vn compagnon. I'espere de me ietter parmy quelques Sauvages qui ont desser de me ietter parmy quelques Sauvages qui ont desser de nous selon fa volonté pour fa plus grande gloire, pour la mort ou pour la vie: ce ser beaucoup de misericorde à nostre bon Dieu, de m'appeller à foy, en si bon lieu.

Voila les dernieres paroles avec lefquelles le Pere conclut fes lettres qu'il datte ainfi, aux Outaoüak en la Baye de fainte Terefe, à cent lieuës au deffus du fault, dans le Lac Superieur, le premier iour de Mars, & le deuziéme de Iuillet 1661.

Il se mit en fuite en chemin, comme [24] il l'avoit proietté, & y a heureusement terminé fa courfe, comme il l'avoit predit, & comme nous l'avons raconté dans le dernier Chapitre de la Relation de l'année paffée.

Cette année vn autre de nos Peres fe difpofoit à aller prendre fa place; mais par malheur, les Outaoüaks eftant defcendus cét efté à Montreal, pluftoft qu'a l'ordinaire, & avant que le Pere euft pû s'y rendre, il a perdu l'occafion de monter auec eux. Ce fera pour la premiere commodité qui fe prefentera, qu'il ira cultiver cette Eglife naiffante, en laquelle le Pere Menard a laiffé dez fon premier hyvernement, comme il l'efcrit, le nombre de cinquante Adultes baptisez, force malades, & vn monde de Sauuages à inftruire.

am so far on my journey and am so full of health, I shall make every possible effort to reach these nations. The road is composed almost entirely of Swamps, through which it is necessary to pass, sounding the fords, and always in danger of sinking so deep as not to be able to get out. Food [23] is to be had only as one carries it with him, and mosquitoes are frightfully numerous. These are the three great difficulties which make it hard for me to find a companion. I hope to join some Savages who purpose undertaking this journey. God will dispose of us according to his will to his own greater glory, for death or for life. It will be a great mercy of our good God, to call me to himself in so noble a cause."

These are the last words with which the Father ends his letters, which he dates thus: "Among the Outaouak on the Bay de sainte Terese, a hundred leagues above the fall in Lake Superior, the first day of March," and "the second of July, 1661."<sup>15</sup>

He set out thereafter, as [24] he had planned, and happily ended his travels on the way, as he had predicted, and as we related in the last Chapter of the Relation of last year.

This year, another of our Fathers made ready to go and take his place; but unfortunately, the Outaouaks having come down to Montreal this summer earlier than usual, and before the Father was able to arrive there, he lost the chance to go up with them. At the first opportunity that presents itself, he will go and cultivate that infant Church—in which Father Menard left, after passing his first winter there, as he writes, fifty baptized Adults, many sick people, and a great number of Savages to instruct.

OF THE ALGONKIN CHURCHES TOWARD TADOUSSAC.

W E shall learn the condition of those flying Churches, and of the different Savages who compose them, from the letters written about them by Father Henry Nouvel, who followed the Barbarians in the woods like a good shepherd, and who devoted himself to their improvement during the past Winter, which he spent with them. Following is a letter which he wrote from among the Papinachois.

MY REVEREND FATHER, Pax Christi.

Magnificate Dominum mecum, et [26] exaltemus nomen ejus in idipsum. I beg Your Reverence, with all our Fathers and Brethren, whom I embrace in visceribus Jesu Christi, to aid me in thanking God for the favors which we received from his goodness during our winter campaign. Having set out from Kebec on the 19th of November with two Frenchmen, our host, and some other Savages, we arrived at Isle Verte on the 24th of the same month. We found on that Island all our Savages — Papinachois, as well as those of other Nations — sixty-eight in all. They had shut themselves up in a fort made of stakes, in consequence of the discovery they had made of a large Encampment of Iroquois on the banks of the great River. This little voyage of six days was not obligez à nous [27] retirer dans vne petite islette, nous y fûmes deux iours; nos pilotes eurent bien de la peine à y conferver nostre Chaloupe. Nous voyant en danger d'arrester bien long temps dans ce poste, à raison des glaces & du vent contraire qui ne difcontinuoit pas, nous eufmes tous recours à Dieu. & nous estans mis sous la protection de lesus, Marie, & Iofeph, à peine eufmes nous achevé noître priere, que d'abord le temps changea; nostre Sauuage qui craignoit beaucoup, nous crie en mesme temps, Poufitan, Embarquons. Nous eusmes vn temps bien favorable iufques aux approches de l'Isle Verte, où nostre Chaloupe ayant donné contre vne Roche, nous nous vifmes bien prez de la mort. Dieu eut compaffion de nous, & nous fufmes tous confolez de voir, comme la Chaloupe quoy que [28] tres-mauvaife, avoit refifté à ce coup, capable d'en faire perir vne qui euft esté beaucoup plus forte. La nuit nous ayant surpris en cét endroit, nous ne laissafmes pas de continuer nostre route; nous n'eftions qu'à vne demy-lieuë de l'Isle Verte, qu'vn orage caufé par le Nord, s'eftant éleué, noftre Chaloupe fut battuë de coups de vents fi rudes, qu'elle s'entrouuroit par le deuant. Ce fut à ce coup que nous nous difpofasmes tout de bon à la mort, & nous eftant refignez à la volonté de Dieu, ie fis vœu de dire trois Messes à l'honneur de la fainte Famille de Iefus, Marie, & Iofeph, & de reciter tous enfemble pendant neuf jours le Chappelet. Noftre crainte fut d'abord changée en vne esperance si forte, que n'apprehendant point dans la continuation des mesmes dangers, nous ariuaímes [29] heureufement au port. Nous nous fommes arreftez dix iours à l'Isle Verte, pendant lefquels i'ay administré les ceremonies du without many dangers. Compelled by bad weather to [27] retire into a little island, we remained there two days, and our pilots had much trouble in saving our Shallop. Seeing ourselves in danger of remaining a very long time in this place because of the ice and the contrary wind, which did not cease, we all appealed to God; and putting ourselves under the protection of Jesus, Mary, and Joseph, scarcely had we finished our prayer when immediately the weather changed. Our Savage, who was very much afraid, called out to us at once, Pousitan, -- " Let us embark." We had very favorable weather as far as the approaches to Isle Verte where, our Shallop having run against a Rock, we saw ourselves very near to death. God took pity on us, and we were all consoled at seeing the Shallop, although [28] in very bad condition, withstand this blow, which was enough to sink a much stronger boat. Although night overtook us in this place, we did not pause; and we were only half a league from Isle Verte when a storm from the North arose, and our Shallop was buffeted by such rude blasts of wind that it sprang a leak forward. At this, we prepared ourselves in good earnest for death; and, after we had resigned ourselves to the will of God, I made a vow that I would say three Masses in honor of the holy Family of Jesus, Mary, and Joseph, and that we would all tell our Beads together for nine days. Our fear was immediately changed to a hope so strong that, fearing nothing in the continuation of the same dangers, we arrived [29] safely in port. We remained ten days at Isle Verte, during which time I administered the baptismal rites to six children of different ages, in a little Chapel which we erected there. Before baptefme à fix enfans de diuers âges dans vne petite Chapelle qu'on y dreffa. I'y baptifay auant noftre départ vn Capitaine Papinachois, qui fçauoit fes prieres, & que ie trouuay fi bien difpofé par des graces toutes particulieres dont Dieu l'avoit preuenu, que ie crû eftre obligé de ne plus differer, nous voyant dans les dangers des Iroquois: on luy donna le nom de François Xauier.

Ce bon Neophite m'a raconté qu'estant griéuement malade dans les bois, Dieu luy avoit fait voir si fensiblement les feux d'Enfer, où ceux qui ne prient pas brusseront eternellement, & qu'en fuite il luy avoit si bien montré le chemin du [30] Paradis, qu'il trouveroit parmy les Chrestiens, que depuis ce temps-là il avoit tousser prié, & qu'il auoit en horreur les inuocations du Demon, que ces compatriotes faisoient dans son pays. En verité Dieu la doüé d'vn bon iugement, & d'vn tres-beau naturel. Il m'a protesté tousser qu'il ne quittera iamais la priere. Il a sept enfans masser sous baptizez; sa femme l'est aussi il y a longtemps.

Auant que de quitter ce premier poste, Dieu voulut avoir les premices du troupeau qu'il me donnoit en garde; ayant appellé au Ciel vne petite fille de mon hoste, que le Pere Gabriel avoit baptisée. Cette nort affligea beaucoup le pere & la mere, & toute la parenté. Dieu les console dans leur perte, par la ferme croyance qu'ils ont, qu'elle est au Ciel; ils l'invoquent [31] tous les iours afin qu'elle les aide auprez de Dieu.

Le feptiéme iour de Decembre nous arrivalmes heureulement du cofté du Sud, vis à vis l'Isle de faint Barnabé; nous y celebralmes le lendemain la feste de l'immaculée Conception de la fainte Vierge; nous our departure, I baptized there a Papinachois Captain who knew his prayers, and whom I found so well disposed, through very special graces with which God had already visited him, that I felt obliged to delay no longer, seeing ourselves in danger from the Iroquois. The name of François Xavier was given to him.

This good Neophyte related to me that, when he was grievously ill in the woods, God had made him see so vividly the fires of Hell,— where those who do not pray will burn forever,— and then had shown him so clearly the road to [30] Paradise,— which he would find among the Christians,— that since that time he had always prayed; and that he held in horror the invocations of the Demon practiced in his country by his compatriots. In truth, God has endowed him with good judgment and a very excellent character. He has always assured me that he will never cease to pray. He has seven male children, all baptized; his wife was baptized also, a long time ago.

Before I left this first post, it was the will of God to pluck the first-fruits of the flock which he gave into my charge; he called to Heaven a little daughter of my host, whom Father Gabriel had baptized. This death greatly afflicted the parents and all the relatives. God consoles them in their bereavement through their firm conviction that she is in Heaven. They invoke her [31] every day, in order that she may aid them before God.

On the seventh day of December, we arrived safely on the South side, opposite the Island of saint Barnabé. On the following day we celebrated there the festival of the immaculate Conception of the arrestafmes la quelques iours, en attendant vn temps favorable pour entrer dans les bois. Cependant nos chaffeurs eftans allez faire la découuerte bien auant dans les Terres, ils y trouverent des piftes d'Iroquois, ils y entendirent les coups de fusil, auec lesquels ils chaffoient aux Orignaux; cela n'empécha pas que nous n'entraffions bien auant dans les bois le jour de faint Thomas. Nous auons passé les festes de Noël auprez d'vn grand Lac, ou nous dreffafmes vne Chapelle. Tous à la referue de quelques [32] vns, que ie ne iugay pas affez difpofez, y firent leurs deuotions auec beaucoup de sentiment de pieté. Les ennemis ayant fait lever les Orignaux, nos chaffeurs n'en trouuant point, & nos petites prouisions ayant desia pris fin, quelques vns commencerent à fouffrir. Te les confolay & encouragay du mieux qu'il me fut poffible. blessed Virgin, and remained there some days, waiting for favorable weather to go into the woods. Meanwhile our hunters, having gone to make explorations far Inland, found there traces of the Iroquois and heard the reports of guns, with which they were hunting Moose. That did not hinder us from penetrating far into the woods on saint Thomas's day. We passed the Christmas holidays near a large Lake, where we erected a Chapel. All, with the exception of some [32] whom I did not judge sufficiently prepared, prayed there with much piety. As the enemy had driven away the Moose, our hunters found none; and some of them began to suffer, for our little stock of provisions was already exhausted. I consoled and encouraged them as well as I could. At this time I discovered that a certain Savage, whose faith I greatly doubted, had had recourse to the Demon. I at once hastened to visit Cabin after Cabin, declaring to the inmates that hitherto I had feared neither hunger nor the Iroquois, and threat. ening them that God would surely punish them if any one relapsed into that error. The guilty one, to whom I spoke in private, satisfied me, at least as far as words could do so.

On the fifth of January, we [33] broke camp to go in search of means of subsistence in a more favorable place. We traversed a region so rugged that I only reached our camping-place with much difficulty. Moreover, this was the day on which I served my apprenticeship in walking with snowshoes, and dragging my Chapel over the snow. All this fatigue was so alleviated by the consolations of Heaven, during the entire journey, that I experienced very perceptibly the care which God takes of his poor prend de fes pauures feruiteurs, qu'il daigne appeller à ces emplois. Nous auons depuis décabané plusieurs fois, Dieu a beny nos chaffeurs, & les apprehenfions de la faim avant ceffé, il ne nous est resté que celle de l'Iroquois, qui a efté bien grande dans l'esprit de nos Sauuages. Nous nous fommes arreftez vn mois entier en vn mesme endroit, [34] n'osans sortir du fort qu'on y auoit dreffé. Les piftes des ennemis que nos chasseurs découvroient de teps en temps, quelques cris d'Iroquois qu'on affeuroit avoir entendus, & l'affeurance qu'vn Iongleur, auec qui i'ay eu diuerfes prifes, donnoit fecretement que nous ferions bien-toft attaquez, nous avant reduits en cét eftat. Ce fut-là que ce méchant homme avant voulu faire vn festin, qu'ils appellent agoumagouchan, ie fus contraint pour interrompre vne mauuaise chanson qu'il auoit commencée, de ramaffer toutes les femmes & les petits enfans, que ie fis prier Dieu à haute voix, proche de l'endroit ou le festin se faisoit; cela les furprit extraordinairement, & les obligea à fe taire, chacun s'eftant retiré dans fa Cabane. Ie m'informay d'vn des inuitez de ce qui s'y eftoit paffé; & luy m'ayant aduoüé [35] franchement que ce partifan du Demon auoit parlé au defauantage de la priere, apres auoir eû recours à Dieu, ie fus l'attaquer en presence de tous ceux de fa Cabane, & luy ayant dit tout ce que Nostre Seigneur m'inspira pour luy donner de l'horreur de fa faute, i'eû la confolation de voir tous nos Chreftiens indignez cotre luy. servants whom he deigns to call to this service. Since then we have changed our position several times, God has blessed our hunters, and, the fear of hunger having left us, there remains only the fear of the Iroquois, which has been very great in the minds of our Savages. We tarried a whole month in one place, [34] not daring to leave the fort which we had built there. From time to time our hunters discovered trails of the enemy: the Iroquois were said to have been heard shouting here and there; and a certain Juggler, with whom I have had several disputes. had spread the report that we should shortly be attacked: such were the reasons why we put ourselves in this state of defense. It was at this place that the wicked man resolved to hold a feast called agoumagouchan, and I was forced, in order to interrupt an impious song that he had begun, to gather together all the women and little children and make them pray to God in a loud voice near the place where the feast was being held. This greatly surprised the revelers, and compelled them to be silent, each one retiring to his own Cabin. From one of the guests I ascertained what had occurred at the feast; and when he had confessed [35] frankly that this partisan of the Demon had spoken slightingly of prayer, I went, after invoking God's aid, to attack the Juggler in the presence of all those who were of his Cabin. After saying to him all that Our Lord inspired me to say, for the purpose of imparting to him a horror of his offense. I had the consolation of seeing all our Christians indignant against him. I said in all the Cabins that the Demon wished to make use of this wretch as a means to destroy them, and they all conceived a horror of him. Leaving this position on the first day of Lent, we arrived, on the fourteenth of March, at the banks of the great River. There we have since remained, awaiting favorable weather to go over to some Island, in order to be protected there from the Iroquois until the arrival of the Shallops from Kebec.

In reprinting the Relation of 1662-63 (Paris, 1664), we follow a copy of the original Cramoisy edition in the Lenox Library—known there as the Lamoignon copy. This is the only regular Cramoisy annual which contains a half-title before the title-page; it reads as follows: "RELATION | DE LA NOV-VELLE | FRANCE, | ÉS ANNEES 1662. ET 1663." A prefatory epistle from Jerome Lalemant to the Provincial in France is dated "A Kebec, ce 4. Septembre 1663." The "Priuilege" was "Donné à Paris, le premier Decembre 1663;" and the "Permiffion" bears the date "A Paris, le 20. Ianuier mil fix cens foixante deux." This Relation is no. 121 of Harrisse's Notes.

Collation: Half-title, with verso blank, I leaf; title, with verso blank, I leaf; Lalemant's prefatory letter, pp. (8); "Table des Chapitres," pp. (2); "Priuilege," with "Permiffion" on the verso, I leaf; text (9 chaps.), pp. 1-79, 90-169; the verso of p. 169 blank. There is an omission in the pagination after p. 79, which is directly succeeded by p. 90. Therefore, if the paging were in regular sequence, it would be pp. 1-159. Signatures:  $\tilde{a}$ , and A-K in eights.

Copies have been sold or priced as follows: Harrassowitz (1882), no. 43, priced at 120 marks; O'Callaghan (1882), no. 1242, sold for $45, and had cost him $32.50 in gold; Barlow (1890), no. 1312, sold at a very low price, namely, $10; and Dufossé of Paris (1891-93), priced at 150 and 190 francs. Copies are to be found in the following libraries: Lenox, New York State Library, Harvard, Brown (private), Ayer (private), Laval University (Quebec), Public Library of Toronto, Library of Parliament (Ottawa), British Museum, and Bibliothèque Nationale (Paris).

The interesting Relatio Terræmotus in Nova Francia is commonly attributed to Ragueneau; but, as appears from the introductory letter (dated at Bourges, December 12, 1663), the account was originally written in French by an eye-witness of the earthquake, Father Charles Simon. François Ragueneau, then at Bourges, was so "greatly pleased" with Simon's description, that he "faithfully translated" it into Latin, for the edification of the father general and Pope Alexander VII., "as well as Our Fathers who are at Rome." The narrative is sent to the father general, with an explanatory note. In publishing the document, we follow an apograph of this Latin rendition, which we found in the archives of St. Mary's College, Montreal.

In reprinting the Relation of 1663-64 (Paris, 1665), we follow a copy of the original Cramoisy edition, in the library of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin. Jerome Lalemant's prefatory epistle to the Provincial in France is dated "De Quebec le 30, Aouft 1664." The volume does not contain a printed " Permission: " but its " Priuilege " was " Donné à Paris, le vingt quatriesme Decembre. 1664." This annual forms no. 123 of Harrisse's Notes.

Collation: Title, with verso blank, 1 leaf: Lalemant's prefatory epistle, pp. (4); "Table des Chapitres," with " Priuilege " on the verso, I leaf; text (8 chaps.), pp. 1-176. Signatures: ã in four, A-K in eights, L and M in fours. Mispaging: pp. 74 and 75 are mispaged 76 and 77.

Copies of this Relation are to be found in the following libraries: Lenox, New York State Library, Harvard, Brown (private), State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Laval University (Ouebec), British Museum, and Bibliothèque Nationale (Paris).

At the Barlow sale in 1890, two copies were sold, nos. 1313 and 1314 of the catalogue-the former fetching $60, and the latter only $10. It is singular that the second copy, which was in the old vellum binding, should have sold for only one-sixth as much as the other copy, which was in a modern dress by Hayday. The volume has rarely appeared for sale, and the highest Barlow price may be considered moderate. In fact, as far as the Relations are concerned, the Barlow prices can seldom be taken as a criterion of value. A bibliophile recently wrote to us that, had he been present at that sale, his collection of these annuals would have been greatly added to, or the prices would have been much larger.

NOTES TO VOL. XLVIII

(Figures in parentheses, following number of note, refer to pages of English text.)

I (p. 63).— Jacques de la Ferté (vol. xxv., note 9) had obtained these lands from the Company of New France, of which he was a member; they received their name from his religious title, abbé de Ste. Madeleine. He bestowed this concession upon the Jesuits (1646), but La Poterie disputed their right to it (vol. xxviii., pp. 229, 231). Three years later, the abbé gave them a formal deed of the property, stipulating that its income should be used for the benefit of converted Indians. French colonists settled there in 1649, and Indian families began, twenty years later, to reside at the mission founded by Raffeix (vol. xlvii., note 28).—See Rochemonteix's Jésuites, t. ii., p. 419; and Sulte's Canad.-Fran., t. ii., p. 141. See description of this seigniory, and of improvements made upon it, in vol. xlvii. of this series, pp. 265, 267.

2 (p. 95).—The wording of this sentence would lead the reader to suppose that Lalemant refers to the Confraternity of the Holy Family; but that association was not established until March 14, 1664. Faillon's explanation (Col. Fran., t. iii., p. 20, note *) is probably correct—that Lalemant, in writing the sentence referred to, confounded the confraternity with the military organization formed at Montreal (Jan. 28, 1663) by Maisonneuve, under the title "militia of the Holy Family." Full particulars regarding the foundation of both these associations are given by Faillon, ut supra, pp. 14-21, and 542-548.

3 (p. 119).- An allusion to the tripe de roche (vol. xxxv., note 28).

4 (p. 123).—The wild rice (Zizania) is here described; cf. vol. xliv., p. 247.

5 (p. 143).— See sketch of Ménard, vol. xviii., note 5; and of Guérin, vol. xxi., note 24.

6 (p. 153).— Parkman (Old Régime, p. 131, note) attributes this paper to the pen of one Dumont, who came to Canada with Boucher in 1662 (vol. xlvii., note 21). But, as we learn from the Journ. des Jésuites for that year, Dumont remained in the country but eight days; whereas the writer of this memoir states (in the third paragraph from the end) that he has spent a year in Canada. We have not sufficient data for the identification of this writer.

7 (p. 173).—Concerning the armored fish, see vol. i., note 68; the poisson doré, vol. xlii., note 2.

8 (p. 183).- Regarding François Ragueneau, see vol. ix., note 40.

9 (p. 227).— Forest and Le Chevalier were seminarists who came to Canada with Laval in 1663; they did not remain long in the country. Meseré is a variant of Maizerets (vol. xlvii., note 29).

10 (p. 227).— Reference is here made to the tithes imposed upon the habitants for the support of the seminary and clergy. Laval's decree establishing the seminary (March 26, 1663) appropriated tithes for this purpose; the king, in approving this, fixed the tithe at one-thirteenth of all products of the country and its people afterward laid, however, upon grain alone. The habitants regarded this tax as an unwelcome burden, and their clamors led to its reduction—first to the twentieth, and finally (1667) to the twenty-sixth.— See Parkman's Old Régime, p. 162; Sulte's Canad. Fran., t. iv., pp. 98-104; and N. Y. Colon. Docs., vol. ix., p. 28.

II (p. 227).— The Indian named Robert Hache must not be confounded with the donné of that name. The former may have been thus named, by the French, on account of some accidental association with the donné.

12 (p. 235).— Claude de Berment (Berman), sieur de la Martinière, was born in 1638, near Chartres, France. In 1664 he married, at Quebec, Anne Després, widow of Jean de Lauson, fils; she died in 1689, without children. De Berment again married (1697), his wife being Marie Cailleteau, by whom he had five children; he died in April, 1719. He was a member of the Council, and provost-judge in the seigniories of Beauport and Nôtre-Dame des Anges.

Charles Aubert de la Chenaie (Chesnaye), born at Amiens in 1630, came to Canada in 1655; he soon became prominent among the merchants of Quebec, and acquired much wealth. He was married three times,—to Catherine Couillard, Marie Juchereau, and Marie Denys, respectively,—and was the father of eighteen children. He owned lands at Quebec, Three Rivers, and Montreal, and was one of the seigniors of Isle Percée. He was a public-spirited citizen, and did much to develop the resources of Canada; his death occurred in 1702. La Chenaie wrote two Mémoires, the MSS. of which are still extant—one on the sale of brandy to the Indians, the other (1676) upon the affairs of Canada. This latter document has been published, in the MSS. relat. Nouv. France (collected and printed by the Provincial government of Quebec), t. i. (1883), pp. 245-261. 13 (p. 235).—" Nothing in the text justifies this marginal note, added by another hand than that of Father Jerome. The author of this note seems to have taken 6. cent de morue for P. dautamare" (Quebec ed. of Journal, p. 326, note).

14 (p. 235).—Louis Nicolas was born at Aubenas, Aug. 24, 1634. He entered the Jesuit order at Toulouse, at the age of twenty. An instructor in the colleges of St. Flour, Puy, and Velay during the years 1656-61, he completed his studies at Tournon; and, in 1664, came to Canada. During three years, he served among the Algonkins along the St. Lawrence; in August, 1667, he went with Allouez to Lake Superior, where he apparently remained until the following spring. In 1670, he was sent to the Mohawk mission; and in 1673, labored at the Seven Isles—a rendezvous for numerous Montagnais tribes. According to Sommervogel, Nicolas returned to France in 1675, and, three years later, quitted the Jesuit order.
